Installing a new York freezer for the Crostan Frozen Foods plant in Morehead is Spivey, Inc. of Wilmington. Manager Davis, who hopes to be buying food fish in quantity "in a week or two," reports that his demand and supply are holding up nicely. 1 t

E. C. Ballou, who is still seeking a captain for the "Princess Ann," is operating six other boats at this time: The Jane Arden (of radio fame?), under Oscar Gillikin; the "W.G.", Puncy Doyler; the "Lupion," Lloyd T. Lawrence; the "Tommy," Brady Golden, and the "Sea Spray," George Lawrence. The latter has just returned from Bettie with a new paint job. 1 t

Finally opening on May 15, after a month's postponement, was Ballou's Ocean Grill. The new manager, Lloyd Goodwin, came here from Tampa, Fla., but formerly lived in Morehead City for 600 years. Ballou is a native of Cedar Island. 1 t

Six boats are running for the

See Brothers at the present time, along with their own boat, the "Stella Mae." They are getting machined and paying 25 cents wholesale for them.

You folks who have been sneaking out with Tony's new glasses and congratulating yourselves on your skill can walk out boldly now. We have it on good authority—from Ted himself—that 100 cases of the red-lettered tumblers which say "Seats 10,000—100 at a time" were bought for souvenirs and in the interest of extensive advertising. Ever on the lookout for something new, the customer-conscious Seamon-Garner combination has bought tiny chrome-and-leather chairs for the youngsters which go on their larger (also new) chairs and make a high chair or a bench, if necessary. They stick on with suction cups and look like a good gadget for visiting parents to invest in. Shrome trays stands are being used for the first time.

"Nice crowds" since their recent opening is the opinion of Ted Garner, who points out they are the only seafood place featuring deviled crabs—prepared with REAL butter. Shad and shad roe are also being featured and the boys are right proud of the fact that they are getting their vegetables from Seamon's own farm.

At their adjacent fish market, blues are selling for 40 cents, retail, shrimp for 60 and 70 cents, speckled trout, mackerel, and flounders for 40 cents a pound. They are running three boats now—the "Sylvia" under Captain Theodore Lewis, the "Dawn," with Plymouth Willis, and the "Ann" under Percy Howland.

The son-of-a-big-time seafood operator is Albert Lee, owner of the fish house which just opened across from the aforementioned SEM. The younger Lea, who bought out Captain Charlie Tolson, lock, stock and barrel, is from Hampstead, N. C., and reports that he is buying from boatowners direct, not running his own fleet. Selling blackfish, flounder, and shrimp to New York markets, Lea's Fish House shipped over $10,000 worth of scallops, while they lasted.

A grand daddy sheephead which tipped the scale at nine pounds, was the eye-catching interest in Puck O'Neal's showcase last week. It dwarfed the run-of-the-mill three and four-pounders usually seen.

Captain Clyde Willis is said to have caught the first sizeable batch of bluefish this season—460 pounds—off Atlantic Beach. It was Willis who netted the honest-to-Hiram pig last year and gave rise to several feature stories and much talk.

Besides selling shrimp and clams J. B. Rice is putting up canned crab in his Morehead City plant in three grades. It sells for a dollar, one-twenty-five, and one-fifty, depending on whether it is claws, flakes, or lumped.

Literally as "pretty as paint" is Otis Purifyer's new "Dolphin" with her bright blue and white color scheme. She had her trial run about the middle of the month and went into regular service May 29 with George Bedford at the tiller.

Swansboro is the source of mullet being sold at City Fish Market in M. C. Bringing 30 cents retail, Manager Hall says they run three or four pounds apiece. Clams bring one-twenty-five a quart and mackerel sent in from Atlantic sells for 45 cents. Looking for better fishing "in thirty days" is this proprietor, who says things are "mighty slow" with him now.

A new fish market is opening in conjunction with the grocery on the Sound known as "George E's Place." Operated by the Gillikin brothers, George and Leo, it boasts a swanky new sign but is "just getting started" and is, also, a little shy of fish for the showcase.

The Willis Brothers, in Morehead, are shipping soft crabs but expect this to end most any time. This firm, too, E. S. Davis states, is buying from others rather than maintaining its own boats.

Non-working equipment appears to have made life hectic, if not miserable, for the crew of the "Reliance." At a meeting of the Shrimp Committee held May 26, it was decided to return her with thanks (and probably a sigh of relief) to Woods Hole.

Given to Woods Hole by the Navy, the vessel was lent for the purpose of making a survey of North Carolina shrimping grounds. Work will, presumably, begin again when arrangements have been made for a plain garden-variety boat which will be dependable. At the meeting were Bill Wells, Dr. Gordon Taylor, Dr. R. E. Coker, Dr. Eugene Roeloff, Al Chestnut, William Ellison and Charles S. Allen.

Also in town at that time, but for the purpose of inspecting the building into which Captain John Nelson and his staff will move, was Roy Hampton, State Engineer Turner, and R. G. Dayton of the budget office. Upshot of the tour seems to have been a thumbs-down reaction to proposed expenditures for renovating another building at the section base, now the Institute of Fisheries.

