NORTH CAROLINA

FACES A CHALLENGING FUTURE

"The best things in life are free..." but we would like to amend that phrase and add that in North Carolina some of the most interesting attractions in the State are the results of enterprising, private businesses requiring large capital expenditures in return for making a modest charge. Our outdoor dramas are famous, as are also Grandfather Mountain, Chimney Rock, Orton Plantation and now Tweetsie Railroad—a whistle tooting scenic narrow gauge that is packing them in.

The American tourist wants places-to-go and things-to-see, and they also want and like the enlightened hospitality of our "legal control" system of the sale of beer and ale—a system that has gained widespread approval as being in the best interests of the law-abiding community and its visitors.
