

Presbyterian Church Will be Host To Four Students, Guest Minister

To launch the week of evangelistic services at the First Presbyterian Church, Morehead City, four ministerial students from Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., will conduct services at the church this weekend.

They will meet with the young people at 7:30 Saturday night. They will teach in the Sunday School Sunday morning, conduct the morning worship service, meet with the young people again at 3 Sunday afternoon and conduct a dedication service at 7 p.m. Sunday. The Sunday night service will be preceded by a snack supper at 6.

The ministerial students are Jerry Maynard, Logan, W. Va., who attended Davis and Elkins Colleges in West Virginia; Lloyd Umbarger, Aberdeen, Md., a graduate of the University of Maryland; Home Phifer, Jacksonville, Fla., a graduate of Davidson College; John Eliason, Balston Spa, N. Y., a graduate of Geneva College, Geneva, N. Y.

Prayer meetings are being conducted this week in preparation for the week of special services.

Home Freezer

unit, if the motor is running but a high freezer temperature indicates that no refrigeration is taking place, the belt may be broken. Putting on a new one will remedy the trouble.

If the belt is still in place but not moving, it may need tightening. This can usually be done by sliding the motor on its base. However, it is often best to replace the belt since it may have been weakened by the rotation of the motor pulley against it. The worn belt can be kept for temporary use in emergencies.

If tightening the belt or putting on a new one does not remedy the difficulty, the compressor valves may be stuck. For this and any other causes of nonrefrigeration in an open-type unit, a serviceman will be needed.

When a hermetically sealed unit is running and no refrigeration is taking place, the only thing to do is call a serviceman.

Is Plug In?

If the freezer motor is not operating, first be sure the plug is properly in the outlet—the connection may have been broken even though the plug has not fallen out. Then try a lamp or other appliance in the outlet. If it doesn't work, look for fuse trouble. If the fuse is all right, there must be trouble farther back in the line. If there is no electric current at the main switch, it means that the power is out.

In case of power outage, try to find out how long it is likely to continue. If only a few hours no precautions need be taken. If longer, the best procedure is to use dry ice. One 50-pound cake will be enough to protect a freezer up to 36 hours. Saw or chop the dry ice into pieces proportional to the sizes of the storage compartments. Never handle dry ice with bare hands—it may cause burns.

If stored food is in the freezing compartment, move it quickly into the storage compartment before putting in the dry ice. Place the dry ice on boards on top of the packages, not directly on the packages. Do not open the freezer again until it is necessary to put in more dry ice or until the freezer has been in operation for a few hours. If dry ice is used, covering the freezer with blankets helps to retard rise of temperature in the freezer. Blankets alone have little or no effect.

The guest minister for the week of evangelistic services in the First Presbyterian Church, Morehead City, will be the Rev. Lee Willingham, pastor of the Buffalo Presbyterian Church, Greensboro.

The services will begin Monday night and continue through Friday night, starting at 8 p.m. The Rev. Mr. Willingham will also preach at the 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. services Sunday, May 11, Mother's Day.

Dr. L. J. Norris, a member of the church, will lead the singing. Other choirs are being invited. Pastor of the church is the Rev. A. G. Harris Jr.

The Rev. Mr. Willingham was formerly pastor of two churches near Greenville. He has been pastor at the 200-year-old Buffalo Church for the past year.

A native of Augusta, Ga., he attended Davidson College and was an outstanding student leader there. He received his bachelor of divinity degree at Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Ga., and has completed a year of work on his master of theology degree at Westminster Theological Seminary, Philadelphia.

The guest minister's wife is from Goldsboro. They have two sons.

American Guides Shun Chemises

American girls who are serving as guides at the Brussels World's Fair have shunned chemise lines for simple tailoring.

Their uniform is an informal daytime suit in grey wool and dacron, loosely fitted. The skirt is permanently pleated. A white nylon blouse is worn under the jacket, which has three-quarter length sleeves. The outfit is topped by a gold sateen beret. The shoes are specially designed Capesios.

Although the guides are not raving about it, they think it is practical. They have two complete outfits for the six months they will be on duty in the American pavilion. The material is drip-dry. The costume is designed to blend with interior decorations of the pavilion.

Male guides will wear dark, striped sport coats and grey slacks.
