Fisherman Keeps Rivals Out By Appeal to Appetite

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (AP)—Fisherman Michael Infalt has a favorite hole in a Michigan lake and he doesn't like too much company when he is working it. Infalt has no monopoly on the hole but he has a system that serves the same purpose.

He goes to his favorite spot about dawn and usually finds a shoal of other boats anchored at the hole. Then he sets up a gasoline burner on the boat seat and fries bacon and eggs. Other fishermen inhale the aroma, get so hungry they can't stand it, and pull back to shore for breakfast.

There's a Right Way to Wash!

By Ruth Current
State Home Demonstration Agent

There are right and wrong ways of doing even such a simple household job as putting clothes through the wringer of the washing machine, say home economists. Careless wringing can damage both clothes and machine.

Rules for Wringing: Fold clothes smoothly so that the thickness is evenly distributed across the roll. Don't run clothes through in a lump—it is hard on both clothes and wringer.

Let the machine wring at its own pace. Never try to rush the job by pulling or forcing pieces through.

Large buttons or buckles should not go through the wringer. They are likely to break, bend, tear off or damage the rubber on the rolls. Fold small buttons or other fastenings under a layer of the fabric before wringing so that they do not come in direct contact with the rolls.

Otherwise, they may scrape the rubber or be torn off. Belts, sashes or other small strips of clothing also should be folded under so that they do not catch in the rolls.

Sometimes small articles like handkerchiefs stick to one roll and are turned over and over. To avoid this, fold them inside a towel or other large piece before wringing. As soon as the laundry is finished, release the pressure on the wringer so that the rolls separate. If they are left pressed together, flat places form on the rolls which make for incomplete wringing.

Wipe rolls dry before leaving the machine, or wash and dry them if they are stained by colored clothes. Improvised light for closets: The provision of flashlight hung just inside the door in an unlighted clothes closet will discourage the use of matches when hunting for a lost glove, overshoe, or cap.

Dr. and Mrs. Ceserie Taylor last week.

Jean Carole Taylor is visiting in Raleigh this week.

The W. S. C. S. will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon at 3 p. m. for their study course on "Great Prayer of the Bible".

HERE AND THERE

Judging from the new oath suits which have appeared at Atlantic Beach so far this year, we are of the opinion that in one place where no woman ever complains she has hardly anything to wear.

An appeal will soon be made to the people of the county for contributions to this state's quota of $400,000 toward the national "Crusade for Children" goal of $60,000,000. The sum asked from the county destitute older persons in Europe and other countries blasted by war.

Berry picking on the blueberry farm west of Beaufort reached its height the past week. In spite of the dry weather, the management states that the crop has been very good with a ready market. The berries are put up under the brand of Tru-Blu Berries consisting of two varieties, the Harvest Moon and the Green Leaf. The output is handled by the Blueberry Co-operative Association, of New Lisbon, N. J.

We could not help but admire the seamanship of the men on the two boats which towed the new boat built by the Phillips Fisheries through the draw late Tuesday afternoon. One boat towing and the other acting as a rudder put the new craft through the narrow draw without any side scraping. The boat was towed to the shipyard of the Morehead City Yacht Basin for installment of equipment.

A small pleasure craft built a few years ago for George R. Wallace and later owned by Rev. Bridgers was shipped out from here last week by motor truck to parties in Chattanooga, Tenn., who had purchased the craft. The boat had been overhauled and painted before being shipped out.

Starting last Sunday the A. & E. C. railroad inaugurated a weekend passenger service from Goldsboro to this city and will continue same until after Labor Day.
