

Kitchen Shower for a June Bride

By Cecily Brownstone

If you have a "shower for a June bride" on your party list there are lots of interesting ways you can vary this proverbial entertaining. When a young friend of mine married recently I gave her a kitchen towel shower which was lots of fun. About a dozen friends came for supper and the bride-to-be got a most attractive and practical assortment of dish towels. I like the one I found for her—it had a recipe printed on it!

If you want ideas for showers there are two good books on the subject. One is called "The Cakesbury Shower Book" by Katherine Fite and Garland Clawson Paine published by the Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, New York and Nashville. The other is "Showers for Brides and Babies" by Nina L. and Eudora V. Pond, published by the Medford Publishing Company, Medford, Okla.

Another fine kind of party to give a bride is a cookbook shower. The hostess might start off by giving the guest of honor a copy of the recent "Cookbook for Brides," by Dorothy Malone, published by A. A. Wyn, Inc., New York. Although in my estimation the perfect cookbook for brides has not yet been written, there are lots of good things about this one. The author adds her own personal comments throughout the book which will not only be of practical help to the new housekeeper but will give her much needed moral support.

Here is a recipe for a canape or sandwich spread from Miss Malone's book which you might like to serve at a shower.

Snappy Canape Spread

- 3/4 Pound American cheese
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/8 teaspoon allspice
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Dash of cayenne pepper, or 1/8 teaspoon
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice

Either put the cheese through the food chopper, or crumble it to bits and then mash it fine with a good strong fork. Add all of the rest of the ingredients in order, blending thoroughly. When you're finished, you ought to have a creamy spread, just stiff enough to hold its shape. The flavor, you will find, will be superb. Again you can toast the crackers, or if that seems like too much work on the eve of entertaining, spread it on ready-made toast, or plain saltines, and you can feed a multitude. This is an inexpensive spread which is not only good for about 50 canapes, but makes wonderful sandwich filling. This mixture can also be used to stuff table celery. Top the stuffing with a whole pecan.

And here is another recipe, from a test kitchen devoted to perfecting chocolate recipes, for a delicious shower desert.

Brownies

- 1/2 cup sifted enriched all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 package semi-sweet chocolate bits
- 1/2 cup butter or fortified margarine
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup walnut meats, chopped

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Melt chocolate and butter or margarine over hot water. Beat eggs slightly, add sugar and vanilla and beat until very thick and light colored. This will take from 5 to 10 mins. Add and blend. Stir in melted chocolate ingredients to egg mixture and blend. Stir in melted chocolate mixture which has been cooled. Add nuts and mix thoroughly. Pour into greased 8 or 9-inch square pan. Bake in moderately hot (375 degrees F.) oven about 30 minutes or until done. Cut in 9 or 12 large squares. Serve topped with vanilla ice cream and chocolate syrup.

Chocolate Syrup

- 1 package semi-sweet chocolate bits
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 cup hot water
 - 1/8 teaspoon salt
- Melt chocolate over hot water and stir until smooth. Add sugar, hot water and salt and blend well. Place over direct heat and boil 3 minutes. Makes 2 cups syrup. Store in refrigerator.

Books Banned by Nazis Circulate Once More

BERLIN — (AP) — Writings by German-speaking authors which the Nazis banned and burned for 12 years are now presented to German readers in a best-seller anthology published under the auspices of the American Military government.

The 215-page book, given a first printing of 60,000 copies here, is titled "Verboten und Verbrannt (Forbidden and Burned)." It contains excerpts from the writings of some 290 authors.

They came back into print now as the four occupying powers are still working on a big book purge of their own, involving the destruction of millions of volumes of Nazi and militaristic literature. This purge is being conducted under an Allied Control Authority order providing for the cleansing of libraries of public and commercial institutions of literature preaching racism and militarism. The banned Nazi books are not burned but pulped to produce new paper for school textbooks and newspapers.

The anthology contains the works of such well-known authors as Thomas and Heinrich Mann, Vicki Baum, Bertolt Brecht, Lion Feuchtwanger, Sigmund Freud, Martin Gumpert, Arthur Koestler, Emil Ludwig, Erich Maria Remarque (excerpts from his banned "All Quiet on the Western Front")

Woman Creates Orchid Which Never Fades

FAVETTEVILLE, Ark. — (AP) — It takes seven years to grow an orchid Mrs. Ruth Woodruff Gilbert can create one in a few hours with a pair of scissors and a piece of wood fiber. Even florists are fooled by her product.

It's a hobby with Mrs. Gilbert, who lives near here. She says her only aim is to make other people happy with her flowers. In 1939 Mrs. Gilbert was riding with a friend and noticed an illustrated orchid on a billboard sign. The Arkansan had never seen a live orchid, but was struck by the beauty of the flower on the sign.

Mrs. Gilbert rushed home and tried to work with glue and scissors to recapture the billboard image in her mind. Later, when she first saw a real orchid, she was disappointed with her synthetic creation. This spurred her to work harder and achieve an almost life-like reproduction.

Florists say it is difficult to tell, even by touch, that Mrs. Gilbert's orchids are artificial. One woman wore a Gilbert orchid on a plane trip and politely declined when the pilot asked if she wanted to on ice. The passengers were amazed when the "flower" didn't wilt on the trip. A California bride who received a Gilbert orchid as a gift, keeps her friends wondering at her husband's extravagance. Mrs. Gilbert says the bride has never disclosed the secret of her ageless flower.

Say Bamby to your Grocer

All over our state are beer retailers—thousands of them—faithfully living up to the letter and spirit of the law. They, in common with the brewing industry as a whole, stand for wholesome conditions in their business.

What of the scattered few who fail to "live up"? They are unwelcome hangers-on; and when they refuse to accept suggestions for correction of unwholesome situations, this Division, in cooperation with law-enforcement agencies, takes action to see that they remedy their shortcomings or lose their license.

This is a program of action within the industry. We call it "Self-Regulation." You, by your support, have called it a program of real benefit to North Carolina.
