County Farm Bureau President Wins Award

Jack Williams, president of the Duplin County Farm Bureau, was announced as the winner of a special award by W.B. Jenkins, president of the N.C. Farm Bureau Federation, at its annual meeting in Charlotte this past week. Presented in recognition for outstanding production during a statewide contest, the award allows Farm Bureau agents an opportunity to win this honor for their county's president who serves on a voluntary basis. Pictured above, left to right, Jenkins congratulates Williams, Agency Manager Billy Knowles, Agents Brooks Boyette and Ronnie Williams.

Phipps Hired As Rose Hill Police Chief

Charles E. Phipps, 48, has been hired as Rose Hill police chief.

Phipps will fill the vacancy created when the former chief resigned to become police chief in Wallace. He will start at an annual salary of $16,500 and will report for duty Dec. 24.

He was hired by the Town Board last week.

Phipps comes to Rose Hill from the Morehead City police force. Before joining the Morehead City police, he had been police chief in Cape Carteret for 9½ years.

Three new board members, Gary Boney, George S. Murray and Gregory Miller, and Mayor Ben Harrell, who was reelected, took their oaths of office.

Commissioner Clarence Brown was elected mayor pro tem. Harrell appointed Brown as public works commissioner; Boney as community development commissioner, Murray as public safety commissioner, Marsha Whaley as public health commissioner, and Miller as parks and recreation commissioner.

In other business, the board left for study and a future meeting a question of grandfather clauses and local streets.

The question came up when Charlie Hawes wanted the town to bring 800 feet of Maple Street in northwestern Rose Hill up to town standards and pave it.

Hawes said that several years ago he had asked the town to take over and maintain the street. He has a mobile home park facing the street.

He was told at that time that current subdivision plans call for the developer to bring streets up to town standards and pave them before turning them over to the town.

Hawes said he now finds the town plans to build up and pave Third Street. He asked why that street will be paved and not his street.

Town attorney Richard Burrows said Third Street had been turned over to the town at the turn of the century and thus came under a Plan for a net profit. Develop a budget and projection of production and marketing with a built-in profit.

1. Plan for maximum economic yields.
2. Follow an integrated pest management program.
3. Soil and nematode test each field.
4. Reduce tillage.
5. Rotate crops where feasible.
6. Protect soil and water resources.
7. Look at land rental cost carefully. Evaluate profitability. One might be able to increase total profit per unit by managing less acres.
8. Keep up with new technology. Attend farmer meetings and read farm and agribusiness printed materials.

New Business Opens In Pink Hill

In order to meet the needs of farmers, local businesses and individual taxpayers, a new accounting office has been opened by Gayle Howard Smith. The new office facility is located on R.R. 1116, Route 2, Pink Hill on the Jonestown Road. Gayle has completely renovated the old Clarence Howard Store, making it into a 1,200 square-foot office complex. She has been in the C.P.A. business part-time for the last eight years and felt the need to go into a full-time practice to meet the needs of the area.
