Garner Named Red Cross Fund Campaign Manager

George E. Garner Jr. has been named the 1983 Fund Campaign Manager for the Duplin County Chapter of the American Red Cross. He is a native of Duplin County and lives in Kenansville. He is married to the former Denise Dail. They have two sons, Elwood, 6, and John Dail, 2. The Garners are members of Grove Presbyterian Church in Kenansville.

George is a 1976 cum laude graduate of Campbell University. He is employed with James Sprunt Technical College as chairperson of the criminal justice program.

Garner was recently appointed 1983 fund campaign manager by Charlie Albertson, chapter chairman. Together, with the help of Mrs. N.B. Boney, secretary, they have secured the following volunteer workers: Mrs. Coolidge Turner, Albertson; Charlie Chasten, Beulaville; Mrs. Henry Shields, Bowdens; Mrs. Walter Rhodes, Cabin; Mrs. Ronald Cowan, Cedar Fork; Mrs. John Miller, Hallsville; Mrs. Carol Klemm, Kenansville; Mrs. Naomi Skelton, Magnolia; Mrs. Douland Sholar, Pin Hook; Mrs. Carey A. Williams, Sarecta; Mrs. Wilton

Smith, Smiths; and Mrs. Rose Swain, Warsaw. Other volunteers are needed and they will be announced as they can be lined up. October is the month designated and the chapter hopes to be able to get in all reports by the end of this month. The goal set for this campaign is $6,000. All Duplinites are asked to help raise the goal set.

Duplin Airport Improvements In Progress

The safety record of no major accidents at the Duplin County P.B. Raiford Airport will get some added insurance from improvements currently underway.

According to Duplin Development Officer John Gurganus, equipment to assist aircraft landing during low visibility is currently under study by the Federal Aviation Administration for use at the Duplin airport. And, he added, trees at the northeast end of the airport runway are being cleared for safety reasons. In the future, Gurganus said, the 29 acres of cleared ground may be leased as farmland to avoid the cost of maintenance while generating some additional revenue for the airport. Grant monies are being used to fund both projects.

The Federal Aviation Administration is currently conducting an air space study to make sure the localizer will work properly at the Duplin airport. Duplin Development Officer John Gurganus said. "The FFA did a preliminary study at the airport and said the localizer would work at the county airport." The localizer transmits radio waves which aircraft receive and use to target their landing on the runway during the night or in low visibility periods. The study is expected to take 16 weeks and the equipment costs approximately $80,000, Gurganus said.

The P.B. Raiford field serves mainly corporate traffic and has seven planes based at the airport. The field is classified general aviation and Gurganus said the airport averages about 100 single-engine and 75 multi-engine aircraft a month. A contributing factor to the airport's activity is the sale of jet fuel.

"Duplin is the only field in eastern North Carolina, other than commercial fields, with jet refueling capabilities," Gurganus said.

"And, our local corporations use the airport frequently to bring in prospective clients by air to see products and watch them being made. Bringing the client to see the product is turning out to be a good selling tool for local corporations. Plus, they see Duplin and what our area has to offer," he added.

The Duplin County airport has 4,800 feet of runway which is enough for the corporate and private aircraft and charter services. The field is under the operation of Jerry Fountain of Tar Heel Aviation.
