WITH THE 4-H'ERS

By HARRY VENTERS
4-H Advisor

4-H Club meetings will continue next week for those clubs that have not met this month. The schedule follows: Monday — Smyrna; Tuesday — Camp Glenn and Morehead; Friday — Harkers Island and Friday night — Merriman Community 4-H Club. The Beaufort 4-H Clubs will meet on Wednesday, Jan. 22.

It is time to start getting ready for those baby chicks. Some of you are taking poultry as a 4-H project, others will help with the family poultry flock. So let's make arrangements to get those chicks early so they will be in production when egg prices are high. It takes about six months for a pullet to reach maturity, so get them early. Most chicks are started in January or February but they can be raised successfully any month of the year.

Success in raising baby chicks will depend on: (1) Having a good brooder house, (2) Using the right equipment, (3) Feeding a balanced, high-quality ration, and (4) Following proven management practices.

Strong, healthy chicks with plenty of vitality are also necessary. The poultry house should be sanitary, properly ventilated (free from dampness) and be equipped with a dependable source of adjustable heat.

Before your baby chicks arrive, the house and equipment should be thoroughly cleaned, disinfected, and allowed to dry. Chicks will grow better if they have plenty of room and are kept in a cool house that has a brooder to supply the heat when needed.

You will need 100 square feet of floor space for 100 chicks until they are eleven weeks old. By that time they will be large enough to go on range.

When the day old chicks arrive, the brooder stove should be operated at a temperature of 90 to 95 degrees Fahrenheit at the edge of the hover and on a level with the chicks' heads. The temperature can be reduced about 5 degrees each week until 70 degrees is reached or until no heat is required.

If you will watch the chicks they will guide you. At night they will be bedded down in a ring around the edge of the hover if the heat is adequate, while in the daytime they will be eating feed and drinking water.

Give the chicks fine scratch for the first 24 hours and then feed a starting mash. The feed that you use should contain all the nutrients, vitamins, proteins and minerals that the chicks need for good growth. Twenty-five to 30 pounds of feed are needed to grow a pullet to maturity.

One last reminder — get good chicks that come from parent stock that has been bred for egg production if the pullets are to be kept for layers and raise them separately from old birds. I will be glad to furnish you with a list of state inspected and approved hatcheries.

Cadillac

It Says "Greatness"... in Any Language!

Wherever highways exist and motor cars are known, the name "Cadillac" signifies but one thing—the unmistakable leader in its field.

For the motor car that has borne that distinguished name for the past fifty-five years has been so well designed and crafted that it has become a synonym for everything good and desirable in a product.

And never have these virtues been more evident than they are in the Cadillac car for 1958.

A single, sweeping glance at the new "car of cars", for example, reveals a grace and majesty and elegance never before attainable in modern automotive design.

A brief journey at the wheel provides irrefutable proof of the forward strides that have been made in Cadillac performance and in Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And a study of the facts about Cadillac economy and dependability indicates a soundness of investment beyond anything in Cadillac's brilliant past.

If you haven't as yet inspected and driven a 1958 Cadillac, you should do so very soon.

Whatever your favorite among Cadillac's wide selection of models, which includes the distinguished Eldorado Brougham, you will find it a rare masterpiece in everything a Cadillac can be.
