New Building Will Replace-Prison Cages at Newport

Construction of the main prisoners' quarters at Newport prison camp has been under way since the beginning of May. Brick walls have risen about four feet and W. R. Skinner, camp superintendent claims it will be one of the bestlooking camps in the state when construction is completed.

Mr. Skinner, who lives at New-port, came here in 1942 from Greene county where he was steward at Maury camp. As a camp for white prisoners, things weren't running as smoothly as they should have been here, and at Mr. Skinner's suggestion it was changed to a colored camp May 17, 1942. Building to House 100

When the new building is completed, prisoners will no longer live in "cages," separate snack like located are Newport, little Wash

In the Guard Tower

Jesse Graham, guard, sits with gun in hand at one of the towers at the corner of the wire enclosure in which the prisoners live. Mr. Graham was guard of the road gang in which James Earl White, 21-year-old Negro, was working May 17 when he drowned in 10 feet of water along the causeway between the Atlantic Beach bridge and the beach. It is believed White may have been trying to escape, but prison authorities say they have no evidence to that effect.

At present there are no build ings on the tract, but Dr. Cummings explains that at least one prefabricated storage - andn - of fice building will be put up soon While located in a predominantly vegetable region, the new research center will place about equal stress on fruits and vegetables. Most of the fruit investigations will be carried on ninn established orchards about 15 to 20 miles away from the headquarters. A committee of Experiment Station specialists from Raleigh, head-ed by W. W. Woodhouse, associate professor of agronomy, has been in J15 Hendersonville several times this spring to select the site, arrange the lease and begin operations. A local committee recruited by County Agent D. W. Bennett aided in locating available sites.

C. E. Lewis, who graduated from State College in March with a de-gree in horticulture, has been named supervisor of the farm, Mr. Lewis is a nantive of the vegetable area north of Wilmington.

Foremost amonng the problems to be investigated immediately is that of finding varieties adapted to the Henderson region. Although some small fruit and vegetable breedingn work will be Jone at the farm, workers will concentrate on testing out new varieties already

It was different in 1939 when North Carolina's tobacco markets crumbled. The situation was desperate . . . tobacco prices broke below 11 cents . . . it was like the midwest in drought time. The farmers of this State sought to keep the markets closed until an adequate marketing system could be worked out.

At the request of the Federal government, the then Commissioner of Agriculture, now Candidate Kerr Scott -the so-called friend of the tobacco farmers-hurried to Washington for a conference.

. Let us quote from the reliable TIME Magazine (October 9, 1939, Page 9):

"North Carolina's big handsome Commissioner of Agriculture William Kerr Scott, suggested sadistically that the markets ought to be reopened, the farmers left to squirm."

Kerr Scott wasn't running for Governor then!
