

Police Schedule Unchanged

The police schedule for Beulaville will remain the same after town Commissioner Joe Edwards recommended no change to stagger shifts at the March 5 meeting of the Board. "It seems that the times we most need a policeman, we have the best possible schedule," Commissioner Joe Edwards reported to the Beulaville Town Board. "I feel it is best to continue the schedule just like we have it unless the Board plans to hire another officer."

After requests for 24-hour police protection from local merchants during the February meeting of the town board, Commissioner Edwards was appointed to work with the Beulaville police officers on the possibility of staggered shifts and have a recommendation for the board at the March meeting.

In a motion by Commissioner Rabon Maready, the Board moved to no longer service customers with overdue water bills beyond May 1. Currently the town adds a 10 percent penalty to unpaid water bills on the 15th of each month and with the new ruling the board requires disconnection of overdue customers at the deadline. A service charge of $10 will be required to have the water service reconnected.

The town of Beulaville's ordinance book is in the process of being updated and Commissioner S.A. Blizzard made a motion to investigate possible help from the League of Municipalities. Mayor Wilbur Hussey was asked to check the cost or working with the League to update the ordinance book.

A check of $416 was received by the town of Beulaville from Univision Cable Television of Richlands. The check was payment for the franchise rights in the town of Beulaville for the first year of operation.

What About Telephone Repairs?

Your local telephone company is responsible for maintaining your local telephone service — the dial tone and the lines connecting your phone to the local switching office.

The telephone company also is responsible for the maintenance of phones you are now renting. If you own your phones, you are responsible for repairs, but equipment rental charges are eliminated from your monthly phone bill.

If you have a service problem, try to determine first if the problem lies in your telephone set or in your telephone line before you call the phone company. If the phone company sends out a technician and the problem turns out to be in a phone you own, you will be charged for a service call and the technician won't repair your phone.

Here are some ways you can troubleshoot problems and determine if they're in your telephone set or in your telephone line.

- If you have modular (plug-in) phones, unplug the one where you are experiencing the problem. Then plug another phone into the same outlet to see if the problem still exists. If it does not, the problem is probably in the first phone. If you don't have a second phone, unplug your phone and try it in an outlet at a neighbor's house.
- If you do not have modular phones, check your other phones to see if the problem still exists. If you have only one phone and you are unsure where the problem is, contact your telephone company's repair service.
- After you have followed these steps, call your telephone company's repair service if you think the problem is in your telephone line. The company will fix the problem if found to be in its lines or equipment.
- If the problem lies in your set, and you are renting it, bring the phone to your local telephone office for repairs. If you own your phone you are responsible for its repair just like any other home appliance. Check your warranty on the phone if you have one. Return the set to the store where you purchased it if the store offers repair service.
- If you purchased your rental phone from the telephone company and your warranty has expired, the telephone company will repair the set for a charge. You should take the phone to your local telephone office.

Board Of Education Prepares Expulsion Of Charity Student

An order for expulsion of a student from Charity Middle School near Rose Hill was being drawn up last week by school attorney H.E. Phillips.

The Duplin County Board of Education has expelled a "minor boy of Rose Hill" from the school, Superintendent L.S. Guy said Wednesday.

The board met in secret session for more than three hours Tuesday night to determine its action. Phillips was directed to draw up the order for the signature of Board Chairman R.E. Wilkins. A copy of the order will be delivered to Charles Ingram, lawyer for the student's family.

The reason for the action was not revealed Wednesday.

Several students, parents, Phillips, Ingram, Carolyn Ingram and county juvenile officer Mark Vinson were called into the secret session Tuesday night. Mrs. Ingram also is a member of the law firm Ingram and Ingram of Kenansville.

In other business, the board appointed Eugene R. New, 47, as senior instructor for the fledgling Junior ROTC program at East Duplin High School in Beulaville. The classes will begin with the next school term in August.

New lives in Livingston, N.J. He will take over the position May 1. New served 21 years in the Army, where he attained the rank of major. He received a bachelor's degree from the University of Alabama and a master's degree in guidance and counseling from Appalachian State University.

The school board has appropriated $20,000 for the first year of the Junior ROTC program.

In other action, the board:

- Declared the former teacher's residence and a six-room cottage on the Chingcapin No. 1 school site surplus property. The buildings are to be sold and moved or demolished.
- Set a countywide schools advisory council meeting for 7 p.m. April 19 at Kenansville Elementary School.

Mrs. Tyndall expressed the sincere thanks of the Auxiliary to the merchants who were so generous with the door prizes donated, members who furnished the array of refreshments, James Sprunt Technical College for the use of the building, and especially to those who attended the event.
