

Capt. Gib Willis Defeats Challenger

Captain Gib Willis, of Morehead City, extended his sail skiff domination to Core Sound Sunday afternoon when his challenger, Captain Earl Bertram, of Marshallberg, failed to finish in a nine-mile windward-leeward duel held on the sound.

Captain Willis is now sail skiff champion of both Bogue and Core Sounds.

Sailing in a "sou'west storm," "Miss Alma," Gib's 20-foot sprit sail, crossed the finish line completing the windward leg in one hour 18 minutes and 50 seconds. The start and finish line was fixed in front of Mr. James Harker's lodge on Harkers Island.

Captain Bertram was disabled approaching the leeward mark and retired to Marshallberg. He trailed Captain Gib by some 50 seconds at the time, after having a 30-second advantage at the start.

Sailing with Willis as crew on "Miss Alma," were Joe Bailey and Eb Fulcher, both of Morehead, and Jim Harker, Jr., of Harkers Island.

Beg Pardon

The name of Captain Earl Bertram of Marshallberg was erroneously published as "Captain Tom Lewis" in a story in last Friday's NEWS-TIMES announcing Captain Bertram's challenge sail boat race with Gib Willis. THE NEWS-TIMES regrets the error.

Morehead City Sweeps Twin Fare From Havelock Team

Morehead City took both ends of its doubleheader with Havelock over the weekend, winning Saturday's game, 5-1, and taking Sunday's encounter, 10-0. Both games were played in Morehead City, although Havelock took its turn at bat as the home team in Sunday's whitewashing.

Jimmy Webb, who pitched Saturday's win, just missed chalking up a shutout by virtue of three Morehead errors in the eighth inning. Webb allowed but six hits and fanned 12 batters in the process of winning. Harry Salter did the catching.

Fred Taylor did the hurling for Havelock and Chuck Kohlbecker called the signals.

Morehead opened the scoring with one in the initial frame. Francis Stoy doubled over the short rightfield wall and took third on an infield out. Jack Gardner's fly to left brought in Stoy with the run.

The game remained on close terms until Morehead broke out with four tallies in the last of the seventh.

Piggy Smith singled and took second on an infield out. Stoy smacked another ground rule two-bagger over the fence and took third on consecutive free passes to Wayne Benton and Gardner. Joe Hill promptly singled in two runs and moved Gardner to third. Hill then stole second, and when Kohlbecker's throw was wild, Gardner scored.

Errors were responsible for the lone Havelock run in the eighth session. Anderson singled and was forced at second by Kohlbecker. Third baseman Smith threw wide on Joe Pyzgodzinski's roller, pulling Brinson off the bag at first, and when Kohlbecker attempted to take third, Brinson tossed back to Smith but Piggy dropped the ball as he made the tag, making it a double error for Smith.

Pyzgodzinski then stole second, and after Salter made his peg to shortstop Footsy Palmer, Kohlbecker broke for home. Palmer returned the ball to the plate, but not only was it late, but wild for an error.

Clifton Sharpe turned in a beauty of a pitching performance in Sunday's contest. The Morehead lefty allowed but three meaningless singles, the last of these coming in the third inning, after which Sharpe hurled six and one third innings of no-hit ball.

Sharpe struck out 12 batsmen and walked five, which is good control for a pitcher who is usually troubled by wildness.

Morehead started things off with two in the first and two more in the second. In the first, Stoy walked and stole second. After taking third on an infield out, Stoy came in on Gardner's double, and Gardner himself tallied on a single by Palmer.

In the second, Smith and Salter came through with consecutive base knocks, to put men on first and second. Sharpe then sacrificed both men along. Smith tallied on an infield out and Salter came in when Benton singled.

There was no further scoring until Morehead cashed in five in the sixth stanza. With two out, Sharpe singled and Stoy got a life via shortstop Sonny Russell's miscue. Benton singled in Sharpe, and Benton took second on the throw-in to the plate, putting men on second and third.

Gardner then received a deliberate base on balls to load the sacks, setting the stage for Hill, who promptly unloaded them with a base-clearing two-bagger to center.

Jack Gaskins then came in to relieve starter Odell Morton for Havelock. Palmer greeted Gaskins with a double to left center to score Hill.

