Beaufort Board Refers Street Extension to Planning Board

Rotary Plans To Reactivate Scout Troop

The Beaufort Rotary Club is continuing its drive to reactivate its Boy Scout Troop. President David Jones announced at a club meeting at the Scout building Tuesday night that 100 application cards had been given to prospective Scouts.

Gerald Davis, Morehead City Scouter, began training classes for adult Scout leaders Wednesday night. Scoutmaster John Duncan, assistant Henry Eubanks and several Rotarians are attending the classes.

Holden Ballou was program chairman Tuesday night and had Wiley Taylor Jr. as his guest speaker. Mr. Taylor spoke in the life of "Stonewall" Jackson.

Albert Chappell joined the club at the Tuesday meeting. Charles Davis was the guest of Mr. Jones.

CP&L to Sponsor Power-Up Show

Carolina Power and Light Co. will sponsor a showing of Westinghouse Electric Corporation's 1958 "Power-Up" road show. G. B. Stovall, CP&L manager, said today.

The 90-minute show with its cast of professional actors will be held next Thursday in the Co. "I" Armory Wilmington, and will demonstrate how the proper selection and application of quality electrical apparatus can increase productivity. Approximately 1,000 representatives of industrial firms, electrical contractors, consulting engineers, architects and those building or managing institutional type buildings have been invited to see the show.

Westinghouse officials announced previously that the key to industrial profits in the face of rising costs is "electromotion." They predicted that the industrial rate of electric power consumption will increase 300 per cent by 1970, but warned that industry is not adequately "wired" for even today's needs.

The "Power-Up show is scheduled to play in 125 cities throughout the United States during the first half of 1958.

Jaycees to Elect Officers Monday

The Beaufort Jaycees will elect new officers at their meeting Monday night at the Scout building. The election, originally scheduled for this Monday night, was postponed since so many members were absent.

The Jaycees decided to put up a stand at Craven and Front Streets. They will sell chances on a new Cadillac from the stand.

The club also voted to send a letter to congress opposing the closing of the O&R department at Cherry Point.

World Trip (AP)—A group of 19 American Baptist officials and laymen left Jan. 21 on a trip around the world. Dr. August M. Hintz, of Chicago, president of the denomination's foreign mission societies, said "our purpose is to inform ourselves on the world situation and our part in it so that we may be of greater service to the cause of Christian missions."

The Beaufort town board decided at its meeting Thursday night to refer to the planning board a proposal to extend Broad Street eastward beyond Fulford and Hammock Streets.

Commissioner William Roy Hamilton also requested that the planning board be asked for its decision on the route highway 70 shall take through Beaufort—whether it will turn north on Live Oak or whether it should continue east beyond Live Oak. He said the matter had been placed in the planning board's lap two months ago.

Referred to Gray Hassell, town engineer, was the sewage disposal problem in the area of the intersection at the Beaufort School. To lay lines necessary would cost about $5,000, according to Dan Walker, town manager. The town doesn't have the money to do it, he added.

Resolution Passed The board passed a resolution protesting elimination of the Overhaul and Repair Department at Cherry Point by putting the repair work in the hands of private industry.

Because water company repair men have been tearing up streets and not repairing them properly, the board ordered that before the company can disturb any more town property to do its work, the company must get a work order from Mr. Walker.

This must be taken to the building inspector who will issue a permit and the company will then be billed for repair of any damage to the street.

The board discussed water standing on vacant lots in town. Although the water is a health hazard and forms a breeding place for mosquitoes, the town decided that it is not its duty to drain private property.

Hydrant Okayed The board approved placing of a hydrant at Cedar and Pollock Streets, as requested by the firemen, rental on the hydrant to begin in July. Mr. Walker reported that a hydrant that had been located near the Austin fish house on Cedar Street has been moved to Cedar and Marsh Streets.

The board approved a proposal to ask all insurance agents in town to cooperate in selling insurance to the town. By pooling the policies and dividing the commission among the agents, it is believed that the town can save some money.

Commissioner Otis Mades said that Broad Street continues to be in bad shape. Fire commissioner Gerald Hill reported that the fire department answered four alarms during March, two in town and two out of town.

The board decided that it could not legally contribute to the fight against higher telephone rates.

Attending the meeting, in addition to those mentioned, were Mayor Clifford Lewis, who presided, Commissioner James Rumley; town attorney Gene Smith, chief of police Guy Springle, street superintendent Wardell Fillingame and building inspector Gerald Woodard.

Commissioner Math Chaplain was absent because of illness.

Richmond Bank Sends Pencils to Collectors

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Herb Hamman of route 6, Fergus Falls, Minn., and Mrs. Tony Walnuer of Elizabeth, Minn., are getting their pencils, courtesy of the First and Merchants National Bank of Richmond.

