Miss Betsy Stallings Becomes Bride of Benjamin Styron Wade

A marriage of unusual charm and simplicity was solemnized Friday evening at the First Methodist Church here when Miss Betsy Bell Stallings became the bride of Benjamin Styron Wade with the Rev. B. B. Slaughter of New Bern and Rev. L. A. Tilley, pastor of the First Methodist Church assisting. In the plighting of their troth the double ring ceremony was used.

The church with the subdued lights in the choir loft and many burning tapers made a scene of real beauty. For decoration long leaf pine, southern smilax and baskets of white gladioli were used. The altar and the background were in white with smilax intertwined around the altar rail which held at intervals single lighted tapers. Nine, seven and three branch candelabra were used in the background and on either side of the altar while tall floor baskets of white gladioli were placed within the altar and against a background of pine just outside and in front of the tall white columns of the church.

The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Clyde Stallings, who gave her in marriage. She wore a wedding gown of white slipper satin designed along princess lines with draped belt ending in long points over the court train; her veil was of imported French illusion with a wreath of white gardenias and valley lilies. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses, gardenias and Bristol Fairy, in cascade effect with ribbon shower. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, gift of the groom.

Mrs. Jack Lazenby, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was floor length bouffant style white marquisette with an off-shoulder ruffled effect and wide ruffles completing the skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses and gypsophelia tied with red satin streamers. Her hair arrangement was of red roses and white tulle. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Clifton Guthrie and Mrs. William Perrigo. They wore identical gowns as the matron of honor with similar bouquets and hair decorations. The little flower girls, Ann Ward Williams and Dotty Chalk, were similarly dressed in floor length white marquisette with miniature bouquets of rosebuds and tulle and tiny red rosebuds in their hair.

Mrs. Stallings, mother of the bride, wore an aqua crepe gown with a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Wade, mother of the groom, was dressed in a becoming gown of black while her corsage was of white roses. Mrs. J. C. B. Morton, grandmother of the bride, also chose a gown of black with a corsage of white roses.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bertha Stallings and the late I. C. Stallings. She graduated from the which was topped with the traditional bride and groom. Ivy and candles in crystal candle holders were used to decorate the table. Mrs. O. K. Garner, aunt of the bride, served the cake after the first slice had been cut by the bridal couple. Mrs. George Kline, of Pottstown, Pa., presided at the punch bowl and assisted in serving the other refreshments of nuts and mints.

Out of town guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Garner, of New Bern, Mrs. George C. Kline, of Pottstown, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Garner, of Newport.

HEAD START... A little tyke will learn correct hair brushing technique if she is rewarded for her effort. A jewel colored brush is fascinating and gay.

cleanse and massage the scalp. The brush should be placed on its side against the scalp at the neckline and turned with a twist of the wrist so that all the bristles roll on the scalp.

Explain to your youngster that the bristles should touch the scalp so as to loosen dry skin particles and stimulate surface circulation. She should brush to the very tips of her hair—to remove dust, dry skin particles and excess oil.

A good brush will give daughter the best cooperation. You can choose a sparkling jewel colored one, but make sure it has long resilient bristles. These should be set at least half-way around the brush to give double-brushing with every stroke.

You might go so far as to show her how to put her hair up in ringlets. This can be made more attractive for her, and the performance seem less of a chore, if you supply her with some colorful rag curlers. Save bright red, green, blue and yellow strips of material which can be used for this purpose.

You will notice that as daughter becomes more conscious of her hair, she also will become interested in how she wears it. The simple hairdo always it best for a little girl. If she wears pigtails, however, during the winter months, find a becoming arrangement that will be cooler for summer. You can do this by cutting her hair a little shorter so that the braids fall just a bit below her shoulders. Or you may wind them around her head and fasten them with a bow on top.

It may be troublesome at first to cope with daughter's attempts to arrange her own hair. But when she has learned, mother can rest on her laurels.
