Shopping, this time of the year, bestirs the thoughts towards gifts that will bring about the rapture and ecstasies that belong to joy.

And joy is the general idea for living. There be many directives to that place of pleasure. But! can anyone cite one to excell, a token gift, that fills a youngster's hungering yearn and the beam that is the giver's? Last week the school lunch received fifteen dollars from one who attached to the gift-only that his name be withheld. Our thanks to you, —Silent Giver.
