fire on the mountain to the north, Tuesday evening, looked as though several acres of wood—at $10 or $12 a cord was being wasted.

and Mrs. Vernor gave an evening to some twenty or more guests at Villa Barbara Tuesday. It was of course social success.

the East Hill road has been worked this week, so as to have the water run from the center to the gutters; heretofore has been hard to do.

Miss Virginia Rankin, who is attending school at Spartanburg, spent week-end with her parents here. She returned to her studies on Monday afternoon.

the Lightner family, of Detroit, spent in Tryon this week, and will spend some time at their home here. Mrs. Holden had an old fashioned party here this last week.

very few months another Wilson family to Tryon either as a guest or resident. It remains for Woodrow Wilson to enjoy that privilege. He will probably have the leisure for it, in a few days.

vious rivals accuse Tryonites of bragging about this town. If they ever do that, people will think of the original Garden of Eden has been covered. The plain simple truth is that it is enough.

Mr. Owen S. Bird, a former citizen of Polk county, but who has been spending his home at Roanoke, Va., for the past two years, arrived in Tryon Monday. Mr. Bird is looking for a location so that he may again call Polk county "home."

scarcity of milk, so common everywhere, has temporarily occurred here. At Pine Crest Inn, which has a cow supply, a big black bull calf was loose the other day, and before the recovery, had drained the hotel cows. Illinois is known as the Sucker State, but this fellow came from Michigan.

Rev. J. F. Black returned Wednesday from a business trip to Maumee, Ohio. He was accompanied home by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Strosahl, who will make their future home in Polk county. Mr. Strosahl will enter business with his father-in-law in the management of Hillcrest Vineyards.

The name of Mr. James Lane Alford, on the Oak Hall guest book, led many to believe that the famous author of the "Red Cardinal" and other Kentucky stories, had arrived in Tryon. He did or said nothing to dispel that impression, until the eve of his departure. Some Tryon visitors say they had the same experience at a Canadian summer resort. He is a relative of the distinguished author.

Last Wednesday night Mr. Frost gave a most interesting lecture on "Egypt" at the school auditorium. The children took notes on the lecture. A prize was given to John Steelman for the best, to Robert Reich for second and honorable mention to James Rion. The remarkably good essay of an eight year old boy, Sidney Sayre, and a ten year old boy Dan Rion are in a class by themselves and should have a fourth and fifth grade prize which was given by Mr. Frost. There will be a similar lecture and essay contest in the next few weeks.

SAFETY! COURTESY! SERVICE!

WHAT MAKES A BANK?

Well, our answer to that question is the men behind the bank, the men interested in its management, the men who stand for business integrity and square dealing.

The officers of our bank are accommodating and willing to extend you every courtesy. Our directors are not figure-heads, they actually direct the affairs of the bank and know how its business is conducted. Our stockholders are among the solid men of the community. These are what it takes to make a good bank, in our judgement, a safe place for you to do business. We invite you to join us.
