

ABOLINE NEWS

The people in the lower part of the county are very much pleased to know that the road leading from the Poores Ford road to the Mills Gap road is to be put in good traveling condition this week. Mr. O. C. Smith has been appointed overseer. In warning his hands he finds that the free-labor law is meeting the approval of the people.

Green River school is to begin a six months term next Monday. The patrons are hoping and expecting the best school they have ever had. Not that they have not had good schools, but the people are anxious to do more and better work each year. Prof. E. W. S. Cobb is working for a three teacher school at Green River next year. We are only wishing him the greatest success.

A joint debate between Melvin Hill and Green River is scheduled for next Saturday night. Everybody is invited and especially the ladies, as the debate will thoroughly explain why the women should vote. Also why they should not.

MILL SPRING.

Rev. Shelton has gone to conference. There will be no services at Bethlehem Sunday.

Mesdames Sue and Margaret Edwards were pleasant callers at Sunny Brook farm, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Ola Hampton spent a few days with Mrs. G. C. Brisco, last week.

Little George Wilson returned to his home in Charlotte, after spending a month with his cousins, Gordon and George Gibbs.

Misses Mollie Pack, Carrie and Jennie Barber spent a few pleasant hours with Miss Sallie Brisco, Sunday afternoon. The auction sale of the J. H. Gibbs place, Tuesday aggregated a little over $9,000. Only two lots were confirmed which amounted to about $4,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Lioned Brisco of Ruth, N. C., are spending a few days with relatives.

Mr. J. R. Foster is to be congratulated upon his appointment as postmaster at Mill Spring. We are sure he will make an efficient postmaster. He will take charge very soon.

Mr. N. L. Edwards, of Rutherford-ton, made a very interesting talk about the $75,000,000 campaign at the Baptist church, Sunday afternoon. Am sure those present were inspired by his talk and are willing to do their part in going "over the top," as we always do in any kind of drive. We are interested to know the Fifth Sunday meetings are being worked up again.

Misses Ruth Byers, of Route 2, and Esther Gibbs went to Steedly's hospital at Spartanburg last Monday to have their tonsils and adenoids removed. Returned home Friday.

Mr. J. R. Foster has his cotton gin going. We are lucky to be so close and not lose so much time going off to some other gin.

Mrs. G. H. Arledge and daughters were the guests of Mrs. G. E. Arledge Sunday.

FISHTOP.

The rain has done much good in the way of preparing the land for the plow and improving the turnips and cabbage. Yet it has done considerable harm in the fact that so much corn lies on the ground and will ruin if the weather continues warm. Better go over the crop and either gather what is down or straighten it up so it will be off the ground till cool weather comes.

A goodly number attended the preaching of Rev. Bud Jackson at E. J. Bradley's, Sunday. He will preach there again on the fourth Sunday in November.

Mrs. Carrie Davis and children, of Inman, S. C., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Case for a few days.

T. C. Laughter hauled his first bale of cotton off last week, realizing a good profit.

Earl Head was in this vicinity, Sunday.

The Cove was well represented at Saluda, Saturday.

The voice of the squirrel hunter (the gun) is heard in the land occasionally, these days.

I guess winter will come although it is making a slow start. (It always does).

HILLCREST.

Miss Thomas, the Red Cross nurse, is conducting classes in home nursing at Hillcrest Institute and Greens Creek High School. This is a wonderful opportunity for the girls and women of these communities and it is to be hoped that they will take advantage of it.

Rev. Robt Crawford of Chesnee, spent last week with Mr. O. E. Wilkins.

Miss Nella Briant has returned to Hillcrest Institute.

Miss Docia McKinney who has been ill for some time has been taken to the Rutherfordton hospital.

Misses Effie May and Addie Lee Backwell went to Spartanburg Friday.
