Fishermen Take to the Air

J. W. Best, right, retired mail-carrier of Winston-Salem, N. C., took to the air with Troy Newsome, left, to get to the sea for a bit of surf-casting.

The result was the 25-pound channel bass Mr. Best is holding and the 18-pound channel bass reclining at Pilot Newsome's shoulder on the plane's struts.

These beauties were exploring the shores of Ocracoke when they got hooked. Mr. Newsome, affiliated with Herman Reid at Ocean View airways, Beaufort, soon after his trip to Ocracoke with Mr. Best, left here to take a position as copilot with Capital Airlines, Washington, D. C.

Since he has been with the airline he has been on flights to Detroit and Chicago. His family is living in Morehead City.

Baptist State Convention To Operate Two Assemblies, Fruitland, Seaside

RALEIGH — The Baptist State convention will operate two assemblies for the full summer season in 1948. The Fruitland Baptist assembly will be in the second year of operation, opening Monday. The Seaside Assembly opened for the first time Monday, May 31. Fruitland Baptist assembly occupies the grounds of the old Fruitland institute. The old buildings have been completely remodeled and enlarged and six additional buildings have been erected. Space is available for a total attendance of 400 people per week. The assembly is located high on a plateau in the village of Fruitland, one mile west of U. S. Highway 64 between Hendersonville and Bat Cave.

Seaside Baptist assembly is located 20 miles east of Wilmington, just beyond Carolina Beach. The entrance is from U. S. Highway 421 near the entrance to historic Fort Fisher. The Seaside assembly occupies the grounds formerly used as a United States Army hospital. The old buildings have been renovated and new ones constructed. The assembly will be able to care for an attendance of 1,000 per week.

Each of the assemblies will provide programs for each of the weeks during the summer. M. A. Huggins, general secretary of the convention, pointed out today that it is the hope of the convention to provide facilities for leadership training and for spiritual growth in the membership of the Baptist churches along with the opportunities for wholesome vacations both in the mountains and on the beach.

The assemblies will provide varied programs directed to meet the needs of leadership training in all departments of church activities. Facilities have been arranged to provide the conferences with the finest leaders in the country.

The Fruitland Assembly will open June 7 with the North Carolina Training Union conference, directed by Harvey Gibson, training union secretary of the Baptist State convention. The following week will be designated "Brotherhood Week" and is designed to appeal to the laymen of the churches. Horace Eason, brotherhood secretary for the Baptist State convention, will be in charge of activities. The next two weeks will be given to programs designed for junior and intermediate royal ambassadors respectively.

Seaside assembly began the summer season May 31 with the North Carolina Sunday School conference and the North Carolina Baptist Student Union retreat meeting at the same time.

The annual Pastor's Conference for the eastern half of the state will be held at Seaside during the coming week. This will be followed by the "Bible Teaching Week" and a "Visual Aids Workshop" meeting jointly June 14 to 20. The Bible teaching week will be directed by Dr. Sankey L. Blanton, and the visual aids workshop by Fon H. Scofield, both of Wake Forest. Programs for the last two weeks of June at Seaside are designated as the "North Carolina Missionary Society Camp" and the "Brotherhood Conference."

VA Executives Explains New GI On-Farm Training

The new law increasing subsistence allowances for veterans taking institutional on-farm training under the G.I. Bill will benefit only veterans training on their own farms in most cases. J. D. DeRamus, manager of the Veterans Administration's Winston-Salem Regional office, declared today.

A trainee must take a minimum of 300 hours of related instruction a year to qualify for the raise, Mr. DeRamus explained. This is required of veterans training on their own farms but the minimum for employee-trainees is 250 hours, he asserted. Thus employee-trainees do not qualify for the increase unless they are taking at least 50 hours a year more instruction than required.

On-farm trainees without dependents will be raised from $65 to $67.50 a month if they are eligible for the increase provided by Public Law 512. These with one dependent will be boosted from $90 to $93.75, while those with more than one dependent will be hiked to $97.50.

Prior to April 1, subsistence allowances were fixed at $65 a month for veterans without dependents regardless of whether they were attending school or training on the job. For those with dependents, the rate was $90. Effective April 1, allowances were boosted as follows for those attending school full time: veterans without dependents, $75; with one dependent, $105; with two or more dependents, $120. Rates remained the same for on-the-job trainees.

The higher rate applies where a trainee is taking as much as 300 hours of related instruction a year, but he is entitled to only one-fourth of his subsistence allowance at these figures since his instruction consumes only a quarter of his time. He is paid at the on-the-job rate for the other three-quarters of his time when he is actually working. This explains why he gets only a quarter as much increase as a veteran attending school full time.

No subsistence is granted a veteran going to school less than a fourth of the regular time. For that reason, ex-servicemen taking less than 300 hours of related instruction receive no part of their subsistence allowance at the increased rate. Their allowance remains the same as if they were on-job trainees.

Russians Return Prisoners Of War to German Territory

KUTNO, Poland—(AP)—Soviet Russia is sending thousands of prisoners of war back to Germany. Railway freight cars, loaded with German soldiers in dirty, tattered green uniforms, are almost daily being transported through this railroad center, halfway between Warsaw and Poznan.

Railway employees estimated as many as 2,000 prisoners comprise each transport. The Germans are being taken to the Soviet zone in Germany.

N. C. Milk Demand Requires Imports

for milk in North Carolina during 1947 "made it necessary to import 63,880,651 pounds, much of which could have been produced on Tar Heel farms if everyone fully appreciated the physical and economic value of milk," Ralph H. Scott, "June Dairy Month" State Chairman of Burlington and Raleigh, declared today.

"Figures from the State Agriculture Department," Scott said, "revealed that North Carolina cows produced 1,592,000,000 pounds of milk last year. At a quick glance that looks like a lot of milk, but, to satisfy the demand throughout the state, we still had to import from other states almost 64 million pounds of milk."

"June is Dairy Month" is a slogan that reminds us all of the need for production and consumption of more milk, Scott said. There is no better body builder than milk—and milk products.

Delayed Enemy Action Causes Fishermen Trouble

RAMSGATE, England—(AP)—Delayed enemy action is costing Ramsgate trawlermen a big slice of the profits from the big catches they are landing this year. Recent trawl damaging catches include a 250 pound bomb head, a phosphorus bomb, smoke canisters and aircraft wreckage.

"The waters in which my trawlers fish regularly are always providing unpleasant surprises for trawlermen," complains one fleet owner. "A lost trawl means a $200 outlay."

fasts, he added, will be held throughout North Carolina this week and during the month demonstrations and talks on the vital need for added consumption and production of milk will be presented before various community organizations.