18 Attend Reunion

The class flower was the red rose and class colors were red and white. Salutatorian was Thelma Pake and valedictorian, Louise Hudgins.

Words to the class song are as follows: Now that our class days are over We leave you all with regret But we have hopes for the future

Things that we loved, linger yet. When High School memories stray Back to you all some day We'll not be far away The Class of '28. We'll hold you to our hearts After we have embarked The Class of '28.

And as we leave you rest Within our treasure chest We hope you'll do your best, to honor Beaufort High School. And as the tear drops start We'll hold you to our hearts After we have embarked The Class of '28.

By Clyde Ramsey

As I glance into the faces Of my classmates gathered here Tender memories of our school days

Back to my thoughts appear Hand in hand we've worked together Moved the stones that blocked our way Strove to make our work successful

And to crown graduation day. Some grew weary of the struggle And thought it not worth while But we, who wished to reach the top

Went onward and with a smile. We've struggled hard and faithful Through worry, toil and care We've climbed the steep ascent With burdens we had to bear. Now that the battle has been won

We faint would linger, linger night Bids us say good-bye. Good-bye may mean forever For we cannot tell our fate So we only ask you to remember The Class of Twenty Eight.

By Susan Rumley Ruth Morrison Abbott

Seniors of the class of '28 who attended the reunion were Fanny M. Caffrey, Washington, D. C., Sarah Hill King, Washington, N. C., Ruth Morrison Abbott, New Bern, Ruth Fulcher, Mountain Home, Tenn., Charles K. Howe, Jr., Radford, Va., Anna Skarren Matthews, Raleigh, Fred Lewis, Morehead City.

Susan Rumley, Hazel M. Noe, Louise Hudgins Nelson, Virginia Howe Hassell, Thelma Pake Simpson, Ellen Lupton Dickinson, Julia Parkin Basden, Julia Graham Copeland, Frank L. King, Clarence H. Guthrie, and J. O. Barbour, Jr., all of Beaufort.

Those who did not attend were Vera Longest Pake and Vida Longest, both of Beaufort, Annie Laura Creedman, Norfolk, Va., Burchie Felton Nelson, Aulander, N. C., Cecil Longest, Chapel Hill, Clyde Ramsey, Washington, D. C., and Ernest M. Snowden, Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Teachers who were present were Miss Lena Duncan, Miss Gladys Chadwick, and Mrs. Mabel Greene Jones. Those unable to attend were Mrs. Lucile Pond, Lumford, Wakefield, Va., Mrs. Lucy Parkin Fubanks, Beaufort, Mr. Fritz Hickory, N. C., Jake Smith, and Edna May, whose addresses are unknown.

Church

Last winter a quilt pieced by Mrs. Martha Hunnings, who celebrated her 81st birthday May 4, brought $138.75 into the church coffers.

Mrs. Hunnings, pictured here, is one of the founders of the church and the only living charter member. On work day she was busy with a hoe, just like the rest, and announced that she was proud the Lord had given her strength to do such work as that.

Tuttle's Grove Methodist church was dedicated in 1904. Mrs. Hunnings, and her husband who is no longer living, saw the foundation laid. That the church should prosper was one of their fondest dreams, one that hard work has made come true.

Leveling off the ground in front of the building has long been necessary. Mrs. Hunnings explains, because heavy rains flood the yard, making it impossible to get to the church from the road without wading.

Mrs. Martha Hunnings

Besides Mrs. Hunnings, church members who pitched in to help with the job were Mrs. S. T. Dudley, Mrs. L. W. Gillikin, and two sons, Lester, Jr., and Tommy, Mrs. Dolly Dudley, Miss Blanche Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. Leaton Dudley and two sons.

Manly Eubanks, Harry Edwards, Charles Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Kerney Merrill and sons, Clifford and Kerney, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Guthrie, Mrs. Henry Lewis and his daughters, Geraldine and Vera Gray, Mrs. Luther Harvey, H. A. Gillikin, and Mrs. Hunnings' daughter, Carrie.

BUSINESSMEN

The bill was never approved because of the advent of World War II, and it never will be approved, it was pointed out, unless the chamber decides to push the measure.

Following the meeting, the newly-elected board of directors met and chose Dr. Woodard as chairman. Dr. Woodard said the board would meet again "some day this week."

Among those at the Wednesday night session were Calvin Jones, Robert Williams, Dr. Woodard, G. W. Duncan, C. L. Beam, Odell Merrill, John Steed, Jarvis Herring, Edgar Downum, Hugh Hill, James Whitehurst, James Wheatley, Robert Herring, James Saunders, Holden Ballou, Clifford Lewis, Alonzo Willis, William Hartsel, W. S. Wilkins, Neal Windley, James Biggs, C. Z. Chappell, Leslie Moore, Dave Merrill, T. T. "Tom" Potter, and Martha Loftin, temporary recording secretary.

