

Hatteras Seashore Park To Be Dedicated April 24

Beaufort Scouts Put Out Fire

A group of Boy Scouts from troop 201, Beaufort, discovered and put out a fire last Saturday afternoon. The boys were returning from Jacksonville when they discovered the fire in a wooded area near the Morehead City golf course.

Not only did the boys extinguish the fire, they broke up all smoking logs to lessen the danger of a fire that might break out after they left.

In Scouting boys are taught the value of protecting wildlife and natural resources. Assistant Scoutmaster R. N. Vickery says that the boys had been attending a junior leaders training course at Jacksonville Saturday.

Boys who helped fight the fire were Vic Smith, Joe Bellamah, Larry Cole and David Beveridge.

Nags Head, N. C. (AP)—State and federal officials will take part in the official dedication of the Cape Hatteras National Seashore Recreational area on April 24.

Principal figures for the ceremonies at the base of Cape Hatteras Lighthouse will be Gov. Hodges and Director Conrad Wirth of the National Park Service.

The dedication will be the first event on the program for the fourth annual Dare Coast Pirates Jamboree, which will continue through April 27. The jamboree serves to open the tourist season for the Dare County beaches.

The Cape Hatteras Recreational Area is the first ocean-side area in the National Park Service. A sidelight to the official dedication will be the mixing of waters from the surf with waters from old faithful geyser in Yellowstone National Park.

Members of the Andrew Mellon Family will be honored guests for the dedication, a tribute to the part Mellon Foundation funds played in acquiring land for the recreational area.

ing to tell him where to find the salt, gasps his last breath. His is the first grave dug in the new burying ground. It is the oldest grave in the Morehead City Cemetery. By his side, 53 years later, is buried his twin sister Ellen—called Nell—who was also consumptive.

Earth Shivers

August 31, 1886, was the year of the great earthquake. Morehead City felt these tremors and the citizens were badly frightened. At the last and most violent tremor a boat, far out, blew its whistle and some folks, thinking it was the Angel Gabriel blowing his horn, fell screaming and praying to their knees.

Solomon Phillips and his family migrate to Punta Gorda, Florida, and establish a fish business there. The summer of 1887 is here. John Daniels Phillips, having been ailing for some time, takes the train for New Bern to consult Dr. Primrose of that city.

The afternoon he is expected back his whole family waits on the stoop of their home for the train to stop at the depot. It is located in front of their home in the middle of the street.

John Phillips, 54 years old, went to New Bern looking a strong, healthy man. He came back sick and broken. Mama said she would never forget it. He had aged so, and was never his merry and gay self again.

Dr. Primrose told him he had Bright's disease — often called dropsy — and only about three months to live. He soon became swollen, suffering greatly. Before the three months were out he died, leaving a widow and five children, the youngest 5 years old — my mother.

Seventy years have passed since then, there have been many changes in the Town of Morehead City, but there are Phillips brothers still living here. They are the grandsons and great-grandsons of Jasper and John Phillips.

Dog Leaves 10 Puppies To Find Homes in Kansas

Coldwater, Kan. (AP)—The little red cocker spaniel that found a home with Comanche County Sheriff Phillip Hackney for three months may be gone, but she's not forgotten.

She wore a Pima County, Ariz., tag—so Hackney called the Arizona sheriff who located the dog's owner, an airman stationed at Tucson. Arrangements were made to ship the dog to her owner—but the 10 pups in her litter, born meantime, found Kansas homes.

Canteret fishermen landed 64 per cent of the state's reported catches of fish during January. They landed 3.4 million of the state total: 5.3 million pounds.

Menhaden accounted for about 75 per cent of the county total. The 2.6 million pounds of menhaden landed represent less than half of the catch last January. Poor fishing conditions were responsible for the big drop in production.
