"Long May It Wave."

The Kaiser's terror troops have no terrors for those "idiotic Yankees."

Wonder how the Kaiser likes the "bulldozing Americans" by this time?

Add one extra War Savings Stamp to the amount you have pledged yourself to buy in August.

35,000 prisoners and 700 cannon have been captured by Americans and allies in the present drive.

The Clown Prince came, he saw, and now he is breaking his neck to get away from the pursuing Yankees.

As the days go by, the list of killed and wounded Americans will increase. What are you doing to aid them in their efforts to defeat the Huns?

General Pershing has been decorated by the French government. Wait until he returns to America. The American people will do the rest.

Have you pledged your full ability on buying War Savings Stamps? Remember that Polk county has only subscribed about one-fourth her allotment.

The American troops combine the craftiness of the Indian, the stubbornness of the English and the dash and enthusiasm of the French. Can anything beat such a combination?

The American troops have certainly put fear into the hearts of the Huns, something that has not been done before. They sure do dread having to face an army of American troops.

Wednesday's report says that "the clearing up of the big field of retreat has netted in one-half the territory advanced over by the Americans alone, fifteen TRAINLOADS of ammunition and general supplies. Not so bad."

Secretary Baker says he intends to keep one million men in the training camps of the good old U. S. A. at all times until the "cruel war is over." Go to it, Mr. Baker, the people are with you to a finish.

"Idiotic Yankees," "bulldozing Americans" are two pet terms that the Kaiser has for our boys "over there." Several million more "over here, Bill, just as idiotic as the ones gone over. Want to see some more of them."

Now history tells us that King George, with whom Americans had a little misunderstanding during George Washington's days was not English at all, but was a German. Well we are glad to learn it, for we have often wondered what made him so hellish mean.

The Americans and their allies have continued a steady advance since our last issue, and while their advance is being more and more stubbornly opposed, yet they advance. Berlin is a long ways off, but they are marching in that direction.

If a mad dog was turned loose in our community would any sensible person approach him with a bone and attempt to make friends with him? Not much. The thing to do would be to get a gun and kill him. The Germans are a nation gone mad, and the only way to make good people of them is to kill them. The more you kill the more good Germans will there be.

It is time for this silly twaddle about having no hatred in your heart toward the Germans to stop. Also advising our boys to feel no hatred toward the Huns. What do you suppose they are going to France for? As Christian missionaries? No, but as fighting men for America. And before the fight, or rather when they fight best is when they are maddest. Our boys are going to France for the avowed purpose of KILLING GERMAN.

ITALY LIKES BASEBALL

Most Recent Victim of National Pastime Germ.

Football Popular as Well as Diamond Sport—Favored by Military Leaders.

New York.—One of the curious effects of the war is the international interest which has been aroused in American sports. Italy apparently is the most recent victim of the baseball germ, according to Dr. Felice Ferrero, director of the Italian bureau of information in this city.

Football, as played in America, as well as the national game of this country, also has taken hold of the popular interest in Italy. The Gazzetta dello Sport, one of the most influential sport journals of that country, is raising a fund for the purchase of baseballs, bats and footballs and the distribution of prizes among the soldiers to stimulate competition.

General Pennella, commander of the Second Italian army, in a letter to the Gazzetta dello Sport, says that football and baseball games are of inestimable value in the training for war. He praises the initiative of the Gazzetta dello Sport and says that he firmly believes that the stimulation of baseball and football competition among the various units of the Italian army will have the most gratifying and important results in maintaining the morale of the troops. General Pennella is especially pleased with baseball as an aid to training and the maintenance of the morale of the troops.

THEY LOOK THE PART

It seems peculiarly appropriate that these German soldiers should look like the swine they imitate in their methods of warfare, though perhaps the porkery will object to the comparison. The type of gas mask used by the enemy gives them this repulsive swinish appearance that is topped off by the spiked German helmet.

HE GOT THE RING FIRST

Young Man Prepared for Wedding and Did Not Worry About the Girl.

Cleveland, O.—Here's a young man who believes in the efficacy of preparedness.

With his young wife he appeared recently before Frank M. Kenney, chief clerk of local board No. 7 at Central armory.

"When did you buy the ring?" Mr. Kenney asked.

There was some discrepancy between the answers of the bride and the bridegroom and the clerk pressed for an explanation.

"Well, I'll tell you the truth," the man replied. "Some years ago I bought a watch on the installment plan and when it was paid for I thought the idea was a pretty good one. I figured to myself that some day I might want to get married, and thought it wouldn't be a bad idea to get the ring on the same plan."

"You mean you got the ring and kept it in your pocket until the right girl happened along?" Mr. Kenney inquired.

"That's just it, mister," the youth replied, unabashed. "This is the right girl, and we's just got married."

MAN TOO HEAVY FOR NAVY

Recruiting Officer Says Uncle Sam Hasn't Suit Big Enough for Kansan.

