

Harlowe Club to Sponsor Lawn Party Tomorrow

Members of the Harlowe Community Club will sponsor a lawn party tomorrow night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Tolson. Entertainment for the children will begin at 5:30 and continue until 7.

There will be games for everyone and horseback riding for the youngsters. Hot dogs, hamburgers, soft drinks and cake will be on sale.

At 7:30 music for round and square dancing will be furnished by the Rhythm Trio. All members of the community are invited.

The community club met Tuesday night at the community building. The new dump was discussed. Top soil will be sold at $2 per load to help pay for gas and other expenses connected with digging the fill. Teen-agers are being asked to help clear the highway of old dumpings.

It was reported that the road to the dump needs widening and signs should be posted to indicate the dumping area.

Bill Motes reported that five more mailboxes are ready to be set up. They will be placed by Mr. Motes, John Ives and Earl Creech. Edsel Bell gave a talk on first aid. Plans were made to mow the church lawn Wednesday night.

Guests were J. A. Glazner, State College Extension Service, who helped organize the club, and R. M. Williams, farm agent. Mr. Glazner said he was delighted with the club's accomplishments, adding, "There's no limit to what a community can do if it wants to."

Cookies and soft drinks were served by Mrs. Marguerite McLawhorn and Miss Eleanor Taylor. The collection amounted to $8.55.

Fishing Industry Must Modernize If It is to Survive in This Age

By NELSON BENEDICT

Much of the American commercial fishing industry is deeply involved in a grim struggle for survival. Evil days came upon the industry even when the nation's economy was at an all-time high insofar as earnings and production were concerned.

Cheap imports of fisheries products coupled with intense competition for the world market have caused widespread distress for the 550,000 fishermen who man 100,000 vessels to provide an annual harvest of five billion pounds of fish worth an estimated $1 billion at the consumer level.

The North Atlantic trawl fishery, for so long a vital component of New England's economy, and the West Coast tuna fishery have been driven to the very wall by competition from abroad. Frozen ground fishes from Canada, Iceland, etc. and frozen tuna and albacore from Japan may be imported at a cheaper price than American fishermen can ever hope to meet under the existing tariff structure.

Must Cut Costs Although the menhaden fishery has managed to remain solvent in the past decade, it too is squarely confronted with a compelling necessity to reduce production costs. More than a dozen nations are involved in the scramble for the world market in fish meals, oils and solubles.

Menhaden producers for long have been aware of their competitive problems. Their reduction plants today have been modernized by superbly qualified chemical and mechanical engineers. The boats of the fishing fleet are among the most efficient at sea insofar as hull design, power plants and deck gear are concerned.

But the actual fishing methods used to capture menhaden have represented but a slight improvement over techniques which date back to Biblical days. And it is at sea and only at sea that the industry can hope to cut costs in an effort to maintain a strong competitive position.

Production Comparison In point, American menhaden fishermen last year produced 166 tons of fish per fisherman per season. Their Canadian competitors produced 207 tons of fish per fisherman per season, while South Africans attained the startling average of 393 tons per man per season.

Movie House Put Under Ban

Lake Placid, N. Y. (AP)—The ranking Roman Catholic clergyman here has placed a theatre out of bounds to Catholics for six months because it showed the Brigitte Bardot movie "And God Created Woman."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James T. Lyng ordered the ban after the theatre management rejected his offer of $350 to cover any losses resulting from withdrawal of the film.

The movie was shown at the Palace theatre, the only one in this famed resort town, on July 20, 21 and 22. Msgr. Lyng announced the ban at masses last Sunday in St. Agnes Church. He is pastor there.

The clergyman said Catholics should stay away from the movie house during the ban "regardless of the merits of any motion pictures which may be presented."

He also declared that Catholic businessmen should refuse to post the theatre's advertising signs during the ban.

The chapel will open late next fall.

Informative Markers Tell Of Past Beaufort Citizens

By F. C. SALISBURY

Visitors to the Old Town Cemetery in Beaufort will find two markers of interest, recently placed by the Cemetery Association at the graves of former citizens. They are the graves of Mrs. Mary P. Chadwick and Josiah Pender.

Although both persons whose memory is memorialized by these markers can claim a service of duty to humanity and their country, yet an incident in the life of Mrs. Chadwick seems to have the greatest significance.

The passerby may read on the marker at the grave of Mrs. Chadwick the following inscription: "In 1880 Robert W. Chadwick and Mary Potter Chadwick took into their home a Chinese boy stow-away. He attended a Methodist Church in Wilmington, N. C., where he was converted to the Christian faith."

"The minister, Rev. T. P. Ricard, a former pastor of Ann Street Church, Beaufort, aroused the interest of Gen. Julian S. Carr of Durham, who consented to pay the boy's way through college."

"He was sent to Trinity College, now Duke University, and on to Vanderbilt University in Tennessee where he prepared for the ministry. The Southern Methodist Conference sent him to China as a missionary."

"He married into a Christian family and became the father of Madame Chiang Kai Shek, the wife of the Generalissimo."

At the time Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick became interested in the welfare of the young stow-away, Soong, they were residing in Wilmington, where they attended the Methodist Church under the pastorate of their former Beaufort pastor, the Rev. T. P. Ricard."

