

Miss Annie Morton to Appear In ECC Anniversary Pageant

Miss Annie Morton, Beaufort, for 25 years dean of women at East Carolina College, will appear in the pageant, East Carolina Stayed "To Serve", which will be given on the campus this weekend in conjunction with the college's 50th anniversary celebration.

Miss Morton, now a member of the faculty at Beaufort School, will portray herself. She will appear in the scene in which college officials welcome back to campus the men and women who fought in the second world war.

The first performance of the pageant will be at 8 p.m. Saturday in Wright auditorium and the second performance will be at 3:30 Sunday afternoon in Wright auditorium.

The pageant was written by Miss Emma L. Hooper of the college English faculty.

It reviews the school's 50 years, from the groundbreaking, July 2, 1908. In the groundbreaking scene the same shovel that Governor Jarvis used for the first building, will be used. Miss Morton reports that this shovel has been used in every subsequent groundbreaking ceremony on the campus.

The pageant traces the growth under Robert Herring Wright, from East Carolina Teachers Training School to East Carolina College, and the development under presidencies of Leon R. Meadows, Howard J. McGinnis, Dr. Dennis H. Cooke and the present Dr. John E. Messick.

Miss Morton went to East Carolina as the college's second dean of women in 1925. At that time 700 women students were enrolled. When she retired in 1950, approximately 1,600 students were enrolled each quarter, the majority of them men.

Miss Morton is a native of Beaufort.

Attending the anniversary celebration this weekend will be Miss Patty Dowell, of Hattiesburg, Miss., the first student to enroll at East Carolina. At present she is head of the education department of Mississippi State Teachers College.

District Meeting Termed Success

The district Jaycee convention conducted this weekend in Morehead City has been termed "probably the best meeting ever held in this area so far as the Jaycees are concerned."

Morehead City Jaycee president Dr. R. O. Barnum says that everyone had lots of fun, even at the business meeting Sunday morning.

The convention got underway Saturday afternoon with golfing and other forms of recreation. Saturday night there was a dance and reception at the Morehead Biltmore Hotel.

About 150 Jaycees from all over the state attended the convention. They elected Ellis Harrell of Kingston as the new district vice-president. He succeeds Wes Conklin of Jacksonville.

Plans for the district beauty pageant were discussed. It was reported that over $4,000 worth of scholarships had been obtained to give to the winner of the state pageant in Charlotte.

Tax Official Speaks to Club

C. D. Moore, director of the North Carolina inheritance tax division for the past 24 years, was guest speaker at the Morehead City Rotary Club meeting Thursday night. The club met at the Rex Restaurant.

Mr. Moore discussed the distribution of property under trusts and wills. He mentioned the different types of wills and told some of the benefits of having a will.

He read excerpts from several wills to illustrate his points. One man wrote in his will, "To my wife, I leave her lover. I'm not the fool she thought I was."

Another man left a silver dollar to his daughter so she could drill a hole in it and wear it on a chain around her neck.

Rotarian H. L. Joslyn introduced a new member to the group, Fred Lewis of Morehead City.

Jim Harris, Albemarle Rotarian, and Allen Pascall of Raleigh, guest of George McNeill, were visitors.

Rescue Squad Recommends Island Clean-Up

After finding two youngsters over the weekend with live .30 calibre machine gun bullets, members of the Beaufort Rescue squad strongly recommend that the Marine Corps send a detachment of men to Radio Island to police the place.

Virgil Woolard of the Beaufort Rescue squad said that over the weekend a youngster was walking along the street slinging a machine gun belt loaded with live ammunition.

When the youngster was questioned about it, he said he got it at Radio Island and "some other boy. I don't know his name" had a boxful of the ammunition that was found on the island.

During the recent maneuvers on the island, rescue squad members said Marines also made dugouts which are now in danger of caving in. They could trap youngsters in them.

A Navy landing ramp is at the south end of the island; a few houses and a radio station are located there. Otherwise, the island is a vast stretch of sand, which apparently lures lots of children.

The Beaufort Rescue squad fears that unless the island, located between Beaufort and Morehead City, is cleared of things like bullets and dugouts, a serious accident may occur there, or wherever a child may take the bullets he finds.

Beach Visitors Find Water Cold

Atlantic Beach had its biggest weekend of the season Saturday and Sunday despite cool, cloudy weather. Thousands flocked to the beach for boating, skiing, dancing or playing miniature golf and other games. A few individuals went swimming but most of them gave it up after finding the water as cold as the lifeguards said it was.

