Money Saved By Use Of Paint

"Of all the general neglect of implements, buildings, etc. credited to farmers all over the country" says E. R. Raney, Farm Engineer for the North Carolina Extension Service, "there is probably no one item that would reduce this great annual loss, which goes into millions for the whole country, more than a good liberal and judicious use of paint.

Mr. Raney states further that paint will not only improve the general appearance of buildings, but by keeping a good coat on both buildings and machinery it will greatly lengthen the life of these preventing the wood work from becoming soaked with water and rotting, and the metal parts from rusting.

Long Show Aim of Dutch Threshers.
Dutch threshing machines are designed to preserve, as far as possible, the length of the straw, which is used in making strawboard.
