Better Seeds--Better Crops

To The Cotton Growers of Polk County.

We are all somewhat at sea relative to growing cotton under boll weevil conditions in this county. Some of us have had better opportunities to study the weevil and how to deal with him than others: and The Good Book tells us: "That in a Multitude of Counselors there is Safety." therefore I ask the Cotton growers of Greens Creek Township to meet at the following time and places to discuss what and how to do about our cotton crop this year. Green River School Feb. 13th, at 10:00 A. M. Greens Creek School Feb. 14th, 2 P. M. On each of these days, Miss Padgett will give a demonstration in making Better Biscuits, in which every man, woman and child should come together and have a good day in planning and working.

J. R. SAMS
County Agent.

ONE OUT OF A THOUSAND.

Here is the most interesting incident to my mind that has happened during our Better Biscuit Campaign in Polk Co. The Board of Education offered to the school that would enroll the highest per cent of its girls above ten years of age. A set of valuable maps.

These girls were to comply with the rules of the contest which was to bake biscuits five times and bring to school to be judged by the teacher. There is a ten year old child, Elizabeth Anderson, who lives on a farm three miles out from Columbus. She came to school one morning on the day when biscuits were to be baked, brought in and judged. She was asked by her teacher were her biscuits were? She replied that she did not know it was judging day; and asked permission to return to her home and make the biscuits and have them judged. Her request was granted and four hours later she returned with her required number of biscuits, well made and baked, having walked to her home and returned, making in all four trips over three miles of rough-country road, making in all 12 miles traveled by her during the day. Most all the girls in almost all schools in the county have shown decided interest in the Better Biscuit Campaign; Elizabeth deserves special mention for her untiring energy and spirit of cooperation with her teacher, in order to procure the maps for the school.

It may be of interest to some to know that this little girl is the great-grand daughter of Mr. J. R. Sams, Farm agent. In her we see his spirit of cooperation and untiring energy repeated, or in other words, a "chip off the old block."

Dialect Reading Pleases Audience

Humor and Pathos Mark Recital at Library

With a clearness of speech and complete absence of affectation; Mrs. Jane Screven Heyward, noted dialect reader, entertained a large audience at the Library Tuesday night.

Following a brief introduction by Dr. Allen J. Jervey on behalf of the Lanier Club, under whose auspices Mrs. Heyward came to Tryon, Mrs. Heyward began a series of anecdotes in the dialect of Gullah Negro. The stories, practically all in verse, were based on real incidents occurring in the life of Mrs. Heyward's old Negro "mamma," "Mum Sinai" and referred back to the pre-war days giving character sketches of the early '60s.

The readings and recitations opened the eyes of many in the audience to the real affection and relationship between the two races, white and black.

Although filled with humor throughout there was an undercurrent of pathos discernable in many of the anecdotes.

Jane Screven Hayward is the mother of Dubose Hayward, of Charleston, who recently carved his niche in the Hall of Fame through the medium of his poetry which is being widely read and which is creating much favorable comment.

Mrs. Hayward is a native Charlestonian and has made an exhaustive study of the manners and dialects of the negroes of that vicinity. The dialect of the Gullah negroes is accorded to be one of the most difficult dialect of the English language to master.

Let the pigs do their own work by putting them on pasture. Now is a good time to get ready to prepare some of that pasture.