Among the speakers tonight will be General Miller, commanding officer of Cherry Point Marine Base; Aycock Brown, coastal Carolina's publicist; Congressman Graham A. Barden, and Clifton C. Garner, superintendent, Div. No. 2, First Assistant's Bureau of Washington, D. C.

Throughout the convention the registration desk, which also doubled as sightseer's bureau and travel information post, was in charge of Mrs. Harold W. Webb assisted by Mrs. Ray Alexander, Miss Viola Styron, Miss Ann Darden Webb, and Miss Corinne Bell Webb.

PLAQUE

Among the guests were Com. H. J. Webb, Coast Guard headquarters, Washington, D. C., who extended greetings from the commandant, Com. F. G. Wild, Capt. N. C. Manvon, Lt. Com. J. R. Scullion, all of Norfolk, Capt. F. A. Erickson, Elizabeth City air station, and Com. R. F. Ray, New Bern.

Besides Coast Guardsmen from this area, the following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. Gehrmann Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Moore, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Moore, Dr. W. L. Woodard, James Potter, and C. R. Manson and Seth Gibbs, all of Beaufort.

Besides Chief Woodard and his wife, Radioman Glenn Harris and his wife, the following Coast Guardsmen from Fort Macon were present: Carl M. Willis, Gerard Lowther, William E. Willis, Preston Whitehurst, Charles A. Clifton, Stacy M. Davis, William V. Fulford, Robert H. Hill, Howard Jones, William G. Taylor.

From Swansboro: Charles Brown, Pennal J. Tillet, Jethro Midgett, Earl Styron; from Cape Lookout: Whelington Robinson, Darrel E. Lupton, George Jones; from Atlantic: Percy D. Mason.

Out of 14 million American men examined for the draft in World War II about 6.5 million were found physically, mentally or morally unfit for full military service either before or after they entered the armed forces.

Graduates

Billy Lewis represented his class in the presentation of various gifts to the school. A check for $56.55 was presented to J. R. Ball, chairman of the Beaufort school board of trustees, to complete payment for stage scenery.

Other gifts included $75 to band director Fred King for a new instrument for the band, $40 to Miss Lena Duncan, teacher and senior class adviser, for the purchase of an oil painting for the senior class room, and a photograph of the class to T. G. Leary, principal of the school.

Honor Students

An oddity occurred in the selection of the valedictorian and salutatorian. Two girls, Mary Sue Dail and Joan Pauline Mason, were tied for high honors with an average of 95 9/16. Patricia Webb was close behind with 95 7/16.

There were a number of other awards presented at the exercises. These included student council, Tom Eure: home economics, Margaret Fodrie; school band, Otis Jefferson; scholarship, Elizabeth Willis, Elizabeth Bell, and Sarah Guthrie; activities, Pat Webb and Jim Piner; athletics, Peggy Guthrie and Charles Stuart; best all-around, Joyce Biggs and Tom Eure; and glee club, Neva Bell and Guy Smith.

Boat

Now the Captain James is at Morehead City yacht basin where she will be rigged and outfitted. There, the mast, made at the Evans street boat yard, will be installed.

Although a depth of only 8 feet was in the sound needed to take the boat, Lewellyn Phillips, one of the three brothers who was in charge of construction, reported that small fishing boats kicked out the bottom, making a depth of 10 feet.

Construction on the Captain James began in March, 1947. Now the sister craft, Mattie Hyles Phillips, which is also being built at the Evans street boat yard, will be completed.

WC Art Courses Begin At Beaufort

Special summer courses in the field of art are already underway at Beaufort under the direction of Prof. Gregory D. Ivy, head of the department of art, Woman's college, University of North Carolina, and Prof. John E. Courtney, assistant professor of art at the same school.

When the two gentlemen were sighted by a News-Times reporter, they were holding session under the shade trees situated on the court house lawn. Professor Ivy said that they were searching for a permanent place in Beaufort to teach, but in the meantime the cool atmosphere of the court house lawn more than served the purpose.

Professor Ivy is holding classes in advanced painting. "We will use Beaufort landscape, Beaufort people, waterfront scenes," he replied when queried as to subject matter. "I will teach also post-impressionism, cubism, and other recent trends."

Professor Ivy thought "it is interesting to note" that the last time he taught in Beaufort, two years ago, Cynthia Cox sketched the very trees under which he was holding class and won first prize at state fair. Another won honorable mention.

Professor Courtney will teach beginners in water colors. He will give instruction in "ways of handling media, wet and dry brush, line, mixing colors" and similar subjects to those who have never been given the fundamentals in art. Advanced pupils will pass from his class to Professor Ivy's.

At Woman's college Professor Courtney teaches beginning painting, lithography, and beginning design.

Both men started their class on Wednesday of this week. Professor Courtney will teach through June 22 and Professor Ivy through June 29. Classes of this sort first started in Beaufort 10 years ago.

Boards to Meet

Official boards meeting Monday, June 7, will be county commissioners at 10 o'clock in the morning in the auditor's office, court house, the board of education at 1:30 in the afternoon in the superintendent of school's office, court house annex, and Beaufort town commissioners at 7:30 Monday night in the town hall.
