

GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE IN DUPLIN - Charlotte Mayor Eddie Knox stopped in Duplin County last week on a tour of the state in his campaign for the next term as

Governor of North Carolina. Knox and his wife are pictured, left above, with employees of the vocational rehabilitation department in Kenansville.

Wayne County Agricultural Fair Planned Sept. 19-24

annual Wayne County Agricultural Fair will be held Sept. 19-24 at the spacious fairgrounds south of Goldsboro on U.S. 117.

Again this year, competition in most of the departments is open to any resident of North Carolina and entries from adjoining counties are being encour-

Months of planning have gone into preparations for the largest county fair in North Carolina and some new features have been

A special attraction this year will be a petting zoo featuring exotic animals. Housed in a large tent, the menagerie will be open at no charge with elephant, camel and pony rides available for a Goldsboro .- The 35th man auto thrill show is being replaced at the fair on Monday and Tuesday nights by Fantasy on Wheels. This is a new auto daredevil show formed by Jake Plumstead and Tonny Peterson, veteran performers with Kochman.

School children from Wayne and adjoining counties will again be admitted to the fair on special school passes free of charge each day until 6:30 p.m. Fair manager Oland Peele reports 85,000 passes are being distributed to all area schools. These passes are not taken up at the gate and may be used each day if desired.

Grandstand attractions will include the PKM and Skeep Kelly Band Wednesday. Super Grit Cowboy Band Thursday, the Watchman Quartet Friday, a demolition derby and New The disbanded Jack Koch- Dixie Grass Band Saturday.

Contests will include: cheerleaders Monday night, Tractor operator's and Firemen's princess Tuesday, junior and senior talent and a pork cook-out Thursday. queen of the fair Friday and baton-twirling Saturday.

There also will be a pie baking contest, spelling bee and salute to senior citizens Tuesday afternoon, tractor pulling Wednesday and Thursday, livestock judging Thursday, flower arranging and a fashion show Friday.

All persons 60 years old and older will be admitted to the fair free of charge Tuesday between noon and 3 p.m.

Open only to males in past years, this year's pork cookout on Thursday at 3 p.m. is open to anyone 12 years old and older who is a resident of North Carolina. The contest is co-sponsored this year by the N.C. Pork Producers Gates will open at 8 a.m. on Monday, Sept. 19, to receive all entries. Deadline for entries is 6 p.m. Monday, except for the flower show, for which entries will be received beginning at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday.

The fair is sponsored an-nually by the non-profit Wayne County Livestock Development Association which helps promote the lifestock industry int he area.

Efforts continue to make it an area fair by securing more entries from the surrounding area to compete for the $18,000 in premiums.

Catalogs listing rules and regulations and premiums offered in each department are available at the fair office south of Goldsboro at the intersection of U.S. 117 and U.S. 13. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

LCC Graduate Works At Perkins Library At Duke University

distance from being a homemaker to working in the Perkins Library at Duke University and the library at the Math and Science High School in Durham. But, for Lenoir Community College graduate Janet Harding it

The story of Ms. Harding, a former Greenville and Pink Hill resident, and a graduate of the library-media technical ates from this program, according to Mrs. Mildred Matthis, dean of learning resources at the college.

Ms. Harding enrolled in the two-year library-media technical assistant program in September, 1980. She first heard about the program through the Career Development Center for Displaced Homemakers in Greenville and then the Employment Security Commission. In June of 1982, she graduated from the program with an A.A.S. degree and less than two months later she was working as a library clerk in the manuscript department at Perkins Library at Duke. She is responsible for departmental typing and for assisting with processing of manuscripts.

In addition to her fulltime job at Duke University. Ms. Harding also will begin a second job this month as a library assistant at the Math and Science High School. Her duties will include night supervision of student assistants and reference work.

