All residents of Tryon are hereby notified that a wagon will call on Tuesday, next, to haul away all tin cans and trash. Comply with the city ordinance, and have your cans and trash placed in boxes and ready for the wagon when it calls. Let's make Tryon the city clean and beautiful this summer.

M. G. BLAKE, Town Mgr.

After placing the forms of our last issue on the press, the machine broke down before we had run off a single paper, and the broken part had to be taken to Spartanburg for repair. In consequence the NEWS was not printed until Saturday. It seems as if we were having more than our share of misfortunes, but we live in hopes that there will be a turn some time.

Mrs. Frank Wilcox, of Union, S. C., formerly of Tryon, has organized a troupe of a dozen girls known as Camphire girls, who give a little play that has been very favorably received both in Union and Spartanburg. It will be performed at the Auditorium soon. Mr. Arthur Carver sings also. Mr. Carver's voice for sweetness and charm was formerly well known in Tryon. It has since been trained by Mr. David Bispham and an Italian master.

Tryon visitors as a rule are attractive, pleasant and some charming. Now and then there are knockers. Two who found it too wintry in Asheville this spring, found it too summery in Tryon, especially the hot week. They said they couldn't stand it, and then would sit on the piazza in woolen wraps. They said they would go on to Augusta, Ga., to get cool. Some one had told them it was delightful there. Whatever its other merits no one certainly ever heard of it recommended as a summer resort. Another recent visitor, much troubled by the submarine news began talking of going to Omaha, as Tryon was too near the sea coast to be safe.

The Music at the Park is a very good feature.

TRYON WALKABOUTS AND TALKABOUTS.

An amateur gardener has discovered that when his crops need rain the most he has only to get out his hose and wet them down. There'll be a shower within 24 hours.

A knitting circle recently discussed the question whether a woman was happier living a single life, or married to a husband that lives a double one.

Between the Lanier Library Women's Exchange, and the Mountain Industries, Tryon, they say, is getting the afternoon tea habit. As yet it hasn't got to be what down in New England they call it—a sewing circle, with the sewing left out. Besides it's a knitting circle now-a-days, anyway. The old sewing circle was where folks—women and girls at least—got together, they said, to talk about each others' clothes and strip the characters of those who were absent. But they don't do that in Tryon knitting circles, of course. The men, as yet, haven't got the tea habit very much. When they want to talk about their clothes and run down those that aren't there, coca-cola answers the purpose.

According to reports as many colored people as white, if not more, in Western North Carolina, are engaged in the liquor traffic. The high prices tempt them. This is a worse bondage than that from which Lincoln gave his life to free them.

The eclipse of the sun came off promptly, even in Tryon, on schedule time. Few saw it, because it had scarcely begun attracting attention when a cloud curtain went down and the show was over. Eclipses are the only sky performance that makes us realize the motion of the earth. It is now about 40 years since Galileo while the earth attends to the moving. Yet we still talk of the sun's rising and setting; although it no more does that than the house or barn comes rushing at us, passes us and disappears behind us when we are riding in the train or an auto. Even while looking at the eclipse and a cloud passed across the surface of the sun, we said the sun went behind a cloud. Galileo, by the way, for saying that the earth moved, was killed by the Papal "High Command" of that day known as the Inquisition; just as a German would be now, for saying that the world has moved while Prussia stood still.

KING BASE BALL YIELDS TOVOLLEYBALL IN CAMP

Popularity Of Volley Ball Among Soldiers Surprises All Old Baseball Fans.

What are the favorite games with the soldiers in training camps in the southeastern division? The immediate response would naturally be baseball. However, this is not correct, according to the latest statistical report compiled by R. C. Cubbon, Army Y. M. C. A. physical director for the southeastern division, aided by the 126 physical directors in the camps. Their figures of the number of games played and the number of men participating show that volley ball is the most popular of all sports.

There was a time when baseball was the most popular sport in the camps, and in the month of March it was three times as popular as any other game, but in the following month the newly introduced game of volley ball was taken by the soldiers with the greatest of enthusiasm and the report of the physical directors in the camps of the southeastern department show that, commencing with the month of April, volley ball has easily held first place as the most popular sport with the soldiers.

This is very easily understood when it is explained that volley ball can be played in a very small space about the size of a tennis court. The soldiers with little practice can become quite expert in the game. Another feature is that all of the players on both sides are playing the entire time, (no bench warming) and the games do not last nearly so long as baseball, in fact not much longer than the average baseball inning. The only equipment needed for this game is one ball and one net.

Playground baseball is another game that is making a great hit with the soldiers and now ranks fourth in popularity. This game also can be played in a small space, the distances between bases being only thirty feet. In this game a large, soft ball is used and the pitcher is required to use the underhand throw. All the skill of the parent game of baseball is required for playground ball and the playing has all the thrills and tense moments that is to be had in the national pastime.

As an entertainer boxing is very much in the limelight in the camps and like baseball has an immense following of devotees. Providing games of entertainment is of no small importance in the camps as it is shown in the physical director's report that 905,375 spectators were in attendance at 143,248 games in which 662,056 soldiers participated in Y. M. C. A. games.

Y. M. C. A. secretaries have carried their work to the troops in transport, says an announcement just received from the National War Council of the Y. M. C. A., and are now promoting a systematic recreational, educational, social and religious program for the soldier boys en route by sea to France. With the sanction of the War Department each transport now carries one or two such secretaries, whose function it is to do all that is possible to make the voyage both comfortable and enjoyable for the fighting men abroad.

"Games are provided, musical and movie entertainments staged, magazines and books are supplied and writing paper is issued free to the men," the statement continues. "A report of a transport worker recently arrived shows that in his equipment there were such articles as a folding organ and song books, motion-picture equipment with 20 reels, pocket testaments, writing paper, boxing gloves, medicine ball, rope quoits, checkers, dominoes, Victrolas and records and a Sonora machine."

"The appointment of transport secretaries completes the link of Y. M. C. A. work, which begins with the recruits in camp, continues through the training period, comes overseas on the transports and goes on in the camps in France all the way from the ports in the front line trenches. Transport secretaries are assigned to ships, and remain on their ships as does the crew."
