

Williams - Murphy Wedding

Pamela Kaye Murphy of Rose Hill and Ronald Earl Williams of Magnolia were united in marriage on November 12 at three o'clock in the afternoon at Concord Baptist Church of Magnolia. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Eddie Wetherington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy of Magnolia. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Williams, also of Magnolia.

Music for the wedding was presented by pianist Ava Cavanaugh and vocalist Amelia Williams, who sang "You Light Up My Life," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. For her wedding she chose a formal gown of white silk-ened organza over silk venetian lace. Pearl buttons were featured. The bride's mantilla was edged with silk lace and scattered appliques of lace-adorned flowers. She carried a bouquet of red roses, miniature carnations, and daisies accented with white satin ribbon streamers.

The couple spoke their vows before the church altar which was centered by a bouquet of white mums accented with lavender carnations and gold candelabras. The setting was completed by a white kneeling prayer bench. Reserved seats were marked with white bows.

Kathy King, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Betty Williams and Jane Williams, sisters of the groom. They wore floor-length gowns of lavender knit with matching lace jackets and carried nosegays of lavender mums and carnations. Each attendant accented her hair with babies'-breath.

Mr. Williams served as his son's best man. Ushers were Jimmy Williams, cousin of the groom, and Jeffery Grady.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Murphy chose a street-length dress of lavender crepe. The mother of the groom chose a street-length dress of lavender knit. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Attending the register was Diane Murphy, sister of the bride. She wore a floor-length gown similar to those of the bridesmaids and wore a white carnation corsage.

The wedding was directed by Lynn Eason of Warsaw.

The bride and groom are both graduates of James Kenan High School. The couple will reside in Magnolia.

Reception

Following the wedding ceremony, the wedding party and parents greeted guests as they entered the fellowship hall of the church. After the bridal couple cut the cake it was served by the groom's aunt, Eunice Taylor. Punch was served by Catherine Smith, aunt of the bride.

Shower

The couple was honored with a miscellaneous shower at the Magnolia Community Building. Friends and relatives were invited. They received many lovely and useful gifts.

Simpson At Friends Of The Library Meeting

He's a songwriter and a novelist. Two of the musicals for which he wrote songs —

"Diamond Studs" and "Hot Grog" — were successful on off-Broadway. His new novel, "Heart of the Country," is about country music and the musicians who play it.

He's Bland Simpson, and he was the guest speaker and entertainer at the annual meeting of the Friends of the Dorothy Wightman Library in Kenansville on Nov. 29. He played some of his songs and read selections from his writings.

Merle Creech, director of the Duplin County Arts Council, a co-sponsor of his appearance, describes his performance as "lively."

The Friends of the Library meeting was held at the Dorothy Wightman Library in Kenansville on Nov. 29.

The Friends of the Library is an organization which promotes the use of the library and promotes funds for it. The Friends of the Library has a meeting each fall to install new officers and to kick off a membership drive. Membership fees are $1 for adults and $.50 for children. This year the following were nominated for offices: John J. Beck, president; E. Thomas Fife, vice president; Mrs. Helen McGowan, secretary; Mrs. Carol Klemm, treasurer; and Mrs. N.B. Boney, historian.