Ran Away From Uncle It was on a vessel out of Boston, captained by Charles Jones, that the stowaway was discovered after making port at Wilmington. The youth told Captain Jones that he had run away from his uncle, a Chinese merchant in Boston.

Captain Jones, being a pious and active layman of the Methodist denomination, sought the aid of the Rev. Mr. Ricard to care for the boy. It was in the home of the Chadwicks that he lived for some time. There he was given the advantages of a Christian home, later being converted and united into the Methodist faith.

Honoring the name of his benefactor, he became known as Charles Jones Soong. Under that name he started a career that carried him into college and on to the seminary, preparing himself to carry the message of Christianity to his people in China.

After being sent to China by the Conference, Soong married. He later went into business and is said to have been a "wizard" in the commercial world. To this union was born five children, two sons and three daughters.

Among his children who received national prominence is Madame Chiang Kai Shek, the wife of the ruler of today's Free China. The other two girls married prominent men of their country. Madame Kung married one of China's wealthiest and influential citizens and Madame Sun Yat Sen married the famous doctor by that name. He was the first president of the Republic of China. The two sons became high officials in the affairs of the Chinese government.

Pender Grave Near the Ann Street gate leading into the cemetery is the grave of Josiah Pender. He was one of Beaufort's honored citizens of a century ago, whose avocations were most versatile, according to the inscription on the marker: "Josiah Pender, an artist, ship owner and sea captain. Painting became his avocation while he was running the blockades for the Confederacy which he had represented in financial affairs both in France and the Bahamas.

"He died on ship of yellow fever and his wife, Mollie Pender, to hearten the fear-stricken sailors, brought the ship safely into Beaufort harbor, at that time heavily fortified by Union soldiers."

"Captain Pender was the maternal grandfather of the wife of General George C. Marshall, Secretary of State under President Harry Truman."

Much credit is due Mr. Van Potter of Beaufort, who since his retirement a few years ago, has taken great interest in the restoration and upkeep of this early town cemetery. His guided tours among the ancient stones reveal the life and accomplishments of many of the county's early citizens.

Amateur Theatres To Observe 'Month'

New York (AP)—More than 4,000 community theatres in the United States have been invited to participate in celebrating November as National Community Theatre Month.

Initiated by a magazine (Theatre Arts), the sponsoring committee has Vice President Richard Nixon as an honorary member and includes Ralph Bellamy, president of Actor's Equity; Henry Fonda, Cyril Ritchard, Fredric March, Celeste Holm and Eva Le Gallienne.

July Was Record Month For Coast Guard Assists

As July drew to a close, the Fifth Coast Guard District's log reveals that it has been the most active month in history, with an average of almost 13 assistance cases each day. It was also one of the most disastrous, with a fatality rate of about one per day.

Last weekend saw only one death after the previous weekend's eight and the interim period's three (two in Elizabeth City, N. C., and one near the Ocean View area of Norfolk).

In last weekend's fatal case, two men were refueling their 18-foot outboard in Cornicake Inlet, N. C. Suddenly, the boat began to drift to seaward, and then she capsized.

One man, who was wearing a life jacket, was saved. The other was holding on to the empty gas can and trying to grab a floating life jacket.

Then a large wave hit him, and he hasn't been seen since, despite a thorough, three-day land, sea, and air search by the Coast Guard over a one thousand square mile area. The pilot of one of the aircraft reported ominously that visibility was good, but that nothing had been sighted except numerous sharks.

In another case, death was barely averted Sunday, when at 1:56 in the afternoon, the Coast Guard buoy tender Madrona overboard a distress call on 2182 kilocycles indicating that a man was overboard from a fishing vessel in the Newport News area.

Since she was not in the vicinity, the Madrona passed the information to the Coast Guard's Norfolk Group Office, and within 12 min-

The class colors, green and white, were carried out in attractive arrangements of white glads, white and green candles.

After the dinner, tables were removed and the group enjoyed an informal hour discussing memories of by-gone days.

The following letter from a class mate in Hawaii was read.

Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii Dear Class, I am writing this with fond memories and deep regrets. The fond memories are the wonderful years in high school with all of you, the basketball games, the parties and dances we all enjoyed together. The regrets are that I cannot be with you on the 10th anniversary of our graduation to meet and talk over old times with my friends and classmates.

Yoki and I are stationed at Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii. Being so far from home makes it impossible for me to be there in person but in this letter I hope in some small way it will keep us close together in memories. God bless and keep each one of you and with God's help may we all be together again real soon.

As ever your classmate, Joanna Garner Kucinski

Producer Declares He Set Brief Tour

New York (AP)—Paul Gregory just can't completely give up his enthusiasm for coast-to-coast tryouts of productions prior to Broadway presentation.

Gregory during the last several years has booked such productions as "Don Juan in Hell" and "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" into more than 70 cities. For his next production, "Marriage-Go-Round," he vowed that he would give all that up and arrive on the White Way after a brief tour of nearby tryout towns.

The final agenda for the Leslie Stevens comedy starring Charlie Beyer and Claudette Colbert however begins in San Francisco, goes to Denver and completes the warmup in Philadelphia.

Since World War II, less than 1 per cent of employed women have been in domestic service.
