Army Announces Transition Plans On Rating System

The Department of the Army has announced a four-year transition period from the old system of non-commissioned officer ratings to the newly adopted system, according to Lt. Col. B. W. Brockdorf, sub-district chief. The change-over in titles and insignia for E5's, E6's and E7's will be effected by June 30, 1962.

Under the clarification of existing directives for the new enlisted grade structure which provides the additional grades of E8 and E9, non-commissioned officers in the grades of E5, E6 and E7, on May 31, 1958, are authorized to wear their present insignia until promoted or until June 30, 1962.

Non-commissioned officers who become the subject of disciplinary or inefficiency actions will be required to wear the insignia of the resultant grade. Ratings will be carried on the morning report under the same criteria.

Non-commissioned officers who held pay grades E5, E6, or E7 on May 31, 1958, and who retire during this announced period will retire in the grade held and wear the insignia appropriate for the grade on May 31, 1958, and their retirement certificates will show the grades held under the old system unless they were promoted or reduced prior to retirement.

Some non-commissioned officers who have retired since May 31, 1958, have been given certificates indicating titles under the new system which were below the titles held prior to May 31. Commanders have been directed to get in touch with these men and re-issue certificates under the system announced today.