Ms. Harding is highly complimentary of the LCC program. "I feel that LCC helped prepare me for this job by giving me a good background in the library-

Volunteers Needed For Duplin Fair

Volunteers are needed to help with fair entries on Sunday, Oct. 2 and Monday, Oct. 3. Your help is also needed on Tuesday, Oct. 4 to record for judges. If you are interested involunteering your time, please contact Mae Spicer at the Agricul-tural Extension Service, 296-1996.

media area. All of the enough students to support in addition, there are jobs courses in the curriculum the program. Right now we have been of help to me in my new job," she added. Ms. Harding added that -

"taking the library-media program at LCC was the best thing that ever happened to me. The work is very satisfying and my achievements at LCC have boosted my self-confidence considerably," she concluded.

Mrs. Matthis noted that assistant program at Lenoir the demand for graduates of Community College, is a the two-year program congood example of the oppor- tinues at a high level and tunities available for gradu- there are more jobs than people to fill them throughout the region.

The LCC program, which along with one at Wake Tech, are the two-year programs in the state, has not taken in new students for the past three quarters due to personnel changes and cuts in state budget allocations. Mrs. Matthis also explained that the past three quarters have given the college a chance to review the pro-gram and the demand for graduates in the job market and the demand by new students for the program.

'We see the demand for our graduates as very good and also we are still getting requests for the program. We have some students enrolled now in general education courses who will be enrolling this fall, if we have still have openings for several more students," she explained.

Students are taught skills with slide projectors, video operations, overhead projectors and other types of communications equipment. They learn to make displays for libraries, can search the bibliographies, keep regular files and materials and learn some telecommunications

The graduates have filled college, public school and opening up at state instisuch as Caswell Center, Maury Prison, bookstore managers, secretaries and other trade positions for which the students are well

Students interested in jobs above the clerical scale and who want to earn from $7,000 to $10,000 yearly would do well to consider enrollment in the fall quarter, Mrs. Matthis said. Further information can be secured from The graduates have filled her or Mrs. Clara George at various jobs in community 919-527-6223, Ext. 235.

Registration begins Sept. 6 community libraries from and classes start Sept. 7 for Duke University to the coast. the fall term.

Committee To Revise Notary Laws

Secretary of State Thad Eure has announced the appointment of a five. member committee to revise Chapter 10 of the N.C. General Statutes which deals Christine W. Williams, Duplin register of deeds, was appointed to serve on this committee along with Mrs. Jane Gray, assistant attorney general; William A. Campbell, assistant director of the Institute of Government and part-time law professor at UNC school of law, and the registers of deeds of Henderson and New Hanover counties.

Back Swamp

Ruritan Meet

The Back Swamp Ruritan

Preceding the meal, the approximately 20 members were 'treated to several hymns rendered by singers

from the Springfield Church.

A delicious meal was served the evening was Donald Huffman, who is in charge of all road maintenenace of Onslow County in the western part of the county.

He gave a very interesting program on funding and priorities for roads in the

The featured speaker of

by the food committee.

Club met for its August meeting on Tuesday, the recommendations to the 1985 General Assembly. The purpose of the revision is to update, clarify and simplify the notary public laws.

The last issue of the news-letter, "The American Notary" proclaimed that North Carolina standards for

The committee will make notaries are the highest in the country after the Legislature enacted a law making it mandatory that new applicants attend an approved course of instruction at a community college. Eure initiated such a course effective Jan. 1 of this year. These classes proved beneficial to notaries and the public so the Legislature is pursuing further improvements in the notary public process. N.C. is the only state which requires a mandatory course of instruction for new notary applicants. Duplin County has over 500 commissioned notaries.

Notaries who have been practicing for years have attended classes and have benefited by them.

GUNNE SAX

For Back-To-School

Blouses

 Quilted Jackets • Dresses

Ethel's Shoppe

N. Center St.

Mount Olive

658-3118

LURNITURE

Hwy. 117, Between the Stoplights. Rose Hill

Ph. 289-3448

One of the best things

we have is our price.