FabFisherman Reports Best Small Frys Lead Sportsfishing News of Year

The blue marlin score continues to go up. Offshore catches of amberjack and dolphin are terrific. Bluefishing is regaining its lost reputation, and ocean pier fisher men have gone king mackerel and

George Bedsworth has brought in his ninth blue marlin of the season, and with the boating of another by John Tunnell, More-head City, aboard the private sports/fisherman Rebel, the total went to 23

Billfishing has branched out into the sailfish department, with Blue Water recording one boated, one lost; and Bunny Too, three raised, one hooked but lost in one day. Capt. Dave Gould of the Harriet

L II reported the second sailfish of the season yesterday afternoon. The 6-footer was landed by William Taylor of Elm City.

Dolphin II made a tremendous catch of amberjack; the amber-jack are more numerous than they have been in several years, and they are big, up to 53 pounds, though the record set some weeks ago is still 58

Dolphin fishing runs second, and there is considerable variety in the tuna family, false albacore bonito, oceanic bonito black fin tuna, and so on. Several 25 to 30-pound barracuda have been brought in.

Some of the best bluefish catches have been made to the westward, with inshore boats and the small private boats all doing well. Fishing this year has not followed the expected pattern. In bluefishing the fish may be big one day and small the next no apparent reason. But Capt. Johnny Guthrie says he's been fishing all his life and still doesn't know much about the Warm, still waters have been hard on sound and river fishing.

Not all the sports fishermen come from upstate. This party from Morehead City and Cherry Point went out on the Bunny last Friday and came back with 30 dolphin, eight ocean bonito, one amberjack and one remora.
