

The New York Banjo Ensemble To Perform

On Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 8 p.m. in the Kenan Memorial Auditorium in Kenansville, Cynthia Sayer and the New York Banjo Ensemble will present the first concert of the Tar Heel Fine Arts Society 1983-84 concert season.

Cynthia Sayer directs and acts as spokeswoman for the group. Eddy Davis, Howard Alden and Frank Vignola create a concert attraction that will not be easily forgotten. Eddy Davis, as featured artist, has many television credits and is a familiar face at jazz festivals around the world. His other jazz credits include the great Dukes of Dixieland and his own Hot Jazz Orchestra, comprised of many of the world's great jazz artists.

Cynthia Sayer plays piano, guitar, does mallet work and sings as well as being a marvelous banjoist. She has toured Europe and has made a number of feature recordings. Howard Alden, playing a cello banjo, is also an accomplished guitarist, and has made excellent recordings on both instruments. Piccolo banjoist, Frank Vignola, began playing the guitar at the age of six. He is a prominent artist in all the major stringed instrument conventions including the one sponsored by International Banjo. He has a new album. All this, plus his association with the New York Banjo Ensemble at the ripe old age of sixteen.

The New York Banjo Ensemble's repertoire of instrumental and vocal performances includes such great composers as Gershwin, Ellington, Fats Waller, Jelly Roll Morton, Sousa, Joplin and originals by Eddy Davis.

Piccolo banjos, tenor banjos, Plectrum banjos, mandolin banjos, cello banjos and bass banjos -- performing in classic string quartet, ragtime, and jazz combinations in a concert setting -- an all new concept. Don't miss this concert. The sound will be unique and unforgettable.

A limited number of season tickets will be available at the door priced at $12.50 for adults and $5 for students. Plan now to experience America's musical heritage with The New York Banjo Ensemble.

Foundation Begins Third Annual Fund Drive

The James Sprunt Foundation kicked off its third annual fund drive in support of James Sprunt Technical College at its Board of Directors meeting Oct. 20.

Chairman Tom Yates announced the theme as "20/20 Vision for the Future," reflecting the goal of raising $20,000 for the college's 20th year of operation.

Emmett Wickline, fund drive chairman, expressed confidence for a successful campaign, citing the crucial role the foundation plays in supporting the needs of the college for upgrading its technological programs and instructional equipment. "James Sprunt has meant a great deal to the people of Duplin and the surrounding counties over the years," he said. "I'm confident the citizens will show their support for the college by supporting the fund drive."

The campaign will continue through the month of November. Contributions are used to support JSTC through providing scholarship monies, programs of instructional improvement, and instructional equipment needs.

In other business, three new members were welcomed to the Foundation Board: Kaye Williamson of Kenansville, William Bryan of Mount Olive, and Gerald Carr of Rose Hill.

Dr. Carl Price, president, commended all members for their service and expressed his appreciation for the support.

Anyone wishing to help support the works of JSTC by contributing to the fund drive is encouraged to do so by contacting Donna S. Thigpen, executive director at 296-1341, or any of the Foundation board members.

E.E. Smith History Class Combines Drama And Learning

The E.E. Smith Jr. High eighth grade United States history class has taken an entertaining approach to studying. Last week Mrs. Zettie Williams' history class pulled on costumes and students taught each other from their roles as new world discoverers.

The students were each assigned individuals who came to America as explorers and Williams said the assignment involved independent research, a poster and a presentation in costume to their classmates. Along with information on the explorer, students were assigned the specific task of gathering data about what the discoverers thought the new world looked like and items they brought with them to America.

"The project built a great deal of enthusiasm among the students," E.E. Smith Jr. High teacher Zettie

Williams said. "And, I think the project has helped make the students more knowledgeable of the settlement of North Carolina." As the students worked on their individual projects, information was gathered from a variety of sources such as the Duplin County Dorothy Wightman Library or resource people within the community, Williams said. "The preparation and presentation of the individual projects was used to give the students a break from hearing history taught from their textbooks," she added.

Some of the characters portrayed by the class included Columbus, Pocahontas, Sir Francis Drake, Veranzano, Captain John Smith, Queen Elizabeth, Juan Ponce de Leon, Sir Humphrey Gilbert, Sir Walter Raleigh, John Cabot, Roanoke Island, the lost colony, and Lucas De Ayllon.

HISTORY COMES TO LIFE AT E.E. SMITH - The U.S. History class taught by Mrs. Zettie Williams dressed in costumes of discoverers of the new world. The costumed eighth graders gave individual presentations of their characters before classmates last week. The project included costumes and research papers. Along with research on new world discoverers, the class made posters

THANKS FROM THE MAGNOLIA VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT

On Oct. 22, the Magnolia Fire Department had a fund-raising day. It was successful because of many people. We want to thank the people who gave donations, those who worked making the food and those who worked in the auction. The sum total was $3,440.40. This money is to buy equipment like lights and the remaining to go towards a new truck, tanker type. Thank you again from the Magnolia Vol. Fire Department.
