October 16th is OIL Progress Day
On this day, we again dedicate ourselves to the task of supplying you with more and better oil products.

Being on the job for you is our most important job...

As consumers, we've had big jobs to do in the past, but last winter topped them all. You and your neighbors asked for more oil products than ever before—and we were kept mighty busy trying to keep you supplied. We weren't the only company, either...

In all, over 34,000 individual oil companies of all sizes worked night and day to see that the oil produced—the most oil ever produced—got through to you wherever you lived. Fuels and lubricants for your cars and trucks... fuel oil to heat your homes and schools... gasoline and oil for your farm machinery—all were delivered in record-breaking quantities. Almost 250 million gallons of oil products each and every day!

This year we expect to deliver even more oil products to you. Be sure to use them efficiently. Oil is energy for America. Oil means more comfort, better living, greater convenience for you.
