Boy Found Dead Near Wallace

A two-year-old boy was found dead in a house near Wallace in southern Duplin County early last Friday morning. The Duplin County Sheriff's Department has listed the case as homicide.

Jason Lamar Fillyaw's body was found in the bedroom of the house on Calico Bay Road about two miles west of Wallace around 1 a.m., the Sheriff's Department reported.

Chief Deputy Glenn Jernigan said the boy's mother, Ingenu Fillyaw, called the Sheriff's Department to report the incident. Jernigan said that the boy's mother was with him in the house, but that the Calico Road house was not where the boy lived. He did not know who lived at the house.

Dr. Corbett Quinn, a Duplin County medical examiner, said an autopsy performed Friday in Jacksonville determined the boy died of suffocation. No one has been charged in the case.

Dental Health Month Contest

The second statewide dental contest, with $500 cash awards to the winning schools (two categories: large/small schools), will highlight North Carolina's 1984 Children's Dental Health Month in February. "Let's Get Dental" is the contest theme.

Contest sponsors are: the N.C. Dental Society; Dental Health Section, Division of Health Services, N.C. Department of Human Resources; and the N.C. Department of Public Instruction.

According to Dr. Bill Kelly, state chairman, 1984 Children's Dental Health Month committee, school principals have been asked to decide if their schools will participate in the contest.

Awards will be determined based upon the number of points a school earns by completing specific activities during the weeks of Feb. 6-17," Dr. Kelly said. "Points will be awarded to the school for activities such as having a dental display in the school library, holding a non-sweet snack day, conducting PTA programs related to dental health, etc." care."

Dr. Kelly stated, "Classroom teachers may add to their school's point total by scheduling dental health activities such as swishing with fluoride mouthrinse or asking a dentist to visit and talk to students."

Principals may add points to their schools' overall scores by actively participating. Superintendents and administrators may also give a boost to the winning schools' scores by completing suggested activities.

First prize for the winning schools will be state trophies and cash awards of $500. District winners will receive cash awards of $60 and permanent plaques. The cash awards and trophies will be presented by the N.C. Dental Society and its local affiliates.

"We're asking individual dentists and local dental societies to urge schools in their areas to participate and, whenever possible, offer their assistance with contest activities," Dr. Kelly said. "We want our young people to be constantly aware of the importance of good dental health care."

For more information concerning the contest and various ways in which schools and dental professionals may participate contact Grace Newton, Duplin County Health Department at 296-1015.

The tractor-trailer driver, Curtis Nail, 40, of Tampa, Fla., was charged with operating left of the center and death by vehicle, Johnson said.
