Dr. Purnell Bailey Writes Of Atlantic Ocean's Spell

The Rev. A. Purnell Bailey, who recently conducted a series of services in the First Methodist Church, Morehead City, writes a column for the Daily Press of Newport News, Va.

The Rev. J. F. Herbert, pastor of the First Methodist Church, has suggested that a recent column, by Ruth and Purnell Bailey, be reprinted here because it deals with Morehead City.

The Rev. Mr. Herbert says, "Doctor Bailey made a great impression on our church and we are planning to have him back before long."

The column, titled God's Great Ocean, follows:

This week as we write this column, it is being pondered in a lovely motel near the Atlantic Ocean at Morehead City, N. C.

Bud Dixon, the owner of the motel and a fine layman in the First Methodist Church, has just taken me to some of the most beautiful places in this area. Is there any beauty that excels the beautiful blue of the Atlantic?

This has been one of the most demanding periods of my ministry—the last six months—and just to get here and sit quietly and see the beautiful ocean is relaxation in itself.

In the last six months I have listened to the problems of more people than ever before in my ministry. People I wanted to help. People that needed help. And I had forgotten that regardless of how much we want to help people, we need also to relax and rest in order to help them most.

This week of services in which I am speaking here at Morehead City gave just such an opportunity for rest. Today, I had a wonderful game of golf with the physician in the church, Dr. Sam Hatcher, and Bud Dixon.

The name of the physician struck me especially, since it was the name of one of my finest friends I ever had, Dr. Sam Hatcher, the vice-president of Randolph-Macon College. What memories the name brought back to me!

Dr. Hatcher of Randolph-Macon met me when I was only 17 years of age at a church at Onancock, Va. I told him that I wanted to come to Randolph-Macon College and study for the ministry. How much money do you have? he asked. I told him I had nothing. My father had been an invalid, and it took all the family resources to keep the family of four children going.

"Get a job," he said, "and come to Randolph-Macon in September, and bring all you can save. I will see you through college."

I took him at his word, and Dr. Sam Hatcher of Randolph-Macon saw me through college. I paid the last of the loans back only three years ago. But he saw me through! No wonder that the name Sam Hatcher took me back over the years—with warm and cherished memories.

One of the things that has impressed me most about Morehead City is the loyalty of the laymen in the church and their love for it. What an inspiration to see this in First Church! It has warmed my heart, and given me courage, as it has the wonderful pastor here, the Rev. J. F. Herbert, and his lovely wife.

Three Iowa Teachers Win Summer Trips to Europe

Newton, Iowa (AP)—Three grade school teachers in Newton will go to Europe next summer on grants provided by a firm manufacturing household appliances.

The travel scholarships amount to $400 and were established to reward extra effort and make teaching school in Newton more attractive.

Unexpected Support Cleveland (AP)—Children who fear the school year may be extended to a year-round operation to meet classroom and teacher shortages have an ally—the teachers' convention revealed teachers look forward to a three-month summer vacation as eagerly as their pupils.

Alabama Area Sponsors Big Rattlesnake Hunt

Dothan, Ala. (AP)—The Houston County Revenue Commission recently sponsored a one-day rattlesnake hunt and offered a $2.50 bounty for the reptiles.

It cost the county $627.50 in bounties as 251 snakes—most of them alive—were brought to the courthouse lawn. In addition, Pat McDaniel won a special $25 prize for the most snakes by bringing in 28—25 of them alive. And Sam Thompson won $25 for the largest rattler, a monster 6 feet, 2 inches long.

Judge Asks Defendant To Make One Decision

Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—US District Judge Royce Savage asked a defendant if he wanted an attorney. "I don't know, Judge," he replied.

After listening to several minutes of hemming and hawing, Savage finally told him:

"I sit here all day and make decisions. I think you ought to be able to make this one."

Automobile Break-Down Leads to Big Discovery

New Brunswick, N. J. (AP)—A car's break-down led to the discovery of neomycin, one of the newest antibiotics.

Dr. Herbert Lechevalier, an associate of Nobel prize winner Dr. Selman A. Waksman, was driving past a manure-covered barnyard at the Rutgers University College of Agriculture when his car broke down.

While waiting for repairs, Lechevalier collected a soil sample. It was processed and neomycin resulted.

The drug is used to treat diarrhea in infants, in skin and eye ointments, and as an antiseptic preparation for bowel surgery.

Judge Fines Sisters Who Couldn't Get Along

Appleton, Wis. (AP)—Municipal Judge Oscar Schmiede, trying to arrange peace in a family, found no peace in his court.

Two sisters, who charged each other with disorderly conduct, shouted at each other so much in court the judge couldn't be heard.

Judge Schmiede imposed silence on Mrs. Wanda Pahlke, 59, and Mrs. Alfred Craven, 56, by ordering them to post $100 bond each and warning them they would be clapped in jail if their clamor continued.

Always Drilling

Milwaukee (AP)—Dr. Harry Patin, a dentist, won the South Milwaukee Jaycee's Distinguished Service Award. Dr. Patin was cited for his work as drill master of three drill teams.
