Deep Run

F.W. Baptist

Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary of the Deep Run Free Will Baptist Church has selected it's Woman of the Year, Sue Sutton of Deep Run. Sue Sutton will be recognized this week at the Vandamere Retreat during Thursday night services.

Mrs. Sutton, the daughter of Mrs. Beadie Mallard Boyette and the late Murray Wade Boyette, was born and grew up in Jones County, near Trenton. She is a graduate of Jones Central High School and she attended East Carolina University. She is married to Michael Sutton of Deep Run and they have two children, Mike and Michelle, also a recent ECU graduate. Mrs. Sutton is an assistant personal banker with Wachovia Bank in Kinston.

In addition to her vital role as wife, mother and career woman, Mrs. Sutton is an active member of the church and the Women's Auxiliary. She has served as both a Sunday School teacher and youth leader and is currently a member of the Board of Finance and the choir.

Education Board Hears Merger Resolution

The Lenoir County Board of Education received the County Commissioners' resolution regarding school merger on Monday, June 6, 1983, just a few hours prior to the BOE regular meeting. Some members of our Board had not received word of the resolution when they arrived for the meeting, said J. Oliver Smith chairman of the Lenoir County Board of Education. The Board heard the resolution and asked its attorney for a legal interpretation.

"First, to attempt to set aside many of the rumors and misunderstandings that have been heard by our personnel at various schools, we instructed our superintendent to bring principals and the central office staff together for an explanation of the resolution," said J. Oliver Smith, chairman of Lenoir County BOE. "We have asked our principals to meet with their teachers and to call meetings with the school Advisory Councils in order to explain the resolution and find their response as to what people in the county are thinking on this issue. The Lenoir County Board of Education is an elected school board and is responsible to the electorate who named them; therefore, we find it most appropriate that we hold some hearings before reaching any conclusions."

"You may be assured that the Lenoir County Board of Education will constantly assess the feelings of our people and will be giving them an opportunity to receive facts and to express themselves. We urge the citizens of the county school district to express their opinions on this issue to the county commissioners and to our legislators. The Board of Education will be most happy to hear suggestions from any of our school citizens," Smith said.

Miss Liberty Festival Pageant

Make plans to attend the eighth annual Miss Liberty Festival Pageant Saturday, June 25 at 7:30 pm in the Pink Hill School Auditorium.

There are six lovely and talented young ladies competing for the title this year. The contestants are: Tammy Brown, Amy Cottle, Sonya Cranford, Patsy Ezzell, Bridgett Miller, and Allyson Stroud. The contestants are working hard preparing for this year's pageant. They will be competing in the following areas: photogenic; personality; interview; poise and appearance; talent; evening gown; and impromptu question.

Our reigning Miss Liberty Festival Queen, Ellen Sandlin of Beulaville is one of many who have planned to entertain us between phases of pageant competition. She has represented Pink Hill and the Liberty Festival well this past year. She's appeared at five pageants; represented the festival at the fair; in four area parades, on television, etc. Let's all be on hand to bid her farewell and to wish her luck in all her future endeavors.

Specialty acts will be performed by the following: our reigning Junior Miss Liberty, Elizabeth Murphy of Albertson; Miss Laura Wiegand of Kinston, Lenoir County's Junior Miss, Kelly Mattocks of Pollocksville; from Burgaw, Deborah Blanton's Sr. Jazz Class; and two groups representing Jackie Howell's School of Dance in Kinston. Also, our Little Miss Liberty, Jessica Howard and our Little Master Liberty, Damon Tyndall will assist the contestants during the evening gown competition.

Emceeding the pageant is a native North Carolinian who was born in Greensboro and grew up in Morganton and Laurinburg. He has been with WCTI-TV since April '82. He's Channel 12's

Skip Waters

"Weather Personality" Skip Waters of New Bern.

Let's all make plans to be in Pink Hill to the annual Miss Liberty Festival Pageant, Saturday June 25 at 7:30 pm in the Pink Hill School Auditorium. Doors will open at 6:30 pm. Admission is $3 and for children under 12 accompanied by parent, $1. Door prizes will be given away. Any area merchant wishing to give a door prize contact Violet Stroud, pageant chairman at 568-4162 days or 568-3785 nights.
