Rabies Report For The State

In the third quarter report from Dr. J.I. Freeman, state veterinarian of Raleigh, there were ten animals confirmed as having rabies in North Carolina. All of the cases were in bats. Five cases were from Gaston County and one case each from Beaufort, Cumberland, Columbus, Wilson and New Hanover counties.

In Duplin County, the dog warden's report shows 438 animals impounded and 200 animals vaccinated by the local veterinarians.

Beginning Jan. 1, a new revised rabies law will become effective in North Carolina. This new law, among other changes, will require that cats be vaccinated against rabies as well as dogs. There will be more information concerning the new law later.

King Attends H&R Block Meeting

Taxes were the topic of a recent meeting attended by Larry King, operator of the H&R Block office in Warsaw. The meeting was held in Raleigh and was conducted by the company's senior management person responsible for Warsaw.

Mack Fuller, with the N.C. Department of Revenue, spent two hours discussing changes in state tax laws. Participants also discussed federal tax law changes and management methods and were introduced to new projects scheduled by the company for the upcoming tax season.

"The meeting allows H&R Block personnel from throughout North Carolina to meet and exchange ideas," King said. "We receive the latest, most up-to-date information on taxes and business management skills that the company has to offer. It is an opportunity to learn more so we can serve our clients better."

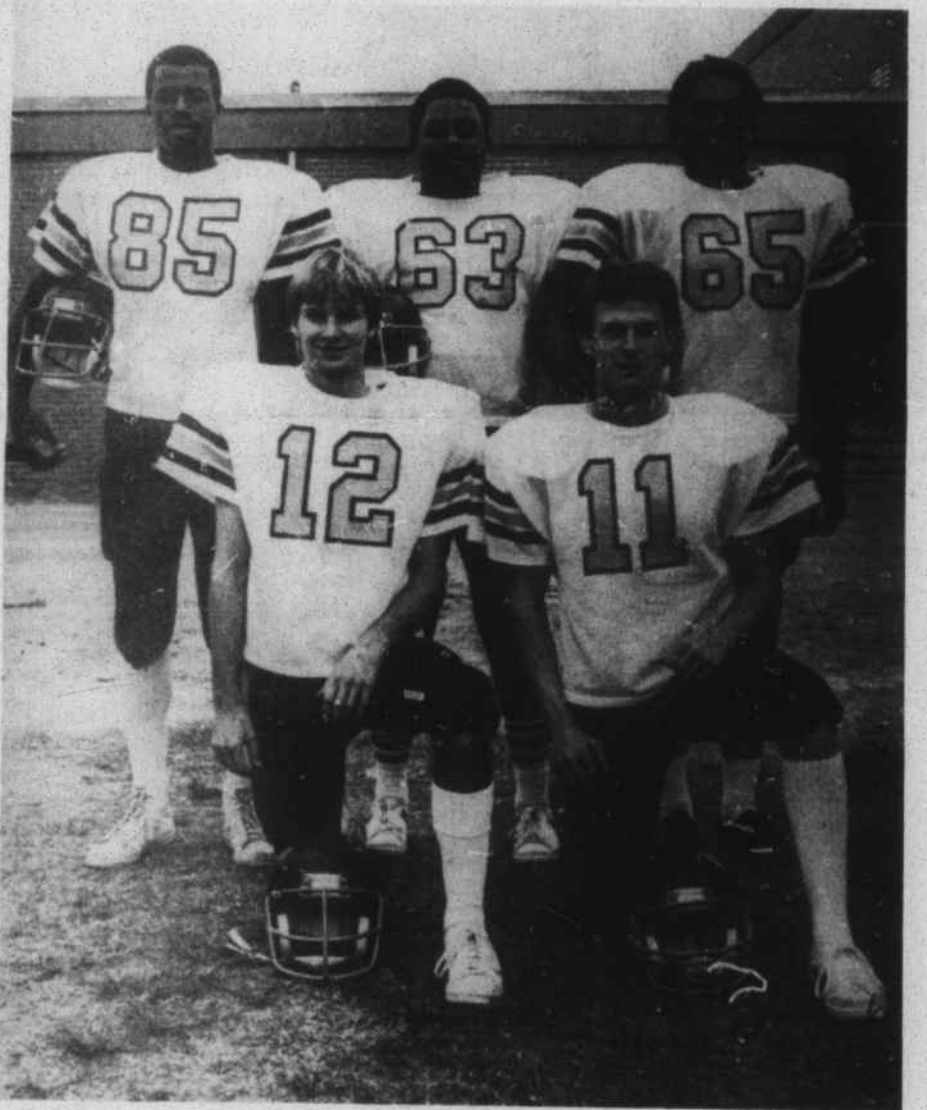

King as operated the Warsaw office for 13 years. H&R Block, the world's largest income tax service, has more than 9,000 offices worldwide.

GOOD PSYCHOLOGY

Cocktail parties are dreaded by many a dieter—but they don't have to be. Instead of drinking high-calorie highballs or other fattening alcoholic beverages, choose a tall glass of delicious iced tea. You can save over 100 calories per drink. Just think of that several times during the evening. It may convince you that you've never enjoyed a party more.
