

Jaycees Meet For Business Session Monday

The Morehead City Jaycees devoted their meeting last week to committee reports. The group met at the Blue Ribbon Restaurant. President Jerry J. Willis listened to reports from the Dairy Month, Miss Morehead City, Safety Check and park committees.

The Dairy Month committee reported that Peggy Jo Wallace of Newport was selected county dairy princess and will compete in district competition at New Bern tonight.

The Miss Morehead City committee reported that several girls are under consideration for the title. The committee will select a girl to represent Morehead City in the state beauty pageant at Charlotte this year. There will not be a beauty pageant to select Miss Morehead City.

The Safety Check committee was authorized to order materials to conduct a safety check lane in Morehead City. Motorists will be invited to take their cars through the lane free of charge. Qualified persons will check brakes, tires, steering and other safety features of all cars that go through the lane.

The park committee reported that 10 tables with built-on benches are ready to be put up as soon as the city finishes work on the new park at Camp Glenn. W. P. Freeman Wholesale Co. donated 10 large garbage cans to be put beside the tables.

Mercury Climbs To Summer High

The mercury climbed to 88 Saturday afternoon, setting a new high for the summer. A sudden thunder shower about 8 p.m. made the temperature drop to 76. Weather observer Stamey Davis recorded .38 inches of rain.

Mr. Davis compared Sunday's report with that of one year ago. Each day had a high of 87 and a low of 75. The wind was from the southwest on both days. It rained Sunday afternoon and a year ago there was also rain in the afternoon.

Maximum and minimum temperatures and wind direction for the past week follow:

	Max.	Min.	Wind
Monday	81	72	SW
Tuesday	82	73	SW
Wednesday	84	73	SW
Thursday	84	72	S
Friday	85	72	SW
Saturday	88	76	W
Sunday	87	75	SW

In 1952 the U.S. National Park Service sent 40 cuttings from the cherry trees in Washington, D. C., back to Japan because so many Tokyo trees had been cut for firewood during the war.

Engineers Hear Testimony On Damage by Hurricanes

Sixty persons attended the Army engineers' hearing yesterday morning at Beaufort School. They presented testimony on hurricane damage to Carteret and the coastal areas of Onslow, Pender and New Hanover Counties.

Presiding at the hearing was Col. H. C. Rowland Jr., assisted by J. A. DuBois, manager of the Morehead City Chamber of Commerce.

A mimeographed bound copy of hurricane damage suffered in this county was given the engineers.

Four Porpoises Play In Beach Oceanarium

Now there are four porpoises at the new oceanarium at Atlantic Beach.

A. B. Cooper, owner of the new attraction, announced yesterday Sunday, in addition to the mammoth porpoise taken Friday at Gales Creek.

The Gales Creek porpoise, a female, is 9 feet 8 inches long and is believed to be the largest in captivity. It weighs between 800 and 900 pounds.

Good 'Jinx'

She has been named "Jinx", because she was caught on Friday, June 13. Jinx was put in the pool with Micky, the 7-foot male porpoise brought here Wednesday from Marathon, Fla.

One of the porpoises caught Sunday was a male, 8 feet long, and the other female, about 9 feet 3 inches. They were caught by Milton Santini and his wife in Bogue Sound in the vicinity of Ho-Ho Village.

The Santinis, professional porpoise capturers, don't reveal their methods of getting the live porpoise in the net. They go out by themselves in a boat and when they have captured a porpoise, phone Mr. Cooper who sends some men to help lift the mammal in the boat.

Players Selected For Youth Teams

Compiled and written by J. G. Hassell, Beaufort, the report summarizing losses to buildings, land, boats, utilities, timberland, agriculture, and businesses.

Damage Set

Total amount of damage suffered in Carteret in the hurricanes of 1954, 1955 and 1956 was set at $24,013,958.90.

Among the major protective measures recommended in the Carteret report were establishing of sand fences and vegetation on the outer banks, sea walls, rock groins, basins for protection of boats in storms, and cleaning of streams to facilitate drainage.

Fred Whitaker, Kinston, told the engineers that "Carteret holds the key to the protection of the coast line". Most of the outer banks lie off Carteret County.

Give Testimony

Among others giving testimony were Cecil Morris and Ira Morris, Atlantic; Sterling Dixon, Davis; David Yeomans, Harkers Island; Ray Pardue, Fort Macon state park superintendent.

Norwood Young, Beaufort; J. R. Benson, Wilmington, who presented the report on Onslow County; J. W. Young, Stella; A. D. Ennett and Dr. L. J. Dupree, Cedar Point; Mayor Clifford Lewis, Beaufort; Bill Baughman, Morehead City; C. H. Wilson, Edwin T. Piner and Julian Brown, Marshallberg.

Carteret County officials were also present at the hearing. The cost of compiling the Carteret report, $800, was borne by the county.

Patrol Reports Four Accidents

Highway patrolmen investigated four accidents in the county over the weekend.

A 1956 GMC pickup sideswiped a parked 1950 Ford at 1:10 a.m. Saturday on highway 24 eight miles west of Morehead City. In the parked car was Leon A. Mann Jr., Newport. Driving the pickup was Warren D. Dale, Delco, N. C.

Patrolman W. J. Smith Jr. said Dale claimed he fell asleep. Damage to the pickup was estimated at $25. Damage to the Ford was estimated at $90. No charges were filed.

At 9:30 p.m. Saturday Harold Lee Baker, Williston, collided with a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Norris Edge, Morehead City. Patrolman Smith said that the accident happened when Baker came out to the Bonham Heights Road on to highway 74 at the Ocean Park Drive-in theatre.

Damage to Baker's car was estimated at $50 and damage to Edge's car, $100. Baker was charged with failing to grant the right-of-way.

A 1955 Mercury driven by George W. Wallace, Merrimon, cracked into the back of a 1950 Ford driven by Joshua A. Hardy at 12:05 p.m. Sunday in front of the Edwards Free Will Baptist Chapel, Merrimon.

Hardy had stopped to pick up some people on the road. Damage to each car was estimated at $75. Hardy was charged with failing to give a hand signal. Wallace was charged with failing to maintain a proper lookout.

Patrolman J. W. Sykes investigated that accident and an accident at 8:30 p.m. Saturday on the Beaufort-Morehead causeway in front of Bunch's fishing camp.

A 1952 Lincoln, driven by Kenneth Lowery, route 3 Wake Forest, backed into the side of a 1950 Mercury on the north side of the causeway. Lowery was charged with improper backing and failing to grant the right-of-way.

The Mercury was being driven by Luther Rhodes, route 4 Raleigh. Damage to his car was estimated at $200; damage to the Lincoln at $75.

Club Continues Post Programs

George Dill, Morehead City Rotary Club program chairman, continued his series of programs on the state port Thursday night. Mr. Dill introduced William Davies of the Morehead Shipping Co. who then introduced Capt. Charlie Piner.

Captain Piner has guided boats and ships through Beaufort bar since 1917. He said that many ships have to wait for flood tide before they can get across the bar without running aground.

Most ships wait for daylight before coming into the port, according to Captain Piner. He said the harbor is not sufficiently lighted for navigation at night.

Rotarian Frank Cassiano discussed the efforts being made to form a youth league in town. He asked the club to get behind the program.

Kenneth Prest, Tampa, Fla., former president of the club, was the guest of H. L. Joslyn. Robert Seamon was the guest of Mr. Davies.
