A conservative estimate of the amount of lime used by North Carolina farmers last year would be about 65,000 tons says one lime company. Indications are that the Tarheel farmers are learning the value of lime in improved agriculture and will continue to use more and more.

Owing to the fact that Dr. W. S. Green has spent several thousand dollars in equipment for handling coal, and is now in position to serve the public, promptly and efficiently, we are discontinuing the business. Take our advice and place your orders early. Prices are advancing.

Our Fairs This Fall.

1st. Are they worth while? 2nd. Who will they benefit? 3rd. Of what use are they? 4th. What can they be? 5th. Shall we have a Community Fair in each Township; or one great Community Fair at Columbus? 6th. What will they be? Here are six questions about fairs in Polk County that should be answered by the best thinking citizens in all lines of business in the County. These fairs, if held, will materially effect all agriculture beneficially in the county, which will stimulate all business in the county. We think a short discussion of these questions in order. 1st. Are they standpatter and chronic worth while? kicker say NO. The progressive farmer and business man say Yes. Which shall we follow? There is no agency just now that can be made so helpful along educational lines that can benefit the farmer so much as the Community Fair: Provided he will take advantage of what it offers—The preparation and standardization, grading and packing farm products for the market will mean much more to the farmer in the future than in the past. The farmer has hitherto been a producer, and a producer alone. He has relied on the rest of mankind to give him a market; and the only market he has ever had is just such as the unorganized public would offer. Growing the crop is about one half the farmers business, and selling it the other. Our Community Fairs this fall should be made the marketing schools in which farmers and other business men and women can meet and discuss fully the needs and requirements of the markets and how to meet these needs. 2nd. Who will these fairs benefit? When properly conducted and understood, and attended by both farmers and business men; All classes of human society will reap benefits from them. 3rd. Of what use? There are several uses for the Community Fairs. They are direct from the State College of Agriculture which is an outgrowth of the old farmers institute, in which not only the preparation of commodities for market can be learned; but the treatment of soils and the best methods of farming be discussed among farmers themselves and by specialists who may attend these fairs: More over, they are the greatest among the people of the whole township or territory served by the fair. 4th. What can they be? Well: that is a question of the imagination. I don't know what a township like Greens Creek could do; if it would realize the importance of the matter and do its best. Any community or individual, gets out of any thing, just what they put in, in money, brains and enthusiasm, plus a good big interest on the principal. 5th. Shall we have a Community Fair in each township, or one great Community Fair at Columbus? Farmers as they talk to me differ some what; but I am sure the great majority of farmers favor both. That is a real Community Fair in each township, and then at the close of these fairs, have a great consolidated Community Fair at Columbus and allow all who got 1st., 2nd., and 3rd. prizes bring them to Columbus, with any other citizen of Polk or adjacent counties to compete for prizes at Columbus. We would like to have the opinion of farmers and business men and women of Polk

County on the question. 6th. What will they be? That question depends on the people of Polk County. They will be according to our faith and works. If we believe we should have these fairs and go to work now to produce something of excellent merit to put on these fairs by hard work from now till then, and then in the end bring our efforts to the fair. They will be a great success and Polk County will know more about her own natural resources her possibilities, and her people. Now what are we going to do about it.

Respectfully
J. R. SAMS

Mr. Ellertson returned to Tryon this spring after a visit of six months in Europe. Following a brief visit to be made with relatives in the North during the next month or so, he will return to Tryon to begin the construction of his new studio. The transaction was made through Blake and Calhoun as agents.

MRS. HEYWARD TO READ AT LIBRARY

Those who were not fortunate enough to hear the readings of Mrs. Heyward of Charleston during her visit in Tryon of mid-winter will be delighted to learn that she will render another programme Friday night of this week at 8:30 o'clock at the Library under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association.

The proceeds from the entertainment will be set aside as a fund for the salary of librarian to be maintained during the summer months at the School Library.

Mrs. Heyward's dialect readings are known throughout the country and Tryon once again feels itself fortunate in securing the services of this reader of a dialect that is rapidly becoming extinct even in its native place—the South Carolina Coast.

A RECIPE FOR PRESERVING CHILDREN.

A recent health bulletin says, "Take one large grassy field, one half dozen children, two or three small dogs, a pinch of brook and some pebbles. Mix the children and dogs well together and put them in the field stirring constantly. Pour the brook over the pebbles; sprinkle the field with flowers; spread over all a deep, blue sky and bake in the sun. When brown, remove and set to cool in a bathtub."

This leads home demonstration workers of the State College and State Department of Agriculture to observe that spring is a good time to start preserving children as well as eggs or fruits.

Letting folks know you have fresh eggs, butter or other farm products for sale is a simple matter if you let The News tell them about it.
