Duplin Native Installed As President Of Physicians Academy

Dr. Hervy B. Kornegay Sr. of Calypso was installed as president of the North Carolina Academy of Family Physicians at the 35th annual Scientific Assembly banquet in Greensboro Dec. 3.

The North Carolina Academy of Family Physicians has a membership of 1,500. Kornegay is the third doctor from Mount Olive to hold the title of president of the Academy. An associate of Kornegay's at Mount Olive Family Medicine, Dr. Robert Shackleford, has held the office and Mount Olive native Dr. Lynn Jordan, who now resides in Smithfield, Kornegay will replace outgoing president Dr. Robert Townsend.

Kornegay has practiced medicine for 22 years. He is currently associated with Mount Olive Family Medicine working with Dr. Robert Shackleford, Dr. Robert S. Mayer, Dr. Ellen T. Brubeck and Dr. James R. Lambert. He is a graduate of Wake Forest University and the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

In the coming year as president of the Academy, Kornegay plans to make educational opportunities available in a variety of fields related to the medical practice of a family physician. Also, Kornegay plans the continued support of political involvement by the Academy of family physicians, especially in the areas of life support ethics.

"The family physician is involved with a patient from birth to the grave and in many instances treats the entire family," Dr. Hervy Kornegay of Mount Olive said. "Because of the close relationship with the patient and family members, the family physicians should be involved deeply in life support ethics. The physicians should not be making the decision, but should be available to offer objective information to assist the family in making the best decision for all the people involved." He added, life support decisions made by the family or individual, their family physician should not be second-guessed by a governmental agency.

"My practice is like doing something for fun and then getting paid for the pleasure," Dr. Kornegay said. After attending medical school, Kornegay returned to his home in Duplin and began work immediately. Also, he took on the job of doctor for the North Duplin football team and he continues to be on the sideline after 22 years. "North Duplin is one of the few schools of its size to have a physician on the sidelines during games. Over the years I have treated most of the football players in my office as my patients and many of them keep in touch years after they have left Duplin."
