Plans Underway For Little Miss Pageant

The Duplin County Pageant Association announces that plans are being made for the 1983-84 "Little Miss" Duplin County Pageant to be held Dec. 10 at Kenan Memorial Auditorium in Kenansville.

Entry forms are available at Joan's School of Dance and several businesses in the county. Complete an entry form and return it promptly with a picture of your child (to be used in newspapers and the program) and $50 entry fee made payable to the Duplin County Pageant Association - "Little Miss" division. Only the first 25 contestants will be accepted. Entry forms must be post-marked no later than Nov. 5. Confirmation will be made by telephone the following week. Entrants must be at least 7 years old and not older than 10 at the time of the pageant.

A get-acquainted meeting will be held at Joan's School of Dance on Sunday, Nov. 13 at 3 p.m. Attending will be all contestants, their parents, and "Little Miss" Duplin County 1983, Gina Rivenbark. Contestants will be judged during the interview, evening gown and talent competition.

Return application, picture and entry fee immediately as they will be accepted on a first-come basis only.

"I look forward to working with the pageant this year," says Joan C. Newton, pageant chairman, "and can be reached at Joan's School of Dance to answer any questions."

Duplin Observes Employ The Handicapped Week

During this, the 39th observance of National Employ the Handicapped Week, Oct. 2-8, public officials, leaders in business and industry and private citizens are speaking out on behalf of job opportunities for disabled workers.

According to Dennis Kirby, supervisor of Employment Security Commission, "Kenansville has seen its efforts to promote the employment of persons with physical and mental disabilities rewarded over the years by the skills, contributions, and accomplishments of handicapped workers."

Kirby further emphasized that the economic impact of disabled persons working is dramatic. During state fiscal year 1983, 9,819 individuals were rehabilitated with assistance from the state's vocational rehabilitation program. In terms of potential annual earnings, the placement of these individuals could represent more than $50 million.

In hiring an employee who happens to be disabled, an employer not only helps his own business with a productive employee, but also produces a positive effect on the economic growth of our community, says Kirby.

The Kenansville offices of Vocational Rehabilitation and the Employment Security Commission are coordinating this year's observance of Employ the Handicapped Week in North Carolina. Local offices of either agency may be contacted for further details.

Alpha Eta Chapter Plans Year

The Alpha Eta chapter of Delta Kappa Gama Society International held its first meeting of the 1983-84 year at the Rose Hill Restaurant on Sept. 10.

President Susan Saunders welcomed those present and Virginia Quinn offered the invocation. Following breakfast and the business session, reports were given by the standing committees. The Region II meeting of Eta State is to be held at Frenchmen's Creek in Kinston Oct. 15 with Region II director, Marjorie K. Moore of Kinston, was emphasized.

Saunders presented members with a revised copy of the constitution of the DKGS. Program chairman Janice Grady presented the program for the year which is to "Educate! Educate for living in a Changing World." She explained that the program of work is to educate people in a rapidly changing world with its many uncertainties. Society purposes to be emphasized this year are: To initiate, endorse and support desirable legislation in the interests of education and women educators; To inform the membership of current economic, social, political and educational issues to the end that they may become intelligent functioning members of a world society.

After the program theme, each program committee chairman met with her committee members to plan for each program to be presented this year. Chairmen are: Finance, Velma Murphy; Membership, Hazel R. Kornegay; Leadership Development, Mary Anna Grady; Nominations, Mary E. Kornegay; Scholarship, Faye Q. Williams; World Fellowship, Rachel Hatch;

Personal Growth and Services, Emily Wells; Professional Affairs, Lou Anne Powers; Research, Charlotte Dupree; Program, Janice Grady; Communications, Shirley Outlaw; Music, Jo Jones. Each chairman gave a report at the conclusion of the workshop.

Serving the chapter as officers for 1983-84 are: President, Susan Saunders; First Vice-President, Janice Grady; Second vice-president, Ethel Rackley; Recording Secretary, Janice B. Williams; Corresponding Secretary, Grace S. Farris; Treasurer, Nellie Davis; Parliamentarian, Nina Garner.
