

Film Premiere Never Came Off

Travel Council Hears Talk by President Of Seashore Highway, Senator Whitfield

The premiere showing of the new North Carolina film, Variety Vacationland, scheduled for the North Carolina Travel Council meeting at the Morehead Biltmore, never came off.

The film wasn't ready for showing as had been announced.

The council voted to recommend to the State Board of Conservation and Development that the state slogan "Variety Vacationland" be continued. It also voted to hold its fall meeting at Fontana Village Oct. 17-18.

Robert R. Garvey Jr., director of Old Salem in Winston-Salem revealed plans for an intensive promotion of "See North Carolina Month" in August, which includes a trip to Raleigh by people from various sections of the state garbed in costumes of their areas.

State Senator J. Vivian Whitfield, of Wallace, was the key speaker at the council dinner Friday night.

Mr. Whitfield who is president of the All-Seashore Highway Association, said the coastal highway is a "must".

He pointed to the two "missing links" now hindering completion of such a route — a ferry across Pamlico Sound and another across lower Cape Fear River. He said the association, with the help of the Southeastern Beach Association and others, is going to get those ferries.

Mr. Whitfield said the next General Assembly will be asked to aid in coastal development. They will be asked to divert the state gasoline tax for boats from the highway department, to be used for development purposes such as dredging channels, filling in low areas to halt beach erosion, stabilizing inlets, and preparing permanent foundations for an all seashore route.

Council President Will Gilmore, of Southern Pines, presided at the meeting. A total of 62 members attended, including delegates from as far west as Fontana Village, and as far east as Nags Head.

The travel council is an organization of hotel, motel and restaurant operators, and other individuals interested in travel promotion in North Carolina.

A. B. Cooper Buys Florida Porpoise for Beach Pool

A new tenant, a porpoise, is going to take up residence at Atlantic Beach in a large pool near Sound Beach Pool. The porpoise is on his way here from Marathon, Fla., now, announces A. B. Cooper, who is going to open a trained porpoise and sea turtle exhibit.

No, the porpoise isn't swimming here. He's coming in a tank in a station wagon with his trainer, Milton Santina, and Mrs. Santina. He's no baby, either; he's 7 feet long. Mr. Santina said that the large mammal has already had quite a few months of training.

The porpoise trainer has also been employed by Mr. Cooper to catch three native porpoises in these waters. He is bringing a special net with him and will be supplied a boat here.

The porpoise and turtle exhibit is scheduled to open Sunday. There are already 12 large sea turtles and six small ones in the pool. The turtles are thriving on scrap fish. The pool is 150 by 50 feet and ranges from 6 to 15 feet in depth.

The Florida porpoise is due to arrive here either tomorrow or Thursday. He's going to be carefully watched all the way from Marathon. Mrs. Santina will sit by him to make sure the trip in the tank isn't too harrowing.

Mr. Cooper plans to enlarge his marina next year with a tank equipped with glass windows. It will be stocked with native fish

Register of Deeds Records 36 Real Estate Transfers

(Editor's Note: In recording real estate transfers, the law does not require that the amount paid for the property be stated in the deed. A token amount, such as $10 or $100, may be stipulated.)

Attached to each deed, however, must be United States documentary stamps, the value of the stamps based on the price paid for the property.

Property which changes hands for less than $101 requires no stamp, according to Irvin W. Davis, register of deeds. Property which brings a price between $101 and $500 must bear a stamp valued at 55 cents. From $501 to $1,000, the stamps affixed to the deed total $1.10, and thereafter for each additional $500 paid for the property the stamp value goes up 55 cents.

From the value of the stamps placed on a deed an estimation of the price paid for the property can be determined. In the transfers listed below, the seller is listed first, the buyer second, and finally, the value of the stamp affixed to the deed.)

There were 36 real estate transfers recorded in the register of deeds office May 20-June 2. They follow:

Board Approves School Addition

At the recent meeting of the county board of education, addition of four more classrooms at Camp Glenn School was approved—if the money is available.

The board adopted payroll dates for next year. For every month except the first and last of the school year, those employed in the education system will receive checks on the 20th.

Bonding of employees handling money was approved. Permission was granted Morehead City School to reorganize classroom periods next year.

Each school day will consist of three periods, each period 110 minutes long. In the morning there will be two class periods with a 10 to 15-minute break in between and in the afternoon, one class period.

Classes meeting Monday, Wednesday and Friday one week will meet on Tuesday and Thursday the following week and vice versa.

T. Lenwood Lee, principal, said that the schedule has worked satisfactorily at other schools. Morehead City is the first school to try it in this county. Mr. Lee's comments on the new schedule will appear in Friday's paper.

Changes Hours
Driver license examiner David Morris announces that his hours, effective yesterday through August, will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. He will not change his daily schedule.

Oystermen

all five meetings will be coordinated and that compromise may have to be made in some instances if the NCFCA is to put just one set of recommendations before the state fisheries committee.

Capt. Jim Taylor, Sea Level, said that Neuse River rocks never will produce 3-inch oysters and that the Neuse oysters should be replanted where they will grow.

Oysterman Disagrees

Gerald Fulcher, Atlantic, disagreed with him. He said that he has taken many a 3-inch oyster out of the Neuse River and added that he didn't think the "rocks in the Neuse should ever be touched."

Captain Taylor summed up the illness of the oyster industry with the following statement, "The bottom is just being dug too much."

Monroe Gaskill, Cedar Island, said, "We had plenty of oysters until they started power dredging."

Gerald Fulcher and Brookley Willis, Atlantic, agreed that there could never be enough state boats to keep oystermen from power dredging.

Warden System

Clayton Fulcher Jr., Atlantic, suggested that a small house be built in the middle of oyster bays, with a warden stationed in the house.

The bays would be open to tongs only, the tongs paying a tax for working the bay and the tax money used to pay the warden who would keep out the power dredgers.

Mr. Gaskill said that not enough yeed has ever been put in Back Bay. All of the oysters planted there three years ago are of marketable size now, he commented.

Mr. Watson suggested that the state plant only in bays where it is known oysters will grow and that enough be planted "to make it worthwhile". He said pressure groups have the state planting everywhere.

Grady Davis and Gerald Fulcher suggested that all planted bays be restricted to tongs only.

Clayton Fulcher pointed out that oysters transplanted from one point to another do not always grow.

Mr. Watson said that planting of green shells, as a pilot operation, might be tried. He said this has been successful on private beds.

He commented that unless the oystermen of the state agree on some type of program, the NCFCA fears that the state may stop planting oysters or that power dredging might be prohibited everywhere.

Attending the meeting, in addition to those mentioned, were Graham Taylor, Sea Level, Leslie Morris and J. W. Johnson, Atlantic, and T. B. Smith, Davis.