Sallina, Kan.—"I want to fight," declared V. C. Emick, twenty-one, of Miltonvale, at the local naval recruiting office. A recruiting officer gave him the "once over," put him through a series of paces and then said:

"There is nothing doing here. There isn't a sailor suit in Uncle Sam's navy that would fit you."

Emick walked out of the office a disappointed man. He weighs 275 pounds and was recently registered under the new draft law.

Martins Ferry, O.—While stripping coal at the Beech Flats Coal company mine at Rush Run, above this city, workmen unearthed the skeletons of three Indians. The skeletons are in a good state of preservation. The teeth are perfect and white as ivory.

NORTH CAROLINA WILL NOT SUFFER FROM SUGAR SHORTAGE SAYS PAGE

NORTH CAROLINA WILL NOT SUFFER FROM SUGAR SHORTAGE SAYS PAGE.

Successful Experiments Convince Officials That Substitutes Will Largely Relieve Situation—Canning and Preserving May be Increased—Formulas to be Printed.

Raleigh.—No actual hardships is going to result in North Carolina from the acute shortage of sugar which exists at this time and there is no reason at all why the quantities of fruits that are canned and preserved should be lessened in any degree. This is the frankly expressed opinion of State Food Administrator Henry A. Page, Conservation Chairman John Paul Lucas and Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, Director of Home Economics for the Food Administration and Head of Home Demonstration activities in North Carolina.

Experiments Encourage. Food Administration officials have been greatly concerned over the sugar shortage, and still are for that matter, but they have been greatly encouraged and relieved during the past few days by the marked success of experiments that have been conducted by Mrs. McKimmon and her wide-awake assistants in the use of cane syrup, sorghum, corn syrup, corn sugar and other procurable sugar substitutes. Mrs. McKimmon and her forces are working over time on these tests and are preparing tried and proven formulas and recipes which, with accompanying suggestions, will be printed by the Food Administration in the form of a bulletin or leaflet in the immediate future for distribution throughout North Carolina. The formulas being prepared by Mrs. McKimmon will be very largely used in other States also. Washington authorities being keenly interested in them and recognizing the splendid ability of Mrs. McKimmon's organization in this line of work.

Can Add Sugar Later. It is a recognized fact that sugar does increase the palatability of canned fruits but the product may be saved just as easily without the addition of sugar, according to Mrs. McKimmon. In fact a large number of housewives have always canned without sugar, adding sugar only when the fruit is opened and used. Peaches, apples, pears, berries, etc., which are desired for marmalade, jelly, jam or preserves, may be canned now and made into the ultimate product weeks or months from now when, if sugar is not available, there will certainly be available a considerable quantity of cane syrup, corn syrup, corn sugar, sorghum, or other substitute.

Experiments have developed the fact that for best results different substitutes must be used for different fruits or different products and the tests are for the purpose of determining which substitutes may be most satisfactorily used in each kind of fruit. Mrs. M. M. Davis, of Mrs. McKimmon's organization, is using in her demonstrations samples of apple, peach and pineapple marmalade made with syrup instead of sugar, and connoisseurs agree that the product does not suffer at all in comparison with similar products containing sugar.

Reports to the agricultural forces and Food Administration here indicate that there is a large acreage of cane planted for syrup in North Carolina this year and a large production of syrup is anticipated.

TAR HEELS WILL GET HIGHER WHEAT PRICE

"Fair Price" for Flour and Mill Feeds for All North Carolina Mills Fixed by Grain Corporation.

Raleigh.—Wheat growers of North Carolina will receive a higher price for their new crop of wheat than they received for the last. The average price in North Carolina for No. 1 red wheat will be approximately $2.45 per bushel. No. 2 red wheat will be 4 cents per bushel less and No. 3 red, which embraces most of this year's crop in this State, is 7 cents under the basic price.

The prices mentioned are not "fixed" prices. The Grain Corporation does fix "Fair Prices" above which the mills must not sell flour and mill feeds, and they are allowed to pay whatever trade conditions warrant them in paying for wheat.

The prices mills may pay for wheat are approximately the St. Louis price plus freight, and North Carolina being an importing State in so far as wheat is concerned, it will not be necessary for Tar Heel wheat growers to avail themselves of the guaranteed price at which the Government would take their wheat at Newport News, Va. The price they would get is probably 20 cents per bushel in excess of the guaranteed price.

The past can never be undone. The food you should have conserved will never reach a hungry mouth.

To the names of the illustrious generals of today, history will justly add General Housewife.

There is no deferred classification in food conservation. We are all in Class 1; all in camp, and ready to go "over the top" when we must further conserve.

GIRL CUTS OFF TRESSES SO AS TO BUY W. S. S.

Dayton, O.—Juanita Dowell, eleven, cut off her beautiful chestnut curls to help win the war. She then notified an officer of the National Security league that she wished the hair to be sold in Portland, Ore., and that the money be used in buying War Savings stamps. Gertrude Atherton, the author, made the first bid on the tresses at $5. The child's explanatory letter is to be sold along with the hair to the highest bidder.
