Taylor Caldwell Tells Story Of Upjohn Family

By W. G. Rogers
MELISSA, by Taylor Caldwell (Scribner's, $3)

Written in Miss Caldwell's usual feverish, hopped-up style, this is the story of the Upjohn family, father Charles who is a selfish scholar and pedant, his wife Amanda, daughter Phoebe and son Andrew whom he does not fool and daughter Melissa, whom he does.

The book opens with Charles funeral, and it is followed soon by Amanda's death. Melissa determines to carry the torch for the old man, driving her brother to Harvard though he prefers to stay on the farm and making her sister write though Phoebe wants to marry. Left practically penniless, Melissa decides to marry Geoffrey Dunham, her father's publisher, for the sake of his money, but Geoffrey of course has a malicious sister who plots to continue to rule the roost.

There are such incredible extremes in Geoffrey's godlike patience, his sister's devilish vengeance, Melissa's sublime innocence, that they seem to me, not characters, but just plain fools, and I find it all very hard to take. But Miss Caldwell's books have so many admirers they can get along easily without me.

Among the invaders of Palestine have been Canaanites, Egyptians, Hittites, Babylonians, Philistines, Israelites, Scythians, Persians, Greeks, Romans, Byzantines, Arabs, Crusaders, and British.

It's Lime Time

By Cecily Brownstone Associated Press Food Editor

Once upon a time we had to depend on the Indies for our imports of cool-tasting, refreshing limes but now they're just as versatile. Here are some tried-and-true lime recipes.

Florida Limeade
1 1/2 cups lime juice
1/2 cup sugar
3 cups water
1 lime, sliced thinly

Crushed ice or ice cubes. Put lime juice and sugar in a large pitcher; stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Add water and stir well. Fill 6 tall glasses one-half full of crushed ice or ice cubes and put a lime slice in each. Arrange pitcher of lime juice mixture, along with glasses, on tray. To serve pour lime juice mixture over ice and lime slices in glasses. If desired a plate of extra lime wedges, cherries and mint leaves may be served with the drink.

Lime Chiffon Pie
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
4 eggs, separated
2 teaspoons grated lime rind
1/2 cup lime juice
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
One 9-inch baked pastry or cookie shell

Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine slightly beaten egg yolks with lime rind and juice, one-half cup of the sugar and salt; cook in top of double boiler about 10 minutes or until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. If desired, tint pale green with food coloring. Allow mixture to cool until almost firm. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry; add remaining one-half cup sugar slowly, beating after each addition. Beat gelatin, then fold into beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Turn into pastry or cookie shell and chill until firm.

Lime Meringuettes
3 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add cream of tartar and salt; beat until stiff but not dry. Add three-quarter cup of the sugar gradually, beating until very stiff. Cover baking sheet with heavy brown paper. Pipe meringue into 6 rounds about 3 inches in diameter. Make a 2-inch depression in the center. Bake in a very slow (275F) oven for 1 hour. For the filling, beat the egg yolks; add remaining one-quarter cup sugar and the lime juice. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened. Add grated lime rind. Remove from heat; chill. Fold into whipped cream. Fill meringue shells. Chill 6 to 12 hours in the refrigerator. Makes 6 servings.

President Has Speeches Translated for People

MANILA — (AP) — This is the country where the President, Elpidio Quirino, makes his speeches in English and has to have them translated into the local dialects, unless he is in his native northern Luzon.

Luis Taruc, leader of the Hukbalahap peasant army and a congressman, makes his most effective speeches in his native Tagalog, the language of central Luzon. But he writes his speech outlines in English. This, he says, is because he thinks better in English, having been educated in that language.

Women on the island of Cheju off the coast of Korea traditionally earn the family living by diving for shells and other sea products while the men often tend the children and prepare the meals.
