The meeting was called to order by the president. The members then sang "The Old North State," followed with the reading of the club collect. Mrs. Mabel Rountree, acting in the absence of the recording secretary, Mrs. Lida Jenkins, read the minutes of the last meeting.

The president then introduced J. B. Lamm, who sang "Because" accompanied by Mrs. Clarisse Anderson at the piano.

Miss Mary Lou Wilkins was the speaker of the evening. Her talk was an interesting and detailed report of the State Federation Club meeting held at Hendersonville last week. Miss Wilkins gave a lovely description of the surrounding countryside at Hendersonville, the functions held during the week and highlights of the speeches, contests and entertainments.

Mr. Lamm then sang another selection, "My Task," which was greatly enjoyed.

Amid candlelight and summer flowers, Mrs. Sarah Bledsoe installed the officers of the club for the coming year. They are Miss Susie Moore, president, Mrs. Frank Russell, vice-president, Mrs. Don Jenkins, recording secretary, Mrs. Mabel Rountree, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. James Tuttle, treasurer.

The president, Miss Moore, asked each of the heads of the departments to give a brief resume of the work accomplished by her department during the year and then made a short speech praising the members for good work during the year and expressing a desire to have a better club in the next year.

The hostess committee, Mrs. Ervin Lutz, chairman, served delicious punch, cookies, and salted nuts.

Chief Wanchese Plays Again in Lost Colony

MANTEO, N. C. — Illinois-born Don Mason comes back to The Lost Colony to play the unfriendly Indian, Chief Wanchese, for the seventh season. He is shown here made up for the role wearing the war dress and paint of the tribe that may have annihilated the colonists sent to America by Sir Walter Raleigh during the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

Don Mason is a graduate of the University of North Carolina. He has had roles in many folk and New York plays and during World War II served overseas with the 162nd Infantry in the Pacific. In The Lost Colony drama, opening for its eighth season here on Roanoke Island July 1, Mason is leader of the band of Indians which presents a thrilling battle scene, a sequence of the show that is particularly interesting to children.

Cost Of Writing, Painting Increases With Rest Of Inflationary Living Cost

By Jane Eads
WASHINGTON — The cost of creating has increased along with the cost of living. Anyone who has written a book, composed a ditty, sculpted a bust, written a play, painted a portrait, founded a magazine, prepared an address, plotted a map, snapped a photograph or made a movie will have to pay more to have them copyrighted from now on. Congress has just passed legislation upping the price of fees payable to the Register of Copyrights of the United States. Registration with certification for all published and unpublished works will cost $4. Renewals of copyrights will continue to cost $2. Until the legislation went into effect published works were $2 and unpublished works $1.

Congressman Johnson (R-Ind.) who proposed the changes, says the fees are very small compared with the advantages secured. "Four dollars for a monopoly on a work for 28 years, which is what a copyright ensures, is small in a market which has become the largest in the world for literary and artistic products," he says.

Sam Bass Warner, register of copyrights, a former professor of criminal law at Harvard University, says the number of copyright registrations increased from 154,424 in 1936 to 230,000 last year. "This great increase," he says, "is due primarily to a marked growth in the number of musical compositions and periodicals, the two classes which together account for more than half of all registrations."

"Musical compositions have increased 100 percent to 63,367, a figure eight times as large as the number of books. This expansion is presumably an outgrowth of the development of the radio."

Mr. Warner says the most important decrease is in the number of registrations of books. He believes this is due to the war.

Copyrighting started with the Statute of Anne in England in 1710 — to prevent literary piracy. Copy-righting started in this country with Noah Webster, who was miffed by the way folks everywhere copied his spelling. He traveled about in his horse and buggy getting legislatures to pass statutes protecting his speller. This legislation was later adopted as the Copyright Act.

Pfc. Dan Chadwick Finishes Training In Radiosonde

Pfc. Dan M. Chadwick, son of Mrs. Irene Chadwick, of Portsmouth, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Simpson, of North River, had the honor of being among the first group of enlisted Oathmen to graduate recently from the newly-established Sixth Weather Radiosonde Operators school at Albrook Air Force base, Canal Zone.

Faced with an imminent shortage of trained and experienced radiosonde operators due to the lack of technical schools in the United States for training of replacements, the Sixth Weather Squadron undertook the task of establishing its own school.

Private Chadwick was one of the four enlisted men chosen from the 10 newly arrived personnel from this country who began the five-week course May 5.

Graduates are being assigned to weather stations maintained in Managua, Nicaragua, and Barranquilla, Colombia.

Private Chadwick enlisted in the air force Sept. 7, 1947 at Langley Air Force base, Va. Prior to his departure for overseas duty he was stationed at Tinker air force base, Oklahoma, and Lackland air force base, Texas. Since his arrival in the Panama Canal Zone April 19, 1948, he has been with the Sixth Weather squadron.
