

VFW Auxiliary Elects Officers Thursday Night

Officers were elected by the Ladies Auxiliary of Jones-Austin VFW Post Thursday night when they met at the post home. Mrs. Ruby Peterson, president, presided.

Officers elected are Mrs. Foster Morris, president; Mrs. Vance Fulford, senior vice-president; Mrs. William Skarren, junior vice-president; Mrs. Ervin Lupton, treasurer.

Mrs. Julia Basden, chaplain; Mrs. Bonzell Lewis Jr., conductor; Mrs. Fred Harvey, guard; Mrs. Claudine Workman, Mrs. Edith Schrader and Mrs. Earl Riggs, trustees.

The appointive officers will be named at the next meeting by the new president.

A handmade quilt will be given to some lucky person donating to the relief fund of the auxiliary. Early Bird cards were given to the members. With these cards the 1958 dues may be paid early. With each payment, the card is punched and it is hoped that members will pay their dues sooner with the cards.

The auxiliary has been invited to attend the installation of the post officers on April 7.

Mrs. Fulford and Mrs. Lewis served cake and coffee after the meeting.

Obituaries

WILLIAM E. NELSON

William Edward (Ed) Nelson, 55, a native of Morehead City, died Sunday at Memorial Hospital, Beaufort, S. C., after an extended illness.

Mr. Nelson was born in Morehead City, the son of Mrs. Annie Bell Nelson and the late E. H. Nelson. He moved to South Carolina in 1919.

He was city manager of Beaufort, S. C., for 17 years and resigned to become secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Savings and Loan Co.

He was a member of Harmony Masonic Lodge for 34 years, a life member of the fire department, secretary of the Beaufort Democratic Club for 25 years, treasurer and charter member of the Beaufort Yacht Club, a member of the Rotary Club, Historical Society, the Beaufort Museum and the Carteret Street Methodist Church.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. today from the church of which he was a member. The Rev. W. J. Smoak will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Nelson; his wife, Mrs. Pauline Thomas Nelson; a son, W. E. Nelson Jr.; three sisters, Mrs. C. E. Haigh, Mrs. A. R. McAfee and Mrs. B. E. Fordham, all of Beaufort, S. C.; three aunts, Mrs. Joe Fulcher, Mrs. D. B. Willis and Mrs. Abram Davis, and two uncles, Matt Nelson and Shelly Bell, all of Morehead City.

MRS. MARY F. DAVIS

Mrs. Mary Fulford Davis, 90, died Friday afternoon at the home of her son of Harkers Island. Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints with Alton Willis officiating. Burial was in Virgie Mae Cemetery.

Mrs. Davis is survived by her son, Earl Davis, and three grandchildren.

Beached Boatbuilder

Landlocked in his hospital ward, this convalescent serviceman seems pleased with the ship model he's made. Its materials were provided by the Red Cross recreation worker who's admiring it.

How to Figure Out Whether House 'Junk' Has Value

By VIVIAN BROWN

There comes a time in the life of almost every woman when she suspects or hopes that some trinket or china piece in her cupboard, attic, cellar or barn is the real McCoy.

She comes of age in her antique reading or suddenly needs money, and then she conducts a tour of old whatnots that lie around her home.

How does a person discover the worth, if any, of these articles? Should she risk taking them to an appraiser? Will he gyp her? How will she know if her treasured article has real value? Here are some suggestions that may help in your quest for assistance:

1. Make a sketch or take a photograph of the object to the public library. Look it up under its proper heading—pewter, silver, Britannia ware, china, glassware. If you aren't sure, a book in the general category of you object will give you a clue.

Be sure that you copy off marks that appear on the piece such as crossed-swords on Meissen ware (many reproductions now dotting the market) or cherubs and hearts on a trivet. The librarian may help you locate the proper book.

2. Once you determine that your piece is of a certain period—perhaps a Georgian piece of silver—you are ready to go to a dealer. Take it to several dealers. Compare offers, and then decide if you want to part with your piece. It may be worth more to you than the cash involved if it is an interesting, old piece, and if it will increase in value.

What to Look For

Articles that may have value include these:

Old glass—glass made after 1830 is not considered antique although much of it, such as Sandwich and pressed glass, often brings good prices, and is prized by collectors. Sparkling cut glassware made during the brilliant period of the late 1800s is popular also, although it is not considered antique. Another type of glass made about the same time is Amberina, now very popular and bringing fancy prices. This glass is identified easily because it runs from a yellow amber shade to deep ruby.

A great deal of collecting of Tiffany glass is under way at the moment. This glass is many-shaded and iridescent, and sometimes may be found with the initials "LCT" or the name "Tiffany" or "Favrile" marked on the base.

Milk glass is flooding antique shops because many pieces reproduced today are made from original molds, confusing collectors.

The old and new glass is different in appearance however, and one who has spent a great deal of time collecting this glass should know the difference.

Neophytes may be fooled. The milk glass duck patented by Thomson Street Methodist Church. Burial was in Oceanview Cemetery.

She is survived by two sons, William and Earl Noe, both of Beaufort; two daughters, Mrs. Ed Becton of Havelock and Mrs. Ruth Sullivan of Beaufort; one sister, Mrs. Kate Pearce Atkins of Wilmington; and eight grandchildren.

RICHARD D. RICKS

Richard Dewey Ricks, 58, died Friday at his home in Highland Park, Beaufort. Graveside funeral services were held in Oceanview Cemetery Sunday afternoon by the Rev. John Cline, pastor of Ann Street Methodist Church, and the Rev. Edward Sharp, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Lula Ricks; two brothers, Jack and Theodore Ricks, all of the home.

Attend FFA Convention

Attending the Future Homemakers of America state convention at Raleigh Saturday were Fay Pilkington, president; Kay Temple, secretary; Cynthia Lou Dudley, incoming president; Sharon Wilkinson, pianist; and Vicki Taylor, incoming secretary. They were accompanied by their advisor, Mrs. David Beveridge.
