Town Board

property owners on the north end would open the street, the town could proceed with doing away with the dead end, providing adjacent property owners agree to a hard surface treatment which would prevent the street from washing into the cut.

Hill Street runs between the Gerald Hill property (Mr. Hill is on the town board) and Norwood Young property.

The board agreed to a property trade between the town and Gerald Woodard and C. L. Toler, property owners on the east end of Broad Street. A survey is to be made by Gray Hassell, town engineer, of the property involved.

Mr. Hassell recommended that sanitary sewer pipe north of the school be replaced with corrugated metal asphalt-coated pipe. Cost of pipe, plus manhole, was estimated at $270. The board approved proceeding with the project as soon as money is available.

Drainage Plan

The board approved a proposal relative to draining private property. The property owner shall be notified to drain his property. If he does not drain it, the town will do the work and the property owner billed.

Commissioners discussed the deplorable condition created by persons dumping trash on the Lennoxville Road near the Standard Net Co. No action was taken.

Dan Walker, town clerk, informed the board that it has the legal right to borrow $18,000 prior to June 1. The money has been discussed as a starting fund for a new town hall.

Mr. Walker also reported on a county-wide hurricane rehabilitation project.

Cooperates on Dogs

The board approved a request by Sheriff Hugh Salter that the town's dog taxes be turned over to the county for a program to cut down on the number of strays.

Fire commissioner Gerald Hill reported that the fire department answered five alarms in April, four out of town. Police commissioner Math Chaplain reported 213 meter violations during April, five other parking violations and four arrests.

Commissioner Hill requested that the street department pour two concrete street markers daily. If they don't, the commissioner said, it will take 18 years to get 152 markers, at the rate the markers have been poured up to now.

System Explained

Mr. Walker explained the new tax ledger system. Gene Smith, rivers and harbors delegate, said he saw no need to attend the meeting this month because none of the state's "Congressional delegation will be in Washington.

Mayor Clifford Lewis read a letter from the Institute of Government commending Mr. Walker who recently took a course in municipal government at the institute, Chapel Hill.

The board passed a resolution authorizing advertising of the names of tax delinquents.

Doctor bills of several years' standing, were presented. The clerk was directed to send a letter to all employees, doctors and hospitals, setting a time limit beyond which such bills will not be collectable.

Turned over to the attorney for investigation were two bills from

Fab Fisherman Reports More Fishing Firsts for Season

By BOB SIMPSON

More firsts were reported early this week: first black drum, a 3-pounder at Sportsman Pier; first successful catch on plug, also at Sportsman, where Gerald Jones of Raleigh caught 32 gray trout on red-and-white seahawk. First speckled trout were reported by Fleming's, where night fishermen picked up a few.

Whopper this week was a 19-pound black drum landed by Pappy Reid from Thompson's at Emerald Isle. Largest catch per fisherman was the count of 200 sea mullet, gray trout and hogfish by J. L. Snider and A. J. Farrell of Rocky Mount from Triple-Ess Pier.

A tackle-busting cobia cruised by Fleming's Pier the other day, snapped off a fisherman's 45-pound test line. Archie says that the abundance of croakers this spring should bring in plenty of cobia, since croakers are their favorite dish.

Three cobia have been reported hung and lost in less than a week, so skiff fishermen from the causeway, Mom and Pop's, Fleming's and outboarders should get out their tackle and start catching a few croakers.

We've had reports of good catches off the Ft. Macon jetties, mostly sea mullet, and one sheepshead estimated at 15 pounds. Theodore Lewis took J. L. Seaman Jr. and P. A. Greenwood, Elkin, out for a couple of hours aboard Sylvia, came back with 32 gray trout and sea mullet.

Skiff fishermen from B. J. White's Camp have had very good catches of sea mullet and gray trout: Bill Capp, Morehead City, caught 18 trout, 11 sea mullet and plenty of hogfish and spots. One party caught 54 trout and lots of sea mullet on one tide.

Had a long chat with Chet Davis of Winston-Salem. He is doing an article on fishing off the North Carolina coast to appear in State magazine. It seems as if fishing, sportsfishing, that is, has just started. Any man who has been here for, say, less than 20 years can remember many firsts: the first sailfish, the first cobia, the first white marlin; blue marlin, red snapper, dolphin, amberjack, grouper, black jewfish, and now bluefin tuna and tarpon.

Four years ago we hadn't caught our white or blue marlin or black jewfish and had only started on cobia, and tarpon were still in the rumor stages.

