

B&PW Club Hears Talk on 'Hidden Payrolls' Tuesday

Dan Walker, manager of the Beaufort chamber of commerce, spoke to members of the Carteret Business and Professional Women's club Tuesday night on "Hidden Payrolls."

Walker, who was introduced by Mrs. Grace Ayscue, program chairman, spoke in conjunction with the club project of locating persons in the county who are eligible for social security benefits.

The Carteret Business and Professional Women's club will make an effort to locate persons who may have benefits due them, by getting statistics from death records in the court house.

The project was undertaken by the club at the request of the Beaufort chamber of commerce. N. A. Aver, manager of the social security office, informed the chamber of commerce that thousands of dollars are lying in social security coffers which should be going to the people — or their survivors — who paid that money to the government under the social security program.

The talk by the manager of the chamber of commerce followed dinner.

During the business session Mrs. George Henderson, chairman of the B&PW cancer committee, reported that the county medical society has appointed a committee to investigate the possibilities of setting up a cancer detection clinic in the county.

Mrs. Julia Tenney was named chairman of the committee to sponsor an essay contest for junior and senior girls in high school on "My Chosen Career." Other committee members are Mrs. E. H. Lillestrand, Mrs. Florence Beam, and Mrs. Roma Noe.

The following members indicated their intention to attend the district meeting at Warsaw Sunday, April 8: Mrs. Rose Merrill, Miss Catherine Gaskill, Mrs. Grace Ayscue, Mrs. Ladigole Lindsay, Mrs. Violet Howard, Mrs. Roma Noe, and Miss Ruth Peeling.

Jaycee Groups Hear Officials

Harry Stewart, Raleigh, national Jaycee director, and Jimmy Rowe, 8th district Jaycee vice-president, spoke Monday night to Beaufort and Morehead City Jaycees at a meeting in the Hotel Fort Macon. Stewart is also the only candidate for president of state Jaycees.

Both men spoke on state and national activities of the junior chamber of commerce.

W. B. Chalk, Morehead City, Jaycee president, announced that a letter had been received from the Woman's club thanking Jaycees for their support of Operation Piano.

George Cottingham, Beaufort Jaycee president, spoke briefly. Guests in addition to Beaufort Jaycees, were Thomas Whitehurst, Vernon Wright, both of Morehead City and Bill Hinnant, Raleigh.

Billy B. Willis was accepted as a new member. During the business session, Chalk presided and the secretary's report, submitted by Thomas C. McGinnis, secretary, was approved.

riculture, said the 1951 quotas are not a record for North Carolina. He recalled that in 1946 the total authorized flue-cured acreage was 1,188,000, of which 802,000 acres were for North Carolina. The 1947 allotment was about as high. Hedrick said, and in 1948 there was a cutback of 27 per cent in acreage, giving the State 594,000 acres.

In discussing the quotas, the State's tobacco marketing expert expressed the belief that some North Carolina farmers won't take advantage of the increase because plant beds already sown will not provide them with enough plants and because of the inadequacy of barn space.

Increases for other leading tobacco growing states were: For flue-cured tobacco — Virginia, 112,156 from 106,785; South Carolina, 128,654 from 122,504; Georgia 112,917 from 107,520; Florida, 23,119 from 22,014; Alabama, 564 from 537.

For burley tobacco — Virginia, 15,018 from 14,034; Kentucky, 268,978 from 288,735; Tennessee, 91,485 from 85,491.

Hundreds Attend Formal Opening of 'Irene's'

The only all-glass-front modern store in Carteret county opened Wednesday afternoon on Arendell street in Morehead City. The shop, formerly known as Irene's Gift Box, is now "Irene's" and houses a gift shop and potted plant shop. Operating the store are Miss Irene Spence and her mother, Mrs. E. P. Spence.

Five hundred red roses were given to callers at the formal opening Wednesday afternoon. Hundreds of other well-wishers, arrived too late to receive the special formal-opening gift.

In the west end of the building Mrs. Spence will have her plant department which was formerly located at the rear of the Morehead City Floral company. To be constructed at the rear is a modern plant conservatory which will adjoin the new shop.

The new building has a mezzanine floor on which are located the baby department featuring children's clothes. Also there is the linen department, displays of lingerie, plastics and paper department, and pottery.

On the lower floor at the east end is crystal and china. For Wednesday's opening a wedding table was set as a model for the coming Taylor-Derrickson wedding, and another was set in Miss Nancy Derrickson's china and silverware.

In the center of the main floor is the business office. The entire interior was designed by Mrs. Spence who in past years has remodeled 15 buildings. She has been in the floral business 30 years. The front of the building was designed by the Pittsburgh Glass company. The contractor was Grady Rich of Morehead City.

The interior colors are gray and coral rose with the floor in corresponding colors of asphalt tile. Light is provided by fluorescent fixtures on the ceiling.

The building was erected by E. P. Spence.

Duke Lab Gets Non-Metallic Water System

Installed this week at Duke Marine laboratory, Piver's Island, was a non-metallic water system. This system, made only of hard rubber, is essential in the barnacle research project being carried on at the laboratory for the United States Navy.

Because metals, such as copper and zinc, are poisonous to marine invertebrates, it is impossible to grow barnacles in a laboratory fed with salt water through metal pipes, explained Dr. Henry Kritzer, resident investigator.

W. K. Howard, Duke university's engineer, is supervising installation of the system which includes an electrically operated all-rubber pump, pipes and valves. The pump, of 20-gallon per minute capacity, is placed on an ingenious device, a stage, which rises and falls with the tide.

The stage is located on the Duke dock. Its ability to float with the tide makes the distance of the pump from the water uniform at all times.

The salt water will flow into the new lab at the west of the quadrangle, but T connections are being placed at the older laboratory and midway between the two where a new lab may be built someday.

Cost of the non-metallic water system is approximately $1,800, Howard stated.

Dr. Kritzer added that it is not only necessary to have the barnacles in uncontaminated water, but the minute particles of food they depend on for growth would also be killed if they were pumped through metal pipes.

ability. Penalties and trick score are the same as in rubber bridge. Here are some variations:— Part-score, vul. or not vul. — 50 point bonus. Game, not vulnerable—300 point bonus. Game, vulnerable — 500 point bonus.

On the above hand, North has reason to fear that E-W can make their slam for 1430 points— 6 Hearts at 30 per trick ... 180 Vulnerable game bonus ... 500 Vul. small slam bonus ... 750

Total ... 1430 North evaluates a bid of 6 Spades as losing 1 heart, 1 spade, and probably 2 clubs; or a set of three, totaling 800 points (vulnerable, double).

In the tournament at Webb Memorial last Monday, 3 pairs N-S sacrificed at 6 spades. Three E-W pairs made their 1430 points at 6 hearts. Against 6 Spades, one east player opened his singleton club, trumped his partner's return, and, on the basis of his partner's strong heart raise, underled his heart ace in order to obtain another club ruff. He thereby set the 6 Spade bid 4 tricks for 1100 points, still not equal to the 1430 points resulting from a successful 6 Heart contract.

One of the most fascinating features of duplicate bridge is the fact that each hand is complete in itself — sacrifice bidding becomes an art. Many times, in rubber bridge, players will avoid a sacrifice, fearing that their opponents will pick up another good hand and win the rubber.

In duplicate, the board shows the dealer and designates vulner-
