

Spring Comes To N.C.

The fourth annual N.C. Home and Garden Show will be held Feb. 25 - March 4 at the Raleigh Civic Center. According to show organizers, this year's show will present many new and special features to the home and garden show audience including a more pronounced focus on horticulture.

"Dancing Waters," a visual wonder of dancing colorful jet streams shooting 40 feet in the air, all synchronized with popular and beautiful music, will highlight the nine-day show with hourly performances.

The most important ingredient in the Home and Garden Show's overall image is the thousands of blooming plants, flowers, shrubs and trees that noted horticulturist Hugh Van and Raleigh's Parks and Recreation department coordinate into this spectacular indoor landscape. Utilizing their expertise in the area of horticulture, tulips, daffodils, azaleas, peach and pear trees, dogwoods and a massive variety of favorite springtime plants are prepared for bloom before their season, creating a most unusual and spectacular springtime atmosphere in the Raleigh Civic Center Complex.

A very special attraction at this year's show will be the two-story

Timberpeg Home, featuring rugged post and beam construction, brick paved floors and elegant furnishings all handpicked and tailored for this beautiful home. The timberpeg display home will be fully constructed inside the Civic Center.

The Homebuilders Association of Raleigh/Wake County, have designed a series of nine ultra interior designer rooms for the show, all created by some of the most talented and successful interior designers in the area. Each of these rooms will offer the audience a chance to see the latest ideas and trends in interior design tastefully and creatively set, providing the audience with the kind of ideas that can be reproduced in any home.

Since early September, the H.A.N.D.S garden clubs have been planning and organizing the seven garden club competitions held each year at the N.C. Home and Garden Show. All seven categories will be created with new themes in mind, which will make the judging very difficult but very exciting to watch. Come judge for yourself!

Without a doubt, the most exciting feature of this year's show is the Cedardale Log Home Giveaway. Sponsored by Durham Life Broadcasting and its fine stations, WPTF-AM, WPTF-TV and WQDR-

FM, some lucky person will draw the only key that unlocks the door to this fabulous 1,000 square foot post and beam cedar log home. Durham Life Broadcasting will qualify 30 finalists from a daily drawing and give this beautiful home away on the last day of the show.

Always well attended, the N.C. Home and Garden Show has established itself as a harbinger of spring to the thousands of people who attend the show each year, eager to leave the winter cold behind and enjoy the visual anticipation of spring, all beautifully created inside Raleigh Civic Center.

Show hours are Sundays: 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.; Saturdays - 10 a.m. - 9 p.m.; and weekdays - 11 a.m. - 9 p.m. Garden Club Day is Feb. 29, Senior Citizen Day is March 1, when all seniors are admitted for $1.

Otherwise, admission is $3.50 for adults, $2 for seniors and juniors (13-18) (65 and over); and children under 12 - free. $1 off adult admission coupons are available at local Winn-Dixie stores. The show is sponsored by the Homebuilders Association of Raleigh/Wake County and the Board of Realtors.

"Soaps Alive" sponsored by WRAL - Two of your favorite soap opera stars will be on hand during the show. Date and time for this will be set later, so watch for it.

Feeder & Stocker Calves Meeting

Beef continues to be one of America's favorite meats. One of the important steps to get that T-bone to the table is feeding the calf after weaning to the feed lot.

To assist beef producers in that step, the Duplin County Agricultural Extension Service is conducting a meeting on managing feeder and stocker calves on Feb. 28 at 6:30 at the Agricultural Building in Kenansville," said Keith J. Hairr, assistant agricultural extension agent.

Dr. Roger Crickenberger, extension beef specialist, will be the keynote speaker. All producers and interested persons are invited to attend. Call 296-1998 for more information.
