Police Report One Accident

Morehead City policemen reported one traffic accident over the weekend. The accident occurred at the railroad crossing near 27th and Bridges Streets at 3:40 p.m. Saturday.

Dr. John Bunn, Morehead City, was driving west and slowed down to cross the tracks. He was in a 1954 Chevrolet. Garland E. Smith, driving a Franklin Baking Co. truck, did not notice that Dr. Bunn had slowed down.

The truck plowed into the rear of the car, causing about $100 damage to each vehicle, according to police reports. Insurance will cover the damage and no charges were made. Investigating were Capt. C. E. Bunch and Patrolman J. C. Steele.

Raleigh—Assistant Division Engineer J. L. Phillips of Greenville announced today that several roads in four counties, one of them Carteret, have been posted for load limit restrictions as a result of recent damaging rains.

Mr. Phillips pointed out that the outstanding problem concerning roads in the Second Division has to do with drainage.

Limits of 13,000 pounds for one axle, 20,000 pounds for two axles, and 30,000 pounds for three axles have been placed on the following roads: in Jones County, the Short Cut road linking NC 12 and NC 41, northwest of Trenton; and Middle Road from the junction of NC 41 and NC 12, to a point near the Le-noir County line; in Beaufort County, Gray Road from NC 33 to a point near the Craven County line.

Mr. Phillips indicated that the surface of NC 101 is showing considerable evidences of failure and has been posted as to load limit restrictions in both Craven and Carteret Counties.

In Craven County, limits of 13,000 pounds for one axle, 20,000 pounds for two axles and 30,000 pounds for three axles have been posted on the following roads: NC 101 from its junction with US 70, to the Carteret County line; Temple and Blades Roads off NC 101.

In Carteret County, the same load restrictions have been placed on the following roads, according to Mr. Phillips: Roberts Road to US 70; NC 101 from a point above Beaufort to the Craven County line; and two dead end roads off US 70.

Load limit restrictions of eight tons gross have also been posted in both Craven and Carteret Counties, added Mr. Phillips. Among the roads thus posted are: Camp Bryan Road, from the junction of US 70 and NC 101 in Craven County to a point on the Carteret County line, extending on into Carteret County, and in Craven County, Adams Creek Road to NC 101.

The men were Harold and James Collier, Bill White and Dexter McCausley.

Sheriff Hugh Salter said all got terms ranging from three to seven years. The Carteret and Onslow theft cases were incorporated for trial at Jacksonville Feb. 24.

After the judge gave his decision, the men were put in jail. The sheriff said they sent a note back to the judge, stating that they did not like his decision.