Sportsfishing has just started: a few people are beginning to realize the possible potential. We have never fished for many species before: how many people in Morehead City, Beaufort or Atlantic Beach last year tried to catch a tarpon?

I'll bet not a dozen actually spent over one hour the whole year, yet we know tarpon are here, for not only have they been seen and hooked, but over 30 were landed last year within 50 miles north and south of here. There is a $100 cash prize to be given for the largest tarpon caught from any of our ocean piers this year. A tip: tarpon like small fish. I have caught them on white feather, trolling about 4 or 5 mph near deep holes with overhangs.

The most popular bait just south of here is a small-to-medium mullet, live, about two to four feet deep swimming, attached to a balloon or easily released float. Field and Stream says, and I agree, tarpon feed early in the morning and late at night, with July the best month in this area.

They come in to feed at high tide and feed best for the first two hours of the falling tide. Baits used are mullet, live or dead, shrimp, crabs, feather lures and spoons. They are very hard-mouthed, so if you land one in 10 hooked, it's good fishing.

Two Women Golfers Play In Jacksonville Tourney

Mrs. C. C. McCuiston and Mrs. George R. Wallace, both of Morehead City, are participating in the Coastal Women's Golf Association tournament at Jacksonville today.

Mrs. McCuiston and Mrs. Wallace went to Jacksonville yesterday morning. The tournament is the final such event until September.

Hugh Gordon, Beaufort, has accepted management of the Dunes Club, a private club east of Atlantic Beach which is open in the summer time. Mr. Gordon is former football coach at Beaufort School and a member of the Beaufort faculty.

Beaufort Nine to Visit Smyrna-HI Sunday

The Smyrna - Harkers Island baseball team will play host to the Beaufort nine at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. One nine-inning game will be played.

Mack Pigott, manager of the Smyrna-HI team, promises to field a strong team this year. He plans to use most of the players he had last year, as well as some promising young players.

Beaufort did not have a team after the first month of the season last summer but Tommy Piner says that the Beaufort nine will be a strong-hitting team that will have some sure fielders and good pitching.

No managers of last year's teams showed any interest in forming a league this summer, so all the games played will probably be pick-up games.

The advantages in this arrangement is financial. There will be no rules to determine what sort of balls will be used or what officials to hire.

Instead of paying $40 to $50 to play a home game, a team will have to come across with about $10. The fans did not contribute enough last year to keep the teams from losing money so most of the players figure the less they have invested the less they can lose.

Morehead Blues Defeat Kinston

The Morehead City Blues won their second straight game of the season Sunday when they went to Kinston and handed the Kinston Greys a 9-4 licking.

James Henry, the stylish lefty for the Blues, limited the Greys to two hits. He struck out 11 Kinston batters in going the distance on the mound.

Henry walked two batters in the first inning and two Blues errors coupled with the walks to give the Greys a 2-0 lead. The Blues came back in the third inning to score five runs and take the lead.

The winners added three more runs in the sixth inning and scored their ninth run in the seventh inning. The Greys scored single runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

Second baseman Al Anderson led the Blues at the plate with a pair of doubles. Outfielder Duck Holland hit a double and a single. Hill, Becton and Davis also hit safely for the Blues.

Wake Forest Plans Banquet at Kinston

The Lenoir County Deacon Club extends an invitation to all Wake Forest College alumni and supporters to attend the annual Deacon Club banquet in Kinston. The banquet will be at 7 p.m. Monday at the Fairfield Recreation Center.

Present for the banquet will be members of the Wake Forest athletic staff, including Bill Gibson athletic director, Paul Amen, football coach and Horace (Bones) McKinney, basketball coach.

The banquet will be the only Deacon Club gathering east of Raleigh, according to Charles Larkins, president. It will be a dutch affair with tickets costing $1.50 each.

Persons planning to attend the banquet are urged to make reservations as soon as possible. Reservations may be made through Mr. Larkins at post office box 142, Kinston or Jack Gerrans at box 405 Kinston.

Managers to Name Little Leaguers

Managers of the four Little League teams in Beaufort will announce the names of the boys on their teams the week before the season opens. The first game is scheduled for May 19.

Player agent Dr. John Way says that the managers decided to wait until they had decided exactly which boys would play before announcing the players. "We don't want to publish a boy's name one week and cut him from the squad the next," he declares.

Managers for the teams are Charles Hassell, Elks, Ray Hassell, VFW, Earl Jones, Little Fry, and Henry Hatsell, Moose.
