Mrs. D. V. Clayton Honored At Tea In Williamston

Mrs. Daryl Vincent Clayton, the former Miss Eleanor Rhodes of Newport, was honored at a lovely candlelight tea in the Woman's Club of Williamston from 4 to 6 o'clock on Wednesday. The tea was given by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Daryl Clayton, Sr.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Robert Coburn who introduced them to the receiving line composed of Mrs. D. V. Clayton, Sr., the honoree, Mrs. Clayton Sledge of Weldon, Miss Eileen Taylor, bride-elect, and Mrs. Ruth Bonduant. Mrs. W. O. Abbott directed the guests to the dining table.

The club room was decorated throughout with ivy, baskets of chrysanthemums and cathedral candelabra with burning tapers. The piano top was banked with vari-colored mums, magnolia leaves and held lighted candles. The dining table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a massive arrangement of chrysanthemums and white cut flowers. Flanked on either side of three branched candelabra with lighted tapers held miniature nosegays of white mums with white satin streamers cascading to the base. Fern, ivy, and white cut flowers were delicately arranged on the table encircling the centerpiece and punch bowl.

Mrs. Miller Harrell and Mrs. J. L. Parker, Jr., served iced cakes, nuts and mints and Mrs. Walter Martin presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. W. C. Manning and Mrs. Nell Ward provided music during the tea hours.