Morehead's final run came in the ninth on a double by Hill, a single by Palmer, and a forceout scoring Hill.

Army Alters Age Limit for Reserves

RALEIGH — A change in the age in grade restrictions for reserve officers who desire a recall to extended active duty has been announced by the Department of the Army, according to Col. Norman McNeill, senior instructor of the Organized Reserve corps in North Carolina.

The change in grade has been raised to 50 years for captains and lieutenants and to 60 years for colonels, lieutenant colonels and majors.

Present categories for which reserve officers may volunteer for extended active duty are for one, two and three year periods.

Any officer in company grade (captain or lieutenant) who is in his 46th year or younger may apply for three years duty; if in his 47th year, he may apply for the two year period, and any officer now in his 48th year may apply for a one year tour. Col. McNeill

Officers drawing a pension, disability allowances, or disability compensation from the government are eligible to apply for extended active duty, provided they waive or relinquish rights to such payments during the tour of active duty.

Age in grade restrictions do not apply to chaplains, medical officers, and officers of the Women's Army corps. For these, the maximum age in all grades is 60 years.

There is a present need for several thousand officers to meet the current overall requirements of the Department of the Army, Col. McNeill stated.

Newport Defeats, Ties Beaufort Nine, 4-1, 10-10

Newport defeated Beaufort, Saturday at Newport by a 4-1 score, and the two teams, meeting again Sunday at Beaufort, came to a standstill, 10-10, at the end of nine innings of a game ended by the 6 p.m. Sunday curfew.

In Saturday's contest, Mears pitched for Newport and allowed five safeties. DiChiara was his receiver. Johnson pitched for Beaufort and Butler was his target.

DiChiara and Lockey led the Newport attack with two hits apiece. Hooper, with 2-for-4, sparked the Beaufort offense.

Aycock started for Newport Sunday, but had to be relieved by Elbert Garner in the third frame and Hill in the ninth. DiChiara caught this one also. Gravit, relieved by Allen in the third, did Beaufort's hurling. Butler caught Newport broke the scoring ice with a run in the first inning. June Haskett reached first on the shortstop's error and took second on an infield out. A single by Wallace Hill brought in Haskett.

Beaufort scored two in the second. Boyd took first an error by the Newport shortstop and took second on Benton's single. An error by the third baseman allowed Boyd to tally and Benton to take third, from whence he scored later on Hooper's fly to left.

Five runs came in to count for Newport in the third. Lockey singled and Hill banged out a home run. A single by Olkowski, two errors, and a triple by DiChiara accounted for the other three markers in the inning.

Beaufort, however, kept plugging away with two more in the latter half of the same inning to make the score 6-4. Base hits by Butler and Benton, sandwiching a walk to Boyd and followed by a double by Verbanne, were responsible for this two-run outburst.

There was no further scoring until Beaufort came within a run of Newport by talking a lone marker in the sixth. This was done on Allen's double, an infield out, and a single by Ray Hassell.

Newport made it 9-5 with three in the next frame. June Haskett opened the fireworks by homering into rightfield. A single by Hill and another homer by Olkowski gave Newport a seemingly comfortable lead.

Newport concluded its scoring by adding another in the eighth. Neil Garner singled and took second on a wild pitch. A base knock by Elbert Garner brought in the runner.

Trailing by five runs, Beaufort closed up the gap by scoring four in bottom half of the same stanza. Base hits by Allen, Hester, Butler, Boyd, and pinch-hitter Collier Hill did the trick in this big inning.

Beaufort managed to score one run in the last of the ninth to knot the score. Hooper reached first on an error and was sacrificed to second by Ricks. After Hooper took third on a wild pitch, a pinch-hit single by Charlie Hassell brought in the runner with the tying run to the wild ecstasy of the cheering fans.

After the inning was ended, however, the game had to be called because of the 6 p.m. Sunday baseball ruling.

Voice From the Air Will Plug Dog Races

A voice from the air will be used soon to advertise the dog races, Paul Cleland, general manager of the track, has announced.

L. M. Slaughter, Ocean View Airways pilot, will fly over Eastern Carolina towns, plugging the races via loudspeaker. "Attendance at the track has been far above expectations, today," said Cleland.