A letter addressed simply "to any large bank in Richmond" was delivered to First and Merchants recently. In the letter, the two Minnesota ladies said they were collectors of advertising pencils and would like to receive two pencils from the bank.

Symphony Will Play April 25 At New Bern

The North Carolina Symphony will appear in New Bern on Friday, April 25. The 60-man group, under the direction of Benjamin Swalin, will play a concert open to all members of the North Carolina Symphony Society at New Bern High School at 8:00 p.m.

The soloist will be Fred Sahlmann, who has been called the finest young pianist ever to appear with the symphony. Mr. Sahlmann is a native of Charleston, S. C., and is now a member of the faculty of Elon College.

The program will consist of Dvorak's Carnival Overture, Sibelius' The Swan of Tuonela, Debussy's Festivals, and Strauss' Tone Poem Don Juan, played by the orchestra; and Mozart's Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in E flat major, with Mr. Sahlmann as soloist.

This year marks the 13th consecutive season that the North Carolina Symphony has played more than 100 concerts to adults and children in cities and hamlets all over the state. Each year the orchestra travels approximately 10,000 miles by bus to reach small communities such as Banner Elk and Sparta, as well as the larger cities such as Raleigh and Greensboro.

Already this season the 25-man Little Symphony has played 68 concerts to over 70,000 people. The New Bern concert is one of 39 to be played in 15 cities during the full symphony's four-week tour.

More than half these concerts are for school children. The symphony's concerts for children in every community in which the orchestra appears, annually reach over 150,000 Tar Heel children.

Cherry Point Will Go On Fast Time April 27

Cherry Point—Daylight Saving Time will become effective here at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 27, when six station clocks will be advanced one hour. The DST will continue at Cherry Point until Sept. 28.

Civilian employees will be charged with one hour of annual leave which they will receive back as overtime at the termination of Daylight Saving Time.

Profit Reported Gerald Woodard, secretary of the Beaufort Fire Department, reported that approximately $150 profit was made on the country show sponsored by the firemen April 1 at the school.

Juniors Keep Seniors In State of Suspense

By EVELYN HARRIS

After the Easter holidays and the coming of Spring, we around AHS are ready for the coming events. The commencement exercises, school picnics, NCEA meeting, banquets and the remaining 30 days at AHS promise to be exciting ones. Keep touring until you find the Pirate corner, and I'll try to brief you on all activities.

Senior invitations arrived about two weeks ago. They were very nice and the Seniors were thrilled with them. There was a busy time as each of the Seniors exchanged cards.

The Juniors seem to be the busiest bees buzzing. They really are hustling as banquet time gets nearer. In fact, it's just around the corner. The Juniors are hush, hush, for the first time this year, and let's hope they succeed in giving a beautiful banquet.

The question is who is taking whom and where will they go? We'll find out in due time. Date for the banquet is May 9.

Annals arrived Tuesday with a bang. The only thing you saw at the 25-minute break was black and white as that is what the backs are covered in this year. "The Pirate" is the nicest yet and I must say that all of the annual staff should be congratulated.

Autographs are being signed without a blink of the eyes. Even one of our girls signed her own annual, and you can imagine what a time it is in the halls. But we're doing nicely, if I do say so myself.

Thursday was a busy day at AHS, as chapel was held the first thing in the auditorium at 9 o'clock for the high school. The Rev. Winston Sweeney, pastor of the St. John's Free Will Baptist Church, Stacy, spoke to us on the subject of "Simply Out of This World." His talk was enjoyed very much and we wish to extend an invitation to come back and be with us as soon as possible.

4-H was held promptly after

Rev. Sweeney's talk. The meeting was called to order by the president and we stood and said the 4-H pledge and the pledge to the American flag. The scripture was read. A poem followed.

Mr. Venters talked to us about 4-H Club week (which is to be held at Roanoke), district elimination, and health improvement records. The minutes were read and approved. The boys and girls then separated, the girls having "A Demonstration on Dress Revue". Mrs. Garner told us the revue would be held in Beaufort and the finalists there would go to Raleigh to compete with county finalists.

Mr. Venters talked to the boys on Seed Inoculation and Treatment for Disease Control.

See you next week.

Attends Meeting

County Agent R. M. Williams is in Goldsboro today for a county agents' swine meeting. New methods of raising hogs will be discussed.

Students May Enter Contest Until May 15

Smithfield—About 250 high school students in Eastern North Carolina are busily studying and writing essays on "My Stake in Free Enterprise" in a $1,500 contest sponsored by the First-Citizens Bank & Trust Co.

More entries are coming in daily, according to President Lewis R. Holding, who emphasized there is still time for students to enter the contest.

The deadline for receiving essays is May 15, which allows about a month more for students to prepare their compositions, limited to 3,000 words. Information and entry blanks may be obtained by writing to Box 2545, Raleigh.

First place in the contest will pay $500, second place $300 and third $200. In addition there will be five special awards of $100 each.
