Two new members were welcomed into the club. They were Mrs. Sara Gaskill and Mrs. Russell Klemm.

It was voted to renew the birthday calendar franchise for another. The calendars are the main money-making project of the club and the proceeds are used for civic improvements.

A back-to-school fashion show was discussed. Plans for the show will be worked out during the summer months.

Several items were brought before the club for discussion, including a membership campaign and the June dairy month queen.

Rebekahs Initiate Four Candidates Monday

The Miriam Rebekah Lodge conferred the Rebekah degree on four candidates in initiation ceremonies held Monday night at the lodge hall. The candidates were Mrs. G. T. Spivey, Miss Ora Fay Williams, Mr. Spivey and Mr. Alonza Simpson.

Members of the degree staff were Mrs. Julia Basden, Miss Patsy Willis, Mrs. Bonzell Lewis, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Robert L. Russell, Mrs. Annie Dixon, Mrs. Herbert Whitehurst, Mrs. Leon Swain and Mrs. Alonza Simpson.

The degree staff chairman was Mrs. O. W. Winger. Mrs. Willis Kirk served as musician.

Those costumes and settings which are characteristic of the 17th century are real eye-catchers. Can you imagine David Chipman as a doctor with red hair, beard, and mustache, Tommy Jones is a blonde headed apothecary, and Ernest Caraway as a really gaudily clad merchant.

This whole play is classified as uniquely different and the seniors are proud of it. Mrs. Margaret Arrington is a natural-born director—in fact she was so good showing the cast how to act their parts, that they agreed the play would surely be a success if only she were eligible to act in it. We'll be expecting you Friday night!

Other bits of news are in store for next week. The Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y will have their banquet Tuesday night at Rex, the sophomores will entertain the seniors at the Episcopal center for a beach party on Wednesday, and on Thursday, of course, the Varsity Club will set sail on their moonlight cruise.

Yours truly will not write Chalk Dust next week but rather my successor to the position of school reporter will make his or her literary debut.

This person has not been selected positively yet but be sure and read the column to find out whose

May is Election Month at BHS; Seniors to Give Play Tonight

By JUDIE MOORE

The student body elected officers for Student Council for the '58-'59 school term last Wednesday. The announcement of the voting results was made by our current president, Danny Willis, over the inter-communication system.

Danny reported that the following slate of officers had been chosen: president, Douglas Piner; vice-president, Butch Hassell; treasurer, Bertha Fodrie; and secretary, Pud Hassell.

It was the opinion of many of the faculty that this year's election was one of the most orderly conducted ones yet. Congratulations are in order for the new officers and to Danny for the fine job he did directing the elections.

Since May is the month of electing new officers among the school groups at Beaufort, Chalk Dust will be filled with reports of these elections. During the preceding week the Prayer Group also chose its leaders for next year.

Judie Moore

Jackie Wheatly will head the group as president, Jeanette Ransom will serve as vice-president, and the secretary-treasurer position will be occupied by Sharon Wilkinson.

Members of the senior play cast will make their dramatic debut at 8 tonight in the auditorium when they present the annual senior play. Some dramatic actions will be enacted, but the main concern of the cast will be to present the play in a comical manner as it was intended to be.

Chalk Dust has beforehand given a complete preview of the play and has listed the characters and actors, so that will not be done again. However, it is necessary to add that this presentation promises to be the most original, entertaining, and colorful ever presented.

Those costumes and settings which are characteristic of the 17th century are real eye-catchers. Can you imagine David Chipman as a doctor with red hair, beard, and mustache, Tommy Jones is a blonde headed apothecary, and Ernest Caraway as a really gaudily clad merchant.

This whole play is classified as uniquely different and the seniors are proud of it. The engraving of trophies was the topic of discussion at the Varsity Club meeting last week. Mr. McQuaid, the club's advisor, talked to the group about having the names of the team members engraved on their Boys Carteret County Championship trophy.

Everyone agreed that this should be done but that it would be necessary to use initials in the case of those with real long first and middle names. Those in the club were also given slips of paper by the president, Larry Kirk, to vote for the person who, in their opinion, has contributed the most to sports at BHS this year.

The results of this voting will not be revealed until the end of school when the chosen person will be presented with a trophy.

In planning for a social, the club voted out the idea of a beach party and instead decided to inquire into the possibilities of a moonlight cruise. A committee was appointed to find out the necessary information and the meeting was adjourned.

At a called meeting during lunch Tuesday, a report was made that a boat with just the right requirements had been procured and that everyone would set sail next Thursday at 8 p.m.

Mr. Tarkington stated the necessity of having two faculty members and two parents to accompany the group as chaperones.

Though there were no anxious volunteers of parental assistance from among the group, never fear, they shall be there!

Chalk Dust honors its last Miss Senior this week and she is Miss Alice Mae Pake. On Oct. 9, 1939, Alice joined the family of Mr. and Mrs. John Pake. Now, at 18, Alice is 5' 7 1/2" and weighs 128.

She has blonde hair and deep blue eyes. Expressing her pet peeve, Alice enthusiastically stated that homework was hers.

She'd like most to be a Hollywood movie star! Fried shrimp is Alice's favorite dish, Pat Boone is her favorite vocalist, and My Dream is her favorite song.

This year she's a member of the Lambda Chi, and the Tri-Hi-Y. To be a nurse is Alice's future dream so we'll just say, "Go to it girl!"

FWB Church Observes National Family Week
The First Free Will Baptist Church of Beaufort observed national family week Wednesday night with a social at the church.

A program was given in the sanctuary stressing the need of a family altar in the home. A play was given with Mr. Obee Turner as the father, Mrs. Letha Dudley as mother, Bruce Dudley as the oldest son and Donna Eubanks, Clyde Pittman and Libby Van Ethen as their children.

Special music was provided by a girls' trio and a mixed quartet. Refreshments of cake, pie, potato chips, coffee and soft drinks were served by the Ladies Auxiliary.
