

Book Fair

Warsaw Elementary School is holding a Book Fair. It began on Wednesday, Feb. 1, and will last through Feb. 15. The Book Fair is being held in the school's media center (library). School children and adults alike are able to purchase books, games, crayons, book markers, etc. at bargain prices. Some 5,000 items are on hand and priced from 15 cents to $5.95. The fair is open daily during school hours and will be open one night, Feb. 7, during the PTO meeting. Proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase supplies, books, etc. for the center. Pictured, left to right, examining some of the books offered, are Jack Smith, custodian, and Principal Gerald Yount.

Friendship Force Will Visit Poland

A Warsaw to Warsaw exchange? Well, maybe. It is a possibility through the Freindship Force. A visit to Poland is one of the offerings of the FF of North Carolina. A Friendship Force is a national organization initiated by Pres. Carter in 1978 to promote peace and understanding between nations. State chairman is Carolyn Hunt, wife of the governor. A FF Mission is an adventure in human relationships and international goodwill. Form the outset, one should know that this is not a tourist program. The primary focus of each ambassador must be that of friendship — meeting the people of Poland and entering into their everyday lives. Visiting interesting places, eating European breads and walking through history are benefits of a Friendship Force trip, but commitment to the program is essential. The common goal will be the extension of friendship in five cities but the focus will be in Poland. Persons who have participated in activities of the Freindship Force's goals are those of promoting mutual understanding between people of different countries and cultures. Those who are new to the FF will have ample opportunity to learn these goals. All ambassadors will be required to attend a workshop in the spring prior to the trip. The first mission to Poland is planned for May 14-24. The price is approximately $1,395 from New York. This covers all travel expenses from New York May 14. It also covers hotels, city tours, ground transportation and most meals. The scheduled return to New York is May 27. Stops will be in Berlin, Warsaw, Krakow, Vienna and Munich with home-hosted dinners in two Polish cities and Berlin. For information, contact Merle Creech at the Duplin County Arts Council, 296-1922.

Free Transportation

The Lenoir County Council on Aging will be providing free transportation for persons 60 and above to come to Kinston for medical purposes and shopping on the fourth Monday of each month beginning in February. The van will pick up at the Pink Hill Presbyterian Church parking lot at 2 p.m. and return at approximately 5 p.m. Any Lenoir County senior citizen who would like to participate should call Sue Akoury or Gerrie Barwick at the Senior Center at 527-1545.