Weather observer Stacey Davis says that there were a few scattered showers around the county but not enough fell to be measured.

Friday was the warmest day recorded this year and a good hot weekend was anticipated. After an 84 on Friday, the temperature fell off to a maximum of 69 on Saturday and 74 on Sunday.

Maximum and minimum temperatures and wind direction since Thursday follow:

	Max.	Min.	Wind

Wayland Sheafe Leaves Carolina for 10 Years Spring—She's Finally Come!

Wayland Sheafe left the state Friday on a 10-year self-imposed exile. His reason was that a two-year jail term will be waiting for him if he comes back.

Sheafe, who has been in trouble since he moved to Morehead City several months ago, was recently discharged from the Marine Corps as being "undesirable", according to Sheriff Hugh Salter.

The sheriff said that Sheafe's latest escapade resulted in his conviction in recorder's court Thursday for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, his wife's younger sister.

Five Marines were fined $10 and charged court costs for fighting. According to George Smith, arresting officer, the men were at the beach "stacked up like cord wood" with fists flying when he got on the scene Saturday night.

Marines in Battle
Constable Smith said that the fight appeared to be between Marines from Cherry Point and Camp Lejeune. The Marines were B. J. Marcoux, L. R. Pierson, R. W. Wall, Bernard A. Smith and Howard Bergan.

C. H. Smith was in court on two charges. He was found guilty of selling mortgaged property and of passing a bad check for $470.22. The judgment was that Smith return or pay for all the mortgaged property in question and pay court costs. He was also ordered to honor the bad check and pay court costs on that case. He appealed the second verdict and Judge Lambert Morris set his bond at $1,000.

Centennial Deficit Group Extends Drive One Week

The Centennial deficit committee has extended the time for selling chances on a color television set for another week. The drawing will be conducted at 2 p.m. next Monday at the Morehead City municipal building.

Committee chairman T/5t Paul D. Bray says that about 500 tickets have been sold. The television set and other prizes cost more than $500, so the committee had no choice but to continue the drive.

Sergeant Bray says that about 1,200 tickets have been distributed to the following places of business:

Early Jewelers, Sanitary Restaurant, Capt. Bill's Waterfront Restaurant, Leary's, Sanitary Barber Shop, Economy Appliance Store, Beachview Esso Station, Bullock's Shoe Shop, the Rex Restaurant and the Idle Hour.

There are still a few Centennial books left. These books, which sold for $2 each during the jubilee, will be given at the rate of one book per ticket until they are all distributed.

The Centennial committee hopes to raise $3,000, the amount of the Centennial debt still standing.

Careless drivers had rough sledding. Percy G. Harker Jr. was fined $150 and costs; Elmo D. Moore was fined $125 and costs; Marshall Leggett was fined $100 and costs; and Roy R. Rogers was fined $15 and costs.

Thadius and Wade Golden were fined $25 and one-half costs each for assaulting each other. The brothers carved each other up in a family squabble.

Allen and Mildred Murray were convicted of possessing non-taxpaid whiskey. He was fined $50 plus one-half costs and she was fined $25 plus one-half costs.

Sent to Hospital
Ivey G. Scott was ordered to stay two years in the state hospital for treatment of tuberculosis. Scott had refused to follow a health department order to go there for treatment.

John Riggins was fined $25 and costs for having no chauffeur's license and exceeding the licensed weight of his truck. Julian Wade and Jack Bell were fined $10 and court costs each for public drunkenness.

Seven defendants forfeited bonds. They follow: Lillie Ann Willis, no drivers license; Neill Saccamano, drunk driving; Horace Lee Johnson, driving drunk and possession of non-taxpaid whiskey; Baleather Fisher, running a stop sign; William E. Granger and Willia Ann Glover, speeding, improper passing and reckless driving; and John R. Jones, no registration.

The state decided not to try Harley H. Lee for driving with an expired license.

Miss Norma Guthrie, Beaufort RFD, escaped injury at 1:30 p.m. Saturday when the 1950 Chevrolet she was driving jumped a canal a half mile west of the North River bridge. Her sister who was riding with her was given first aid at a doctor's office in Beaufort.

According to Patrolman R. H. Brown, Miss Guthrie was proceeding west. She attempted to pass a car in front of her and at the same time a car behind her tried to pass her.

In getting back into her own lane of traffic, Miss Guthrie lost control of the car. It turned over and landed on its wheels across the drainage ditch.

Damage to the car was estimated at $150. No charges were filed.
