

Put in Jail
John Reel Morris, highway 101, was picked up by Beaufort police Saturday and charged with drunken driving and destroying town property. Chief Guy Springle said Morris drove his Buick convertible over the curb at Holden's Restaurant and knocked off a parking meter. Morris was jailed under $350 bond.

Beaufort Police Report Wrecks

Beaufort police investigated two accidents recently, a minor one Thursday morning at 304 Live Oak St., and another more serious accident at Pollock and Cedar (new highway) at 7:10 a.m. Saturday.

In the Thursday accident, Harry Whitehurst, 1017 Ann St., Beaufort, was backing a 1957 Dodge truck out of a driveway at Beaufort Plumbing and Supply and hit a 1958 Ford, police said.

The Ford was driven by Otis Mades, 312 Broad St., Beaufort. The car's trunk lid was damaged. In the Saturday accident a 1952 one-ton Dodge truck collided with a 1958 Ford. Driving the truck was Noah Avery, route 1 Beaufort. Driving the car was Clay Lewis, route 1 Beaufort.

According to Officer Otis Willis, who investigated, the truck was going south on Pollock and collided with the car which was going east on the new highway.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $375 and damage to the car at $550. Avery suffered a slight cut on his forehead and Lewis' right knee was hurt. No charges were filed.

During July the Christian Children's Fund at Richmond, Va., solicited citizens of North Carolina. The State Board of Public Welfare is pointing out that such solicitations are in violation of the law since this agency is not licensed in accordance with its provisions.

The House of the Week

Cornell Survey Facts Lead To 'Most Satisfying' House

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

Home buyers, a Cornell university survey has shown, fall into four distinct groups, each with specific requirements and preferences. The unusual ranch home shown here is a composite of the desired features disclosed by this survey.

Designed exclusively for the House of the Week series by one of America's foremost architects, the plan has been designated X-20.

The Cornell survey, aimed at promoting better house design throughout the United States by determining what people want in their homes, revealed that the types of homes sought by buyers can be described as:

(1) The economy house, (2) the family house, (3) the personal house and (4) the prestige house.

Taken into consideration by the survey were the interests, wants, enjoyments and living habits of home buyers.

With this information in hand, the House of the Week asked Architect Rudolph A. Matern to develop a plan incorporating the best features wanted by all four buying groups.

The result is interesting and practical. Matern says of design X-20:

"My aim was to have it satisfy not one or two of these groups, but all four. Because of this, the finished plan can well be called 'the most satisfying home in the country.'"

The following highlights of design X-20 confirm the accuracy of the architect's description:

'The Economy House'
It is an economy house because there are eight rooms, 2½ baths and a laundry-mud room in less than 1,500 square feet.

The open plan of the kitchen, the family room and the living and dining rooms reduces costs and simplifies decoration.

Excellent circulation from both front and rear entrances cuts down through-room traffic and reduces cleaning, wear and tear costs.

'The Family House'
It is a family house because the large family room opens to an outdoor living area and the kitchen and family room open into each other for more informality. The indoor play area, in the family room, and the outdoor area on the terrace both may be supervised from the kitchen.

Stone and vertical boards are used for the front exterior. The entrance is recessed. A feature with special appeal to women is the extra-wide bow window in the living room.

Eight rooms, plus 2½ baths and a combination mud-laundry room, are included in this house based on a study by Cornell University. It is a composite of all the best features turned up during the survey of home buyers.

The hall bath is large and has twin lavatories plus combination shower and tub. The family may dine either on the terrace, in the family room or in the more formal dining room. The house has plenty of light, ventilation and closet storage space.

'The Personal House'
It is a personal house, too. For those who desire privacy in their family living, there is a comfortable room for reading or listening to records. This may be the family room for group use or the fourth bedroom which can be alternately used as a den. The bedroom area has privacy and quiet.

The kitchen is designed to be the center of cooking, eating and living activities in the combination family room and kitchen. The rear terrace has a back wall for privacy. A trellis covers the terrace, creating shade and interesting light patterns. A roll-away awning may be installed for more positive weather control.

'The Prestige House'
There are prestige features as well. The master bedroom has space for twin beds. The second bedroom may be used for guests. There are separate, imposing dining and living rooms.

The living room has a bow window and a log-burning fireplace. The dining room has a built-in china cabinet.

Motorist Cited Following Accident

K. C. Locklear, Lumberton, was charged with failing to yield the right of way and driving on the wrong side of the road after an accident at 6:50 a.m. Sunday. The wreck occurred three miles east of Newport on US 70. No one was injured.

Locklear, driving a 1950 Oldsmobile, was headed west and made a left turn directly in front of Lena M. Moore, Goldsboro, headed east in a 1957 Chevrolet, according to accident reports.

The right front fender of the Chevrolet rammed into the right rear of the Oldsmobile. Damage to the Chevrolet was estimated at $300 by investigating officer patrolman J. W. Sykes.
